THE CATHEDRAL WE LIVE IN

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mt. Whitney in California: 14,496 feet high! Just one of the spires of the Cathedral we live in.

When God made this world of ours he gave us many a glimpse of Himself. In the towering peaks we see His dignity—in the fertile plains, His providence—in the wild storms, His wrath—in the shimmering rainbow, His mercy—in the mighty falls, His strength—in the mirror lake, His peace.

But to reveal His Love—the greatest quality of God's nature—He gave us His Son, Jesus Christ . . . born in a stable . . . slain on a cross . . . risen to reign forever.

This world is the Cathedral in which men worship Him. Its altars are the churches to which the faithful throng.

Life is God's gift: To live in His Cathedral . . . and work . . . and play . . . and WORSHIP!

Fire Destroys School

January had a very bad ending when fire of undetermined origin left only the walls of our school building and smoking embers over Saturday night. The janitor, Oscar Carlson, had been there only an hour or so before it was seen and everything was then in good condition. Edward Carlson, Sylvester Kasprowicz, accompanied by Jim Musburger were among the first ones to see the fire breaking through the west windows. It apparently started in the oldest part of the building and it seemed the whole building was one big display of fireworks at once. Fire alarms were sent out to Stephen, Karlstad, Greenbush and Newfolden, who responded very quickly with their equipment so the new gymnasium was saved. Band instruments, basketball equipment, and the piano in the gym had been carried away by local residents so only a couple of instruments left in the school were destroyed. Half of the building had been built in 1915 and the other half during the depression years by WPA workers, so there were a lot of memories and sentiment behind those old walls. However, it is with heartfelt thanks it happened when there was no school so no lives were claimed. The school board and village council have already planned on housing for the remainder of the school year. Other schools have certainly been very considerate in offering desks, books and supplies for temporary use. Mr. Musberger and Mr. Waterworth (instructors) are making use of trucks which have been offered by residents of the district to pick up some of these desks today which is appreciated very much.

Farm Buildings Destroyed

John Vagle was also a victim of fire last week when his barn and turkey house measuring about 27 x 31 feet was destroyed. The equipment and building were valued at about $12,000 and his insurance would only partially cover the loss. Mr. Vagle's home is only 2½ miles northwest of town and his business for some time has been to raise turkeys. He has ordered 9,000 turkey poults for delivery the first week of March and it is doubtful if the building and equipment can be replaced in time for these birds.

Farmers were reminded today that many of the 1958 grain crops under Commodity Credit Corporation farm-storage loans or purchase agreements may be resealed for another year.

According to Oscar J. Houske, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization Committee, the reseal program will be available this year on 1958 crops of wheat and barley, as well as on 1957 crops of barley, oats and wheat. Crops eligible for the reseal must already be stored on the farm under loans, or the 1958 crops may be covered by a purchase agreement which will be converted into a loan under the reseal program.

The chairman points out a number of advantages to resealing grains under loan. Because of the current tremendous supplies of nearly all grains, it is highly desirable to keep large quantities of the grains on the farm to avoid further pressure on commercial and government owned storage. Since the feed grains will eventually be consumed on farms in livestock production areas, it is also economical and efficient for farmers to keep the grain there rather than move it into commercial channels.

For storing grain under a reseal loan, farmers may earn storage payments which in effect may help to pay the cost of new storage. The payments range from 12 cents a bushel for oats to as much as 16 cents a bushel for wheat and barley.

Even if a farmer reseals his grain, Houske explains, he can redeem it at any time, just as in the case of the original loan, but in this case the storage payment will be prorated according to the time the grain was under reseal.

Requirements as to grain quality and condition and storage facilities are generally the same for reseal as for original loans.

Farmers who want to take part in the reseal program should apply to the county ASC office 3 or 4 weeks before the loan maturity date, the chairman said.

2 Boy Scouts Get Pro Deo Award at Zion Luth. Church

LeRoy Kritz and Jerry Wedul Get Church Award in Ceremony Yesterday

At the opening of Boy Scout week, which is from Feb. 8-14, two young men received the highest honor in Scouting in the Lutheran church during Sunday morning services at the Zion Lutheran church.

LeRoy Kritz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Kritz, 211 Crocker ave. N., and Jerry Wedul, son of Mrs. Helen Wedul, rt. 3, received the Pro Deo et Patria award at impressive ceremonies which opened with the congregation standing as Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts entered the nave to present the flag.

The presentation was made at the chancel where Zion Scout officials awaited as Kritz and Wedul ushered their parents to the front of the church. Dr. Walter M. Pedersen, pastor, listed the qualifications necessary to qualify for the awards.

The citations were read by Ralph Fisher and Frank Baird, leaders of the two Eagle Scouts from their beginning in Scouting. Mrs. Kritz and Mrs. Wedul pinned the awards on their sons.

To qualify for the awards, recipients must show evidence of faithful Christian life and leadership in youth work, devote 150 hours of work in service to the church and have knowledge of the doctrines, liturgy and events of the church year. As a special project, Kritz and Wedul constructed an altar which is in use in the church parlors.

Interest in the proposed construction of a storm sewer project in district 3 in the western part of the city has been increasing as the time for the public hearing nears, and the session with the city council this evening promises to be long, heated and interesting.

The hearing, scheduled for 8 o'clock in the city Auditorium, will see the council proposing the construction of the project which will cost owners of 50-foot lots an average assessment of $266.

The total cost for the project would be $350,000 with $175,750 of that amount to be paid by property owners in the affected area. The balance would be made up by the city through state aid funds, trunk highway funds for the Third st. construction project and through general obligation.

At least four petitions are known to be circulating on the west side of the city in opposition to the project. Many residents of the northern section of the storm sewer district have stated that the construction would cost them much more than they would receive in benefits while residents of the lower areas would derive greater benefits paying the same amount.

Engineers point out that the construction of modern, surfaced streets cannot be carried out until storm sewer drainage is provided.

All interested parties have been urged to attend the public hearing and to express their views.

Boss-Employe Dinner Set by Local Jaycees for Thursday, March 5

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting Thursday evening in the Rex Cafe, completed arrangements to hold its annual Boss - Employe banquet Thursday, March 5, and it was announced that the guest speaker will be Daryle Feldmeir, managing editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Dr. A. H. Jacobson, chairman of the area committee seeking the establishment here of a junior college. He discussed the services that would be rendered by such an institution, and answered numerous questions.

Joseph Iverson, Lincoln high school director, told of the setting up of a Thief River Falls chapter of the American Field Service, which is seeking funds to send one or more local students abroad next summer. The question of what support the Jaycees should give the project was referred to a committee for study.

Ken Onken, committee chairman, reported that the "My True Security" Americanism project, operated in past years as "The Voice of Democracy," was under way locally, with a $25 savings bond to be awarded the winner of first place, and $5 prizes for three runners-up. The state contest will be held in Richfield, Minn., in March.

Following a lengthy discussion, the chapter voted not to sponsor a Teen-age Road-E-O this spring. It had been an annual event here the past several years.

State Solons Show Hesitant Spirit to Date

Seem to Be Awaiting Public Reaction to Freeman Proposals

Hesitancy appeared to be the prevailing sentiment last week as the state legislature began the second month of its 1959 session.

The mood showed at every turn. Appropriations and finance committees plodded uncertainly through Gov. Freeman's "austerity budget," as he called it.

They hesitated to predict whether the possible cuts could meet the 5 to 10 million dollars more than deficiencies, unbudgeted items and other changes threatened to add to Freeman's 470-million-dollar appropriations request.

Senate and house members still hung back from getting caught in any cross-fire between the governor's office and his critics on either taxes or spending. A lot of proposals that would cost the state money were tucked away in desk drawers, perhaps never to see the light of day.

When they went into weekend adjournment the senate was 228 bills off the 1957 pace and the house 269 bills behind.

The Liberals in both the house and the senate seemed uncertain of whether the governor's program — to which they are tied — had public support back home.

The lone real scrap of the first month saw foes of party designation win round one of the biennial battle. The Liberal-controlled house voted 65-61 to send the bill back to committee, where it will get another hearing at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The house gave preliminary approval to the "Ely stockpile" bill aimed at easing the tax burden on Vermillion range underground and high-cost open pit mines. Ely citizens offered to pay its personal property taxes the amount of money their community would lose from the change, in order to reopen the Zenith mine—their economic standby.

The senate gave preliminary approval to the bill to make state colleges eligible to participate in the federal student loan program.

The house education committee scheduled a hearing for Thursday on the proposal to set up a six-million-dollar junior college construction program.

St. Hilaire Woman Injured When Car Runs off Highway

A rural St. Hilaire woman, Mrs. David Lee, received painful, though not serious, facial injuries about 8 p.m. Saturday, when the car she was driving ran off the airport road south of the city and hit a snow bank, Sheriff Charles Richards said today.

Richards said there was less than $50 damage to the car. Mrs. Lee's injuries were apparently caused by hitting some part of the car when it came to a sudden stop. She was charged with careless driving by Sheriff Richards.

Airport Bldg. Lease Is Joint Meeting Topic

School Board and Council Reached Tentative Pact

In a meeting with the finance committee of the city council Thursday afternoon, the board of education of the Thief River Falls school district offered to sign a 15-year lease with the city to pay for the proposed shop building at the municipal airport for use as an aircraft and engine mechanics school.

The council's finance committee composed of aldermen Roy Lee, S. G. Sandvig and E. B. Benson opened the meeting by listing total figures which had been bid Jan. 30 for the construction of the building. Using the low bids, a steel building, complete except for a paint room and the connection of water and sewage lines, would cost $24,930 and a cement block building would cost $28,841.

Providing water lines to either building would cost $450, which would be added into the total cost, and the finance committee and school board tentatively agreed that $1,200 of the cost of a new sewage disposal system to be used jointly by the present airport building and the proposed shop building would be a part of the construction project.

An earlier suggestion that a lease be for 10 years was rejected by members of the school board who felt that this would be too short a period. "The public wouldn't go for amortizing this loan so soon," Dr. Milton Starekow, president of the board said. "The school district would about break even under such a plan, even with a full class of students. Fifteen or 20 years would give us a little leeway."

Alderman Benson countered with the statement that the bank would rather make a loan for 10 years and didn't consider a 20-year lease good business.

According to state law, the city can borrow money for a project such as the shop building at a rate based on the city's population. In this case, $24,000 could be borrowed without a bond issue.

Under the agreement proposed Thursday, the school board would also pay for insurance, builders' risk insurance, utilities and heat.

According to Supt. Irwin T. Mickelson, the school with a full enrollment of 32 students would receive an income of $1,152 in state aid each month which would pay for salaries, light and power, heat, rent and the amortization of the cost of equipment. Some equipment could be bought at low cost from government surplus and federal appropriations would pay for about 50% of the total equipment cost. Federal funds for this year are available to July 1 and additional equipment could be purchased from next year's appropriations.

If constructed and put into operation, the school, which would be a part of the area vocational school, would be the only aircraft and engine mechanics school in Minnesota.

The school board's proposal will now be reported back to the full city council at its next meeting Feb. 13 when the architects, Wells and Denbrook of Grand Forks, will present their recommendations on the bids received at the Jan. 30 meeting.

Nelson Says Students Must Get Parents' OK

Miles Nelson, Lincoln senior high school principal, announced late last week that the school is prepared to sell tickets for the state high school hockey tournament in St. Paul and the basketball tournament in Minneapolis to students who present written permission from their parents, and who will be properly chaperoned while away from home.

This written permission is due before Thursday, Feb. 12, and students will be required to make up their school work in advance, unless other arrangements are made at the discretion of the teacher.

Nelson stated that the price per session of hockey at the tourney is 50 cents for students, with a 75 cent charge for basketball.

TAX FACTS #2

Don't Pay Tax On Non-Taxable Items

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Minnesota Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

YOU may think that listing your income is the easiest part of preparing a tax return. Actually, according to the Internal Revenue Service, this is where taxpayers make the greatest number of errors.

Not all of the money that may have come to you during 1958 needs to be reported on your tax form. For example, don't report:

(1) "Dividends" received on an insurance policy. They are considered merely a refund of part of the premium you paid.

(2) Social Security benefits, Railroad Retirement Act benefits, or payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.

(3) Property or cash gifts received from other people, although the giver may have to pay a gift tax. Tips and other compensation for services must be reported, however.

(4) Inheritances and bequests. The estate may be taxed, but not the recipient.

If you were injured and received damages, this is not considered taxable income and it makes no difference whether your damages were awarded by a court or settled out of court.

When listing income you can also forget about most government benefits to veterans and their families. Dividends paid on veteran's Government insurance is not considered taxable income, but non-disability retirement pay and the interest on terminal leave bonds must be included.

Sick Pay Benefits

If you were absent from work due to injury or sickness and received payments from your employer or his insurance company, these payments are non-taxable within these two limitations:

First, the maximum amount is $100 per week, plus any amounts which came from your own contribution to the plan.

Second, unless the absence was for sickness during which you were hospitalized for one day or for a personal injury, the payments are not tax free until after the first 7 calendar days of absence.

If these payments are included in the wages shown on your withholding slips, you should subtract the proper amount from your income in the place provided on the first page of the tax return (Form 1040). Attach an explanation as described in the official instruction book. You are entitled to exclude this amount even if you do not itemize deductions.

Rules on Prizes

There is an interesting rule on prizes. Generally all prizes and awards are taxable. However, prizes awarded for scientific, literary or other achievements without any action by you to bring about your selection, are not considered as taxable income to you. Most scholarships granted to college students are not taxable, and the value of the award does not have to be included in the student's contribution to his support.

The official instructions contain a list of the types of income which should or should not be included in your tax return. It is important to check this list carefully.

Newfolden Trims Badger Five 66-44

Nordics to Face Middle River There Tuesday

The Newfolden Nordics downed the Badger Rockets, 66 to 44, in a game played at Newfolden Tuesday, Feb. 3. Three Nordics hit for double figures as Dennis Bakke was high for the evening with 23 points, followed closely by Bobby Dahl with 19, while Don Engelsrud chipped in 10. Jerome Lieberg lead the Rockets with 20 points and Lange potted 13.

The first quarter was nip and tuck most of the way until the last minute when the Nordics gained a 5-point advantage to lead 17 to 12 at the first period stop. The Rockets stayed in contention in the second quarter as the Nordics held a halftime edge of 34 to 25. However, the Rockets fizzled during the third quarter, as the Nordics poured in 18 points to lead 52 to 36 at the third period stop.

Coach John Junker used all 12 men on the squad during the game with nine of them figuring in the scoring.

In the scoring. The Nordics now have a season's record of 13-1, and an East Sub-district 32 record of 9-1.

The Nordics play two road games this week traveling to Middle River on Tuesday, Feb. 10 and to Warroad on Saturday, Feb. 14. The Nordics hold previous wins over both these teams. A win in either one of these two games would assure the Nordics of first place in the East Subdistrict 32 standings.

In a news article on basketball in the St. Paul Pioneer Press over the weekend, the Nordics were rated in a tie for 18th place with Pine River in the Minnesota sports writers high school basketball poll.

Baudette Bears Trip Prowler Sextet 4-3

An inspired Baudette Bears hockey team, refusing to yield to the odds of "foreign" ice and superior Prowler manpower, defeated the hockey Prowlers, 4 to 3, here Saturday night to nail down third place in the regional conference standings. Jack Nielson's goal, picking the right corner of the north cage, broke a 3-all deadlock at the 11:15 mark and provided coach Al Godfrey's Bears with their well-earned win.

This week the Prowlers will be engaging in sub-regional and regional tournament play. On Tuesday night, Feb. 10, with face-off time at 7:00 P.M., the Prowlers will meet the Indus team in a sub-regional tilt in Warroad's Memorial arena. If successful in their sub-regional game, the Prowlers will enter the regional tourney at Roseau, and will play, on Thursday night, the winner of the Baudette vs. Williams tilt.

The Bears, in Saturday night's game here, jumped into an early lead when, in the opening seconds of play, Nielson, taking the face-off from Terry Noble, whipped a shot into the north net. And at the 7:57 mark the Bears gained a 2 to 0 lead when Jeff Hanson, from a sharp angle off to the right of net, found the "long" corner.

Baudette moved into a 3 to 0 lead at the 3:34 mark of the second period when Jim Humeniuk, from the center-ice red line, uncorked a blistering slap shot that flashed past the Prowler goalie for a tally. The Prowlers, at the 4:08 mark, entered the scoring column when Archie Schneider picked up Dale Wennberg's rebound and beat goalie Allen Pelowski from eight feet out.

The Prowlers, on a pair of third period goals by Jerry Jorgenson, evened the game at 3-all. Jorgenson scored his first goal at the 0:38 mark, taking a pass from Wennberg and beating the Bear goalie easily; and at the 9:54 mark, Jorgenson circled the net and shoved the puck around the corner of the goal, and when play was whistled to a stop the puck was found inside the net.

Jack Nielson then put on his game-winning act, with Jim Humeniuk and Terry Noble being credited with the assists.

Thieves Break Even in Two Roseau Games

The senior hockey Thieves snapped a five-game losing streak on Sunday afternoon when, in a high-scoring game played on the Arena ice sheet, the locals defeated the Roseau Cloverleafs, 15 to 8. In a game played at Roseau on Saturday night, the Thieves, playing without the services of player-coach Paul Bedard, and their playmaking center-ice man, Monty Markstrom, dropped a 12 to 5 decision to the Cloverleafs.

In Saturday night's tilt, the Leafs raced away to a 3 to 0 lead on unassisted goals by Dave Wenaloff, Ken Wellen, and Duane Olson. At the end of the second period, the Leafs' margin was 7 to 3; and in the final stanza, the Roseau sextet racked up five goals while the Thieves were tallying twice, to gain a 12 to 5 win.

Sunday's game at the Arena was a reversal of form in the scoring column, with the locals piling up their largest score of the season as they recorded their 15 to 8 triumph.

In Sunday's lop-sized game, ten Thieves players entered the scoring column — Paul Bedard, DelRay Offerdahl, Mike McMahon, Cal Offerdahl, Al Steenerson, Darryl Durgin, Jim Reese, Monty Markstrom, Glenn Carlson, and Wendy Johnson — with DelRay Offerdahl, McMahon, Durgin, Rees, and Markstrom hitting the twine for two goals each.

In a well-played preliminary game, coach Jim (Itts) Williams' East Grand Forks midgets defeated the local V.F.W. midgets, 3 to 2, with Tony Poole scoring the local club's two goals.

The Thieves, this coming weekend, will entertain the Grand Forks Jets and the Fargo Flyers on the Arena rink, meeting the Jets here on Saturday night, and the Fargo club on Sunday afternoon.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It's That Time Again

It seems but a few short years ago since coach Connie Stanbridge was preparing the hockey Prowlers for their first regional tournament, but it was back in 1945. And this week coach John Matchefts will be taking the current Prowler hockey squad into the fifteenth annual eighth regional hockey tournament.

Back in 1945, that Prowler squad (and they played their season's schedule under the sponsorship of the Legion's 40 & 8 and were called the Hornets) had such players as captain Bob Baker, Les Vigness, Don Brossoit, Wes Hovie, Jim Welch, Jimmy Doyle, Swede Lund, Don Hage, Al Thompson, Lloyd (Sonny) Johnson, and freshman goalie Ralph Engelstad on the roster. After winning the regional title, defeating Roseau by a 3 to 1 score, the Prowlers entered the state tournament, and gained runner-up honors.

In state tournament play, the Prowlers edged out White Bear Lake, 3 to 2, in a first round game; then trounced St. Cloud Tech, 12 to 0; and lost, in the championship finals, 4 to 3, to Eveleth. In that finals game, the Prowlers held a 3 to 2 lead entering the third period, but Wes Hovie was assessed a penalty for hooking Eveleth's Pat Finnegan and that gave the Golden Bears an opportunity to score a pair of tallies, with Wally Grant getting the markers. In those days, the player charged with a penalty "sat out" the full time, and Eveleth scored the two goals with Hovie in the "sin bin."

Perhaps it would be interesting to the high school fans to give a list of the regional hockey champions, and runners-up, and the scores, since hockey was recognized as a major sport: 1945, Thief River Falls, 3, Roseau, 1; 1946, Roseau 6, Thief River Falls, 4; 1947, Roseau, 5, Warroad, 2; 1948; Warroad, 3, Roseau, 2; 1949, Warroad, 2, Williams, 2; 1950, Williams, 3, Thief River Falls, 2; 1951, Thief River Falls, 5, Williams, 4; 1952, Thief River Falls, 6, Warroad, 2; 1953, Roseau, 3, Warroad, 1; 1954, Thief River Falls, 3, Warroad, 0; 1955, Roseau, 2, Thief River Falls, 1; 1956, Thief River Falls, 4, Roseau, 2; 1957, Roseau, 5, Hallock, 0; and 1958, Roseau, 3, Baudette, 1.

The regional champions of 1946 — Roseau — and 1954 and 1956—Thief River Falls — and 1958—Roseau—won state championships.

End of the Honeymoon

Phil LeGault's honeymoon in the Northern Chevy's singles bowling tournament at the Family Bowl lanes was surely shortlived, for it came to end on Sunday afternoon when Marv Washnesky took the stocky southpaw out of contention, 529 pins to 525 pins.

Washnesky, a powerful and rangy righthander with a widesweeping hook, rolled games of 182-171-176, for an aggregate of 529. LeGault, after cracking out a 204 game to lead off the series, faded to a 167 and then, crippled by four splits, he dropped to a 154.

And now the pairings will find young Pat Poole meeting Washnesky in next Sunday's three-game series.

Best Wishes to the Prowlers

The hockey Prowlers, and their coaches, John Matchefts and Dave Rogers, are carrying our best wishes as they enter subregional and regional tournament play this week.

We won't wish them good luck, for they are a solid club and don't require luck, but we do hope that they won't be plagued by bad luck. Entering the tournaments, the Prowlers are in fair to good physical condition. Reserve defenseman, Tom Mehlhoff, sidelined and out of action due to a bone break in his left foot; Dale Wennberg has been taking treatments for a groin muscle injury; and Arlan Hjelle missed Saturday night's finale here because of a sore throat and slight fever. Bruce Ranum is nursing an injured foot, but he was skating quite well on Saturday night.

While the Prowlers weren't very impressive in their 4 to 3 loss to the Baudette Bears on Saturday night, the fact that the game wasn't a "must" for the locals perhaps had some bearing on the lack of desire by the Prowlers. Contrariwise, coach Godfrey's Bears were primed and keyed to give a supreme effort, and that they surely did. Their defensemen were like dervishes in their efforts to break up the Prowlers on-goal rushes.

It could be that the Baudette Bears and the Prowlers will meet in a regional tournament first round game on Thursday night. That should be quite a tilt.

The Eagles will sponsor a baseball team again this year and will provide new uniforms as another part of their youth program.

Pirates Edge Prowlers In Overtime 54-51

Dean Lufkin came off the Crookston bench, replacing Roger McWaters who reinjured his left shoulder, and sparked the Pirates to a come-from-behind 54 to 51 overtime win over the Prowlers in a 31st district and Northwest conference basketball game played at Crookston on Friday night.

On Friday, Feb. 13, the Prowlers will travel to Fertile for an inter-district game against the Falcons.

In Friday night's thrill-packed game, the Prowlers outscored the Pirates from the field, twenty-two field goals to eighteen for Crookston, but coach Al Doren's club scored heavily from the free throw line, converting eighteen of twenty-six attempts to gain the victory.

Coach Al Adams' squad led at the period stops, holding a 13 to 9 lead at the end of the third period, with Lynn Nicholson scoring three field goals and Mickey Hanson adding a pair of two-pointers; a 27 to 21 margin at the halftime intermission; and a 40 to 36 lead at the end of the third period.

Moving into the final eight minutes of play, and with the Prowlers leading by four points, 40 to 35, Crookston pardo that lead when Jack Boyum dropped in a free throw, and Gerry Dohm tipped in a rebound. Mickey Hanson, who led the Prowler scorers, and was the game's high point man, hit on a pair of jump shots, and the Prowlers had a 44 to 39 lead with six minutes to play. Lufkin notched a field goal, and then followed with a drive-in to score a layup into the east basket, and when Bill Taylor added a free throw, the game was in a 44-all knot.

Phil Hanson, who had been well-defensed by McWaters and Lufkin, scored on a rebound shot; but Lufkin's two gift tosses, with 4:19 to play, evened the game at 46 to 46. Lufkin from fifteen feet out, rolled in a field goal, and the Pirates gained the lead. With a two-point margin, Crookston began a semi-stall, and with 2:48 to play, Taylor drove in for a layup giving the Pirates a 50 to 46 advantage. Mickey Hanson, who rang up four field goals in the fourth period, hit on a jump shot, and then with seconds of play, remaining, he forced the game into an overtime period, scoring from close-in.

All of the points in the dramatic overtime period were scored on free throws. With 2:23 of the overtime to play, Phil Hanson committed his fifth foul, and left the game, and Crookston's Dohm totted up a pair of points. Lynn Nicholson picked up a Prowler point from the free throw line, on Taylor's infraction. Nicholson, with 1:06 to play, left the game via the personal foul route, and Taylor flipped in two Crookston free throws, giving the Pirates their 54 to 51 win.

Crookston had three players scoring in double figures, with Taylor having 17 points, and Dohm and Lufkin each collecting 14 points. For the Prowlers, in addition to Mickey Hanson's 22 points, Nicholson had an 11-point game.

Valley Winter Shows to Feature Youth in Livestock Projects

Youth activities with livestock are being emphasized at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 23-27, in the form of a livestock judging contest, livestock parade, futurity show, a futurity livestock sale, and award banquets.

The livestock judging contest will be held on Monday of Winter Shows week, February 23. 4-H club, sub-collegiate and farmers' club teams will take part in the event. The contest is designed to stimulate interest in livestock and desirable livestock selection. Trophies, plaques and ribbons will be awarded to the winners and runners-up at an awards banquet on Monday evening, February 23. The contest awards are donated by the Red River Valley Livestock association, Red River Valley Dairymen's association, and Central Livestock association, Inc.

Edward C. Frederick, Northwest School, is in charge of the contest. C. R. Gustafson, Otter Tail Power company, Fergus Falls, is assistant manager.

The livestock parade and judging of futurity animals will take place on Tuesday, February 24. A banquet is planned for Tuesday evening to honor futurity members. The futurity show is open to all FFA and 4-H club members and students at Northwest School.

The main objective of the futurity program is to assist and encourage farm youth to get a good start in livestock production.

Many people cooperate to make the futurity show a success. The Red River Valley Livestock association sponsors a futurity sale. At the sale, outstanding females are offered to qualified boys and girls at a reasonable price. The animals are purchased at the futurity sales with the idea in mind to show them at next year's Winter Shows. The futurity sale is conducted immediately following the sale of their respective class of livestock at the Winter Shows livestock sale. Bred ewes and bred gilts will be sold on Thursday, February 26. Dairy and beef heifers will be sold Friday, February 27. Both sales will be at 1:30 p.m.

County agricultural agents and vocational agricultural instructors aid in the futurity program by instructing young people in proper management and care of purebred livestock.

Banks in the Red River Valley area contribute to a Futurity Development fund. This fund is used to help pay the expenses of the futurity boys and girls while at the show.

331,719 Americans have qualified for Eagle Scout rank since 1911.

National Guard to Be Reorganized Feb. 22

Major General J. E. Nelson, Minnesota's Adjutant General, today designated Sunday, February 22, as the date for reorganization of the state's Army National Guard to the new pentomic division structure.

For the past several years Washington's birthday has been observed on a nation-wide basis as National Guard "Muster Day." "The reorganization of our National Guard units into a pentomic division gives new meaning to our Muster Day observance," General Nelson said. "In every armory in the state, the old units will be mustered out and the new units mustered in."

The 47th Infantry Division will continue as such; however, its principal combat elements will consist of five infantry battle groups and six field artillery battalions, instead of three infantry regiments and four field artillery battalions in the present, "triangular" division.

Infantry regimental headquarters now located in St. Cloud and Mankato will become infantry battle group headquarters. Additional battle group headquarters will be stationed at Stillwater, Worthington and Moorhead. The 47th Division headquarters will continue in St. Paul; however, headquarters of 47 Division artillery will be moved from Minneapolis to Anoka.

Every Minnesota community that now has a National Guard unit will continue to have one under the new organization, General Nelson said. Although the number of units assigned to the state has been somewhat reduced, there will be a slight increase in the total number of officers and enlisted men. The present strength of 8,460 officers and men will be increased to 8,650. The increase will not be uniform throughout the state, however, since unit strengths will have to be adjusted upward or downward in individual instances to meet new strength authorizations.

Concurrently with reorganization many units will receive new numerical designations as the National Guard adopts the "Combat Arms Regimental System" recently prescribed for all Army units. Regimental organizations, to be designated as combat arms regiments, will incorporate all infantry, artillery and armored units for historical and traditional purposes. These regiments, which will have no tactical function, will be the repository of the history, tradition and battle honors of the regiment. Battle Groups and battalions carrying the regimental designation may be assigned as the tactical needs of the Army dictate.

Infantry elements of the Minnesota Guard will be assigned to the 135th Combat Arms Regiment and the 136 Combat Arms Regiment. The present 194th Tank Battalion at Brainerd and the Armored Cavalry Squadron headquartered at Hibbing will become identified with the 205th Combat Arms Regiment.

$400,000 Damage from Blaze in 'U' Chemistry Building

A fire which struck the University of Minnesota chemistry building caused $400,000 damage, the school estimated.

William T. Middlebrook, university business vice president, said damage to the building will come to between $200,000 and $250,000 and to equipment between $100,000 and $150,000.

A university spokesman said there was no insurance coverage. The state does not normally insure buildings it owns, he said.

Chemistry students, orphaned by Wednesday's fire, were scattered in classrooms throughout the campus.

The Boy Scouts' National Court of Honor made 199 awards for heroism or meritorious service in 1957.

Editorials . . .

"The true rule, in determining to embrace or reject anything, is not whether it have any evil in it, but whether it have more of evil than good. Almost everything, especially of government policy, is an inseparable compound of the two, so that our best judgment of the preponderance between them is continually demanded."

—Abraham Lincoln

Virginia Yields

The integration of seven public schools in Virginia last week is looked upon as a turn in the road for all of the South. Virginia has been looked to for leadership by most of the southern states and the Virginia plan of "massive resistance" to integration was accepted as the proper procedure for their fight. Now that that plan has failed and a Virginia court has recognized the federal authority it is expected that organized resistance will gradually end.

Now that the authority has been recognized, it probably will be wise to move slowly in forcing compliance. The changes will be much less painful if they come gradually—less painful for the children of both races.

Important Reading

James Bryant Conant's study of American high schools, conducted under a grant by the Carnegie Corporation, is now available in the form of a 140-page booklet. Dr. Conant is recognized professionally as one well qualified to make such a study and his report will provide material for many discussions on what is right and what is wrong in our program of secondary education.

One of Dr. Conant's criticisms that already has been commented upon a great deal is his statement that we have too many small high schools that cannot measure up to reasonable standards of what a high school should provide. In this criticism he points up a problem that long has been recognized but for which, in many areas, no satisfactory solution has yet been found. In sparsely settled areas such as ours this is a problem that probably will be with us for many years.

But Dr. Conant's report deserves a reading by all who are interested in the problems of education.

Carleton Recognized

Carleton College was given a $1,500,000 gift Friday, to be used in building a hall of science. The award was made in behalf of the Olin foundation, in recognition of the school's high scholastic standards. Carleton is rated as one of the outstanding schools in the country in its class.

In our approach to the problems of higher education in the state, schools like Carleton are not given the consideration they deserve. They perform a great service at no cost to the taxpayers. Too often those who direct our public schools at the higher education level look upon these private schools, most of them church sponsored, as competitors that should be put out of business.

It is good therefore that Carleton does get the recognition it so much deserves. By its good example it is raising the standards of other schools of its kind in the state. It is unfortunate that some of our public education dollars cannot be made available for their expansion. Such dollars, we are sure, would yield better returns than those being spent under political pressure to maintain our public schools where bigness is too often the main objective.

At Ten Paces

The recent exchange of uncomplimentary remarks between Nikita Khrushchev and Hubert Humphrey proves quite conclusively that neither of them have the stature of statesmanship that qualifies them to speak for their respective countries. International differences are not going to be resolved by the you're-a-liar method of argument and Senator Humphrey did not improve his chances of becoming president by his conduct in this verbal brawl.

But looking at it from a less serious point of view, maybe the struggle between these master minds should be continued in other forms of competition. The talkathon would have to be called a draw. Neither of them having demonstrated any marked superiority in throwing the bull, the next event might properly be staged in a cow pasture where they could slug it out with barrel staves at ten paces.

The Governor and Taxes

The most serious shortcoming in Governor Freeman's tax increase proposal would be its adverse effect on Minnesota industry. On numerous occasions the Governor himself has pointed up the importance of new industries and expanded payrolls. As our governor he has urged industries to locate within our state, where, he has stated, conditions, including taxes, are favorable to industrial development. His tax program would place Minnesota at a great disadvantage with other states in attracting new industries, and also in the retaining of some that we now have.

Minnesota is a high-spending state. We have the reputation of being very liberal with the taxpayers' dollars. In Minnesota a larger portion of our taxes are collected from business and industry. We are close to the top of the list as spenders and taxers.

For small businesses and for many small industries, serving a local need, these higher taxes must be paid and passed along as a part of the cost of doing business. Big industry keeps this item of cost as low as possible by operating in areas where taxes, state and local, are least burdensome.

Minnesota already has one of the highest taxes on incomes. The governor would make them still higher. Our mining industry is already being taxed excessively. Some of the Iron Range unemployment can be attributed directly to that fact. The governor's tax program would encourage the industry to expand elsewhere.

One of the most important considerations in seting up a fair tax structure is equalization. Here within the state there are equalization boards at all levels, and their sole responsibility is to see to it that taxes are spread uniformly, according to the law.

We have no interstate equalization authority, and each state must do its own equalizing in relation to other states. State governments that are administered wisely take into consideration the tax structure of other states in setting up their own.

Here in Minnesota "sales tax" is a nasty word politically, but it will soon be here, forced upon us by the spenders. Governor Freeman has stated that he does not like a sales tax. Well who, is there that likes any tax that he is required to pay. But, directly or indirectly, we all pay a part of most of the taxes that are levied.

The sales tax has this to recommend it; it is already established in most states and would be an important step in the direction of equalization if adopted by Minnesota. Our tax structure would then come closer to being the average of other states, and that is important if we have in mind the development of industry and payrolls.

The sales tax is looked upon as a good tax in our neighboring state of North Dakota. The fact that attempts to repeal it have failed indicates that it is a popular tax. In several states, in recent years, voters have approved increased sales taxes rather than increases in other forms of taxation.

The sensible answer to the tax problem, of course, is the curtailment of spending. We know that if conditions forced us to it we could cut spending substantially without crippling any essential public services. But it appears that the spending is going to continue, so better we get set to pay more taxes.

English as a World Tongue

(Kansas City Star)

The important change in the postwar years is the extent to which English is spoken, and as a form of communication between those of other nationalities. In Palermo, a French woman speaks to hotel employees in English. In Florence, Cubans hagle over price in English. In Hamburg, an Indian and a German argue politics in English.

To stimulate this trend, the Ford Foundation has announced grants of $600,000 to expand and improve the teaching of English as a second language. This money will be used to upgrade the quality of instruction, chiefly in Africa and Asia.

It is now being predicted that only extreme national pride or a complete collapse of the American economy, both unlikely, can prevent (the English language) from becoming the accepted second language in most countries of the world.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

A business man had convinced his wife that he was capable of looking after the house while she took a vacation. His first letter to her seemed to indicate things were going along smoothly, until she read this paragraph:

"I'm taking care of the house plants like you told me. I water them twice a week—on Tuesday and Wednesday."

"Bobby," said the teacher sternly, "do you know you have broken the 8th Commandment by stealing Jimmy's apple?"

"Well," explained Bobby, "I might just as well break the 8th and have the apple as to break the 10th and only covet it."

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

At this time of the year we are often shocked by headline stories of tragic fires that cause serious and often unnecessary losses of lives and property. It is important to do everything we can to prevent such fires. I am happy to report that in one important area of prevention, Minnesota leads the nation.

Minnesota Leads

A recent survey of electrical fires has just been made. Of all the states reporting, Minnesota has the best record, with only 0.18 electrical fires per one thousand population. The numbers ranged from that low of 0.18 to 2.07, with an average of 0.55.

Credit for Record

Home owners who exercise proper care can justly share in credit for this record. Builders deserve a fair share of the credit. And certainly the electricians who are responsible for the quality of the wiring have earned recognition for their major contribution.

The State Board of Electricity

Due credit for the high standards that have brought about this top rating for Minnesota must be given to the State Board of Electricity, which is this year marking its sixtieth anniversary. The Board of Electricity is responsible for the licensing of electricians, and for the inspection program that maintains high standards.

Laws are Important

Adequate laws are, of course, necessary for a good program. It is interesting to note that of the states reporting in the survey, North Dakota, with laws similar to those of Minnesota, occupies the second position on the safety record, with 0.22 electrical fires per thousand.

Electrical Injuries

Electricity can result in injury and death without causing fires. The State Board of Electricity has recently reported on case histories of electrical injuries, and presents some important facts about such injuries. The following comments should indicate important lessons about safety in this field.

Again and again, accidents are explained by: "improper method by unqualified person"; "doing work he was not trained to do"; "unqualified person engaged in hazardous occupation"; "absence of proper grounding"; "defective cord", and similar notes. The one which appears most frequently is "improper method by unqualified person."

Typical Victim

A greater proportion of electrical mishaps occurs during the summer. The typical candidate for such accidents is a middle-aged man with no electrical background, in a rural area or the home, doing work for himself on his premises that he is not qualified to do. The three most common causes in such cases are, again, untrained persons using improper methods, absence of grounding, and defective equipment.

Minnesota Farmers showed again that fertilizer on corn is more likely to pay off when there are enough plants there to begin with. In the X-Tra Corn Yield Contest in 1958—sponsored by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service—farmers with populations near 12,000 plants per acre had an average yield increase of 3.6 bushels per acre from fertilizer. Those who had 16,000 to 18,000 plants per acre harvested a 16.3 bushel increase from adding extra plant food.

He says trees help keep down harmful insects, reduce wind erosion but are helpful to nesting birds and beneficial insects and small animals. Dairy Records Help Protect Herd Investment

There's no longer any question over whether or why Minnesota dairy farmers need to keep production records.

The real question is how dairymen today, with the huge investments many of them have in cattle, equipment, feed, overhead and labor can afford not to keep records, when the cost is so small, says Ralph Wayne, 'U' of M. extension dairyman.

Wayne points to the steady trend toward fewer, but larger, and more specialized dairy herds. The rapid improvement is meaning stronger competition all the time. Only the efficient herds will make money in the future.

The key to dairy profit, is production per cow. One that produces 400 pounds butterfat per year is actually returning the dairyman 13 times as much for his labor as one that gives only 200 pounds.

As simple as it seems, it's hard to tell which cows are paying their keep and which are simply "boarders" without a good individual record system. It gains a dairyman little or nothing to have a barn full of cows without knowing what they produce.

There are three dairy systems available to farmers:

Standard Dairy Herd Improvement Association test, in which a supervisor takes monthly milk samples, runs the test, and returns a report on test and production.

"Owner Sampler," in which the herdsman takes his own milk samples, and the DHIA supervisor does the testing and returns a report.

Dairy production record and culling guide, in which the farmer simply records the weight of milk produced by each cow during the day of each month. County agents have the forms for this system, and they cost 25 cents. This is a good system for the herdsman who is not already on a record plan.

Records, fill four important functions. They tell which cows to keep and which to cull. They help you feed according to production. They help in selecting replacement heifers and, finally, they give you a check on efficiency conversion of feed to milk.

Rust Resistance Important in Oat Varieties

Although stem and crown rust didn't bother Minnesota oat fields much in 1958, you still need to be on guard against these diseases.

Best protection you can get is a variety or combination of varieties that resist these hazards.

Oat varieties especially disease-resistant are:

Minhafer, first released in 1957. It resists all races of stem rust, including 7A, all races of crown rust in North America, and smut. It matures early, yields well in comparison to other varieties. There is now plenty of certified Minhafer seed available.

Garry, released in 1953 and in good seed supply. This variety is tall, yields exceptionally well, and has good resistance to all races to stem rust and to smut.

Burnett, a midseason oat developed in Iowa, released in 1957, and being recommended for the first time this year in Minnesota. It is resistant to all races of stem rust except 7A and is resistant to smut. It is moderately susceptible to crown rust. There is a good supply of certified Burnett seed available.

You have other good choices of oat varieties too. Recommended varieties in Minnesota also include Rodney, Ajax and Andrew. Rodney is similar to Burnett in rust resistance, but is a late variety, yields well, and has excellent seed quality.

Ajax is susceptible to race 8 of stem rust, to crown rust and to smut. However, it does well in certain areas, especially on light soil.

Andrew is susceptible to race 8 of stem rust and to crown rust, but it has done well in Minnesota tests for several years.

Rodney and Ajax are Canadian varieties, and Andrew was developed in Minnesota.

February 15 is the legal deadline for farmers to file federal income tax returns—unless they filed an estimate by January 15, indicating intention to make a final return by April 15. Here's a top on winter rodent control. Keep bait stations well supplied with fresh anti-coagulant bait—such as Warfarin, Pival, Fumarin or Diphacin. These poisons must be eaten by rats or mice for five to ten days in a row before the animals will be killed.

Some 3,600 milk producers in 22 Minnesota and Wisconsin counties sell to the Twin Cities milk market. University of Minnesota agricultural economists say these producers represent about 12 percent of all dairy farms in the area, and only about 20 percent of the whole milk marketed from the supply area.

We might see the day when "biological warfare" becomes an important weapon against insects. Diseases could be used to control these pests, according to Marion Brooks, University of Minnesota entomologist. And there's no worry to humans; diseases used this way would be maladies that affect insects only.

Setting Limits

Children need to have some rules to guide them. No doubt we can go to extremes here, and so restrict and complicate their lives that we make things worse instead of better. But at the same time complete permissiveness leaves children at loose ends. Jimmy and Susie are more comfortable when they know what they can or can't do, than when they are uncertain.

The child who feels confident that his parents will stop him if he goes beyond safe limits is likely to act with less hesitation and to explore more freely. The important thing is to be sure that we set only necessary limits and that they are clearly defined. We must be sure that the child understands them and knows what he is expected to do.

I know a most unhappy little girl in nursery school, whose mother has been about as lenient as you can imagine. She refuses her nothing. This little girl is a tense, timid child who cries at the "drop of a hat."

We set limits to help and support the child in his growth. To do this well, we might at least keep two things in mind. The limits should be reasonable and they should be essential. If we limit ourselves to essentials, we can be flexible when circumstances require.

Parents who agree on a few basic regulations will find it easier to be consistent and are less likely to become insistent over trifles. This way, when we need to say, "I wish I hadn't been so hasty in what I said," we're able to admit our mistake and change our position accordingly.

Further, we ought to adjust our demands to what our child can reasonably do at his particular age, and give him time to accept those demands. Parents in turn should accept the child's feelings when he protests but not back down.

Many parents have learned to stop undesirable behavior without making the child feel ashamed or guilty. Often it is as important to keep the child feeling good about himself as it is to stop the forbidden act. Jimmy and Susie learn more quickly when we praise them generously for coming up to our expectations. Honest appreciation helps to build up good feelings and makes it easier for the child to conform.

4-H Enrollment in State Rises in '58

Minnesota Membership Hits 47,894 at Year-end

Minnesota 4-H'ers now total 47,894, an increase of 1,340 members over 1957, says Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota.

Fifty-nine counties showed increased membership. Counties with over 900 members are Dakota, Freeborn, Goodhue, Hennepin, West Otter Tail and North St. Louis. North St. Louis has the highest enrollment, with 1,227 members.

Nearly 90 percent of the 4-H projects started last year were completed. This, too, is an increase over last year's records. Swift county has the highest percent of completions — 99.8 percent. Completed 4-H projects for last year number 95,960. This is an average of slightly more than two projects per member.

The nearly 48,000 Minnesota 4-H'ers are part of the international 4-H movement, which has over two million members. Some 8,000 adult volunteer leaders help the Minnesota 4-H boys and girls carry on projects in 2,400 community 4-H clubs.

Easter Seal Child for 1959 Chosen

Norma Johnson of Rt. 2, Northfield, Given Honor

A freckle-faced, sparkling-eyed 10-year-old youngster named Norma Johnson who lives at Route 2, Northfield, today was named Easter Seal child to represent thousands of Minnesota's crippled children and adults during the 1959 Easter Seal Appeal Feb. 27 to March 29.

Norma was injured in an automobile accident when she was four years old. The injuries resulted in loss of movement of the left leg and hip.

Last summer Norma was among the 454 crippled children and adults to attend Camp Courage, the Easter Seal camp specially-designed for the handicapped which is located near Maple Lake and Annandale.

Other youngsters—those with speech and hearing handicaps—were served at another Easter Seal camp near Stillwater. Still other thousands of handicapped persons were helped by other Easter Seal services throughout the state.

CANDID COMMENT

by Mack Draper

Back during the last "hot" war a favorite sport among servicemen was to start a rumor, and then sit back and wait to see what form the rumor took on by the time it had made the rounds and come back to the source.

Believe you me, the boys could come up with some odd twists in embellishing a story that was phony to begin with. Nor did the truth enjoy a better fate at the hands of the rumor-mongers. It would come back to the source just as deformed as the rumors, as often as not.

And, just as often as not a great many of our local issues suffer the same fate—by the time they're thoroughly talked over, the fact and fiction concerning them are hard to separate.

Furthermore, just as some units of the army, navy and air force held excellent news and unit activity briefings from time to time to keep their men informed, and thus minimized the spreading of rumors, so could those who are proponents of local issues better inform he public of the facts concerning each of the issues.

Such improved public relations, when such matters as the proposed shop at the airport come up, would have a two-fold effect. (1) The facts in each issue would come from official sources and an informed public would be less vulnerable to the distortions inherent in rumors.

The public has a right to know and by knowing might well favor many proposals that would be opposed were the facts not known. (2) By stating the facts in each issue the ground would be cut from under those who might knowingly distort the facts.

As chairman of the local airport commission I have more than a casual interest in the question of the proposed shop building at the airport. I am at the airport as much if not more probably, than any city resident other than those who are employed there, and I know full well a better shop building is urgently needed to meet the demands of area fliers.

I have heard the question, why put up a school building at the airport? The facts: no one is putting up a school building there — the proposed building would be a shop, leased to the vocational school to train mechanics.

The lease income will pay off the cost of the building without the city's having to tap tax revenues to amortize it.

Question: why must the school train mechanics at the airport, rather than in the school area? Answer: (1) To qualify for federal aid in the project the school must conduct such a course at the airport. (2) It would be difficult, if not impossible, to get Federal Aviation Agency approval of such a mechanics school (or shop) located anywhere but at an airport.

(3) The students will be doing considerable work on airworthy airplanes; it would not be practical to dismantle an entire aircraft, haul it to town, and, let's say, pull a routine engine inspection, and then go through the entire process in reverse.

Plane owners just would not stand for such monkey business—and remember, so much of the training students would receive would have to be on such airplanes. Further, the place for an airplane shop is on an airport—not uptown.

Another vicious rumor heard concerning the proposed shop is that it is being pushed by area aircraft owners on the theory they could then get repairs and maintenance done for the cost of parts only.

NOTHING COULD BE FARTHER FROM THE TRUTH. As we stated before, a better SHOP has been needed for a long time—and an independently-operated shop will be housed in the proposed building under a subleasing plan. The shop operator certainly would not be interested in doing work for plane owners free, do you think? Furthermore, with improved shop facilities there would be more and more airplane owners from a wide area of at least two states coming to take advantage of the FAA-approved repair station here, which would be far better than the ordinary shops found on most airports nowadays.

Now, about taxes and paying for the building; no one wants his taxes increased, and that is just as true of me as it is of you. Still, if the opposition to the project prevails we taxpayers will not only have to pay for it from our own pockets later, but stand to lose the chance to get some federal and state aid which would largely defray the costs of the proposed shop.

A far larger percentage of taxes paid here go to the state and federal government than stays in our area; if the proposed shop is approved we'll be getting some back here for a very worthy cause. Our state and federal taxes won't be reduced any if the opposition succeeds in defeating the building proposal.

Those opposed to the shop say we can't afford to put up a shop, now or any other time. They say you can't get something for nothing. Both statements are true up to a certain point.

Here are the facts: (1) The city is guaranteed an income from the building for a set number of years, long enough to completely pay for the building without the need of additional tax revenue. After the building is amortized the income afterwards could possibly help the city to realize an actual profit on our airport—yours and mine. (2) The school board, from tuition (from out-of-state trainees), state and federal grants, and sub-leasing shop facilities to the commercial operator, expect to realize a profit on the school operation. There are figures to prove this.

Do YOU, as a taxpayer, think we can afford NOT to put up the proposed shop building—or do you think we should let the present opportunity slip by and later have to pay for a building OUT OF YOUR TAX MONEY? The need is NOW and it grows more acute every passing year—we can't keep putting a shop off indefinitely. Under the plan proposed we would, in effect, be getting the building — FOR NOTHING!

One could go on and on answering arguments on the proposed shop building. However, in closing, it should suffice to remind folks that some of the rumors against the proposal have deliberately, it would seem, diverted attention from the tremendous benefits that we stand to gain if the proposal is approved. The sky is no limit in that respect—and that's no rumor!

The old hand press, may it rest in peace, has passed from the American scene except for museums.

But the influence of the pioneer printer and especially the frontier publishers, made a lasting impression upon our culture, our government and our free enterprise system.

People have always had more respect for the printed word than for an oral statement. Normally, when a commitment is made in "black and white" it is authorative and reliable.

Farm Forum Set for Minneapolis March 9

Dr. O. B. Jesness, general chairman of the Minneapolis Area Chamber of Commerce 1959 Farm Forum, and former head of the agricultural economics department of the University of Minnesota, announced that final arrangements for the 1959 Farm Forum are nearing completion.

The Farm Forum, started in 1947 by the Minneapolis Area Chamber of Commerce "to bring a thorough, objective and open discussion on the broad problems related to agriculture, industry and labor of this area," is sponsored by the Chamber's agriculture committee.

The 1959 sessions March 9 and 10 at the Pick-Nicollet hotel are expected to draw an attendance of 1,500 farmers, businessmen, and labor leaders of the Upper Midwest.

"This will be the 13th Farm Forum," Jesness said. "Each has had a large attendance which has led to a better understanding of the inherent problems of urban and rural communities in today's fast pace of change."

"The Farm Forums are designed to give this understanding and point the way for constructive action to stimulate and encourage the feeling of interdependence between agriculture and business. Farming is a business enterprise, and in many instances requires as large or larger investment."

Dr. Jesness, announced speakers for the 1959 Farm Forum include: Ervin L. Peterson, assistant secretary of agriculture; Dr. Kenneth D. Naden, agricultural counsel, National Association of Food Chains, Washington, D.C.; Charles N. Shepardson, board of governors, Federal Reserve Bank; Earl L. Butz, dean, school of agriculture, Purdue University; Congressman Fred Marshall, Grove City, Minn.; Jesse W. Tapp, chairman of the board, Bank of America, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Dean McNeal, executive vice president, the Pillsbury company.

Lakehead Pipeline Co. Plans for 1959

To Add Pumping Station at Iron River, Michigan

Interprovincial Pipe Line Company's plans for 1959 construction were announced today by R. E. Trammell, general manager.

To provide added capacity in the system, the company will construct a new electrically-operated pumping station at Iron River, Michigan and add to the existing pumping station at Edmonton, Alberta. The program calls for a 4,450 h.p. electrically driven station to be housed in an extension of the present building at Edmonton.

In the wholly-owned United States subsidiary, the Lakehead Pipe Line Company, Inc., the automatically controlled electrically driven pumping station, to be constructed at Iron River, Michigan, have 6,150 h.p. This will be the twenty-first pumping station on the 1,930 mile crude oil pipe line which carries Western Canadian crude to Eastern markets.

During 1958 a similar booster pumping station was added to the Interprovincial-Lakehead system at Bay City, Michigan, and additional power was added to two pumping stations in Saskatchewan and two in Manitoba.

With the completion of the new facilities, the capacity of the Interprovincial-Lakehead Pipe Line system will be increased to approximately 290,000 barrels per day out of Edmonton, 303,000 barrels per day from Cromer, Manitoba and 300,000 barrels per day from Superior to the Michigan and Ontario markets. The 1959 construction program is expected to cost approximately 2 million dollars.

Bill Would Uphold Right of Grocers to Sell Some Drugs

Measure Is Introduced in Legislature; State Pharmacists Are Opposed

A bill upholding the right of grocery stores to sell pre-packaged non-prescription medicines such as Bufferin and Alka-Seltzer was introduced Friday into the commerce committee of the State House of Rrepresentatives.

Chief author of the bill, Jack Peterson of Duluth, submitted the bill on behalf of grocery stores, variety merchants and drug wholesalers throughout the state.

If passed, the bill would allow non-drug outlets here to continue competing with drug stores in the sale of some 18 patent medicines. The Minnesota state board of pharmacy and the Minnesota Pharmaceutical Association are opposing the bill on the grounds that "indiscriminate sale of potentially harmful drugs endangers public health."

Grocers argue that since the items in question are non-prescription remedies, packaged in the factory, labeled, and advertised directly to the consumer, sale in a drug store offers no more protection than sale elsewhere. Moreover, they add, it is an issue of economic supply and demand—in which the customer determines where he will make his purchase.

Co-authors of the bill are representatives Fred A. Cina, Aurora; Roy E. Dunn, Pelican Rapids; O. Gerhard Nordlie, Litchfield, and Roy Schulz, Mankato.

Farmers Urged to Plant More Durum

Crop Improvement Assn. Asks 60 Per Cent Boost

Farmers in the Northwest are being urged to plant more durum wheat this year to meet sharply increasing market demands.

The Northwest Crop Improvement association says a 60 per cent boost in durum acreage, meaning a total of 2-million acres, will have to be harvested to supply requirements of the macaroni industry in 1959.

More macaroni products were consumed in 1958 than any year in the nation's history with consumption up to a record high of 7.3 pounds per person and the figure is expected to go still higher.

The crop improvement association is alarmed because durum acreage has fallen off. Durum is a 70-million dollar crop to the Northwest area, and is the only class of wheat for which demand has increased in recent years.

"Last year durum production fell short by about 8-million bushels, and it took a record high yield plus carryover stocks to make up the deficit," Henry Putnam, executive secretary of the association, said. "This will not be the case in 1959, there is a relatively small carryover and a 30-million bushel crop is needed."

Durum has been bringing a good return. During this crop year, amber durum wheat has sold at a premium of as much as 20 to 24 cents per bushel over bread wheats.

It is expected that farmers will be planting more of the new rust resistant varieties, such as Langdon and Ramsey. Both these varieties are considered of very good quality from a milling standpoint and have out-yielded spring wheat at experiment stations where the two were grown under comparable conditions.

Dentists Advise on Brushing Teeth

Say Youngsters Need Assistance of Parents

Junior may brush his teeth faithfully twice each day or more, but if he's younger than seven or eight years chances are he may be inviting cavities not preventing them.

The reason, according to the Minnesota State Dental association, is that youngsters cannot do a first-class tooth cleaning job.

"They haven't yet developed the proper manual dexterity," says Dr. Jay J. Nicol, association president.

He suggests that mother help with tooth brushing. She can learn the proper technique by consulting her dentist for a demstration.

The parent's role as guardians of their children's dental well-being is spotlighted during the 11th National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 8-14.

If parent and dentist cooperate a youngster can usually expect to keep his permanent teeth during his lifetime, Dr. Nicol explained.

That doesn't mean that baby teeth should be ignored, since their condition usually determines the state of the permanent teeth which follow.

Teachers' P… Scale OK'd … Board Monday

Salaries Are Not Disclosed Pending Clarifying Details

The board of education of the Thief River Falls school district at its February session Monday evening approved a salary schedule for the faculty for the coming school year.

Pending clarification of certain details, Supt. Irwin Mickelson withheld announcement of the new pay scale until after his return Friday from the Twin Cities, where he went Tuesday morning.

Also at its meeting Monday, the board made adjustments in the bus drivers' pay schedule, which provides that 11 of the 15 drivers are to be paid two cents a mile for each mile in excess of 60 traveled in one day. This payment is in addition to the base salary of $130 per month for the first year and $140 for the second.

The board approved a drivers' training course to be conducted during the summer months.

Accepted were the resignations of John Wagner, English and speech teacher, and Earl Strinder, social studies teacher, both effective February 28; and of Ardythe Archer, girls' physical education instructor, effective at the end of the current school year.

Arrest Clears up Burglary Series Dating Back to '56

Local Man Employed at Silver Bay, Minn., Bound over to District Court

The recovery of two guns stolen in a burglary of Ole's Northern Supply July 4, 1956, has led to the solution of a long string of burglaries in this city dating back to 1956.

The guns were recovered from a city man who is now in the service at Ellsworth AFB, Rapid City, S. D., while local officers were there two weeks ago to pick up a juvenile who had skipped town while on parole to his parents in a case involving the robbery of the Thief River Grain Co.

The air force man was not implicated in the 1956 robbery, officials said. Recovery of the guns led to the confession of one man now awaiting sentence on the grain company burglary charge and also implicated a local man who was employed at Silver Bay, Minn., until local officials picked him up there last Friday.

The man from Silver Bay is Donald J. Klopp, 19, who confessed to the 1956 robbery, plus several others in the city since 1956, while John W. Trickle is the person awaiting sentence on the grain concern robbery, and is implicated in several others also.

In municipal court Monday Klopp waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court under $2000 bond.

Police said a detailed account of the crimes solved will be available for Monday's Times.

Captain Anderson Explains Patrol Radio to Rotary

Officer Says TRF Base Station Is One of Six Covering Entire State

Operation of the state's highway patrol radio communication system was explained by Captain Walter Anderson to Rotarians at the luncheon meeting Monday noon, followed by a question and answer session in which a wide range of highway safety problems were discussed.

There are six base communication stations in the state, Captain Anderson said, the Thief River Falls station serving a large area of northwestern Minnesota. This station is supplemented by 16 repeater stations, which with four walkie-talkies, provide an intercom system that blankets the large area.

In addition to the 23 highway patrol squad cars and 20 conservation department wardens in the area, the station provides communication for a number of county and municipal police systems. Through the Thief River Falls station the state headquarters exchanges information with the state patrols of North Dakota and Montana and informally with Canadian police.

In 1958 the Thief River Falls station received reports on 2,850 stolen cars and 437 accidents. A large number of courtesy calls are handled through the communication system, Captain Anderson stated, and special efforts are made to locate travelling motorists when justified by the urgency of messages.

Omnibus Tax Measure Goes to Legislature

Bill Proposes to Raise $84 Million Additional Taxes

Minnesota legislators Wednesday received an omnibus tax bill to raise funds for Gov. Freeman's 470 million dollar budget for the two years starting July 1.

To meet the 84 million increase Freeman is seeking, the measure calls for raising income and corporate taxes, levies on liquor, cigarettes, iron ore, tobacco, gifts and inheritances. It also proposes establishment of an income tax withholding plan.

Co-authors of the largest tax bill ever to confront Minnesota lawmakers are Reps. Fred Cina, majority leader; D. D. Wozniak, chairman, and B. M. Wichterman, vice chairman of the House tax committee; speaker Ed Chilgren and Edmund Tiemann.

With respect to the withholding system, Wozniak and Wichterman said it was a choice of either that or a sales tax. They challenged the conservatives to introduce a tax bill of their own if they disagreed with the administration's proposals.

Rep. George French, Minneapolis conservative, told the tax group Tuesday that his faction was not considering any sales tax measure.

Minnesota's presidential primary law appeared to be headed for repeal.

Top leaders in the House, both liberal and conservative, teamed up in sponsoring a bill to wipe the law from the statute books. It has been in effect since 1949. The Senate already has given preliminary approval to a repeal measure by an overwhelming vote of 44-14. The Senate gave it final passage yesterday.

There was wide speculation as to what the House would do with the law—until Tuesday. A bill was introduced with the signatures of men who have powerful influence in both the majority and minority groups.

Protesters Heard at Monday Storm Sewer Hearing

150 Attend Hearing on West Side Sewer Work

People in North End of District Renew Their Objections

The views of many west side residents in regard to the proposed construction of a storm sewer system in district 3 were expressed before the city council Monday evening in a formal hearing that attracted over 150 persons to the city Auditorium.

Heated arguments between those in favor and those opposed to the project which could have come about were headed off at the beginning when Bob Carlson, council president, announced a formal agenda to which the meeting adhered.

D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer for the city, presented a brief history of the west side problem and stated that any permanent street improvement project must begin with the construction of storm sewers. He went on to say that 52% of the property owners of district 3 presented a petition in 1951 for the work but that it was laid aside.

"The 1948 council ordered the preparation of a master plan for storm sewers for the city," Stewart said, "and in 1951, the program of residential street improvements was started in areas where the drainage of streets was no problem or where storm sewers were in."

"The work in district 3 is a continuation of the work carried out last year," he said. "The need for action was brought about by the re-routing of highway 59." He went on to point out that money from the highway users' fund must be used on work approved by the highway department and the highway work must be started with provisions for adequate drainage.

The total cost of the project has been set at $350,000, according to preliminary estimates, with $31,700 to be paid by trunk highway funds for draining the highway, $77,000 in state aid for two years and $67,300 from the city leaving $177,000 to be secured through special assessment of benefited property owners. Assessed on a basis of area, the owner of a normal 50-foot lot would pay $266 toward the total cost of the project.

Following Stewart's summary questions were directed to him from the floor. Representative questions were:

Q—What effect would it have on the highway project if the district 3 project were not undertaken by the city?

A—It is possible that the highway department would go ahead with its work and provide its own drainage outlet. However, the city would still have to pay for part of the work and we would not be able to hook into the highway drainage system in later years to drain this area. It would be a total loss as far as

Council to Get Report on Airport Building Bids Friday Evening

In a special meeting of the city council Friday evening, Feb. 13, beginning at 7 o'clock, bids which were received recently for the construction of a proposed airport shop building will be reviewed by the architects, Wells & Denbrook of Grand Forks.

The council will also hear a report by its finance committee which met with the board of education of the Thief River Falls school district Feb. 5 to discuss terms of a possible lease for the proposed building. The shop would be used as a part of the area vocational school to train aircraft and engine mechanics. An offer was made by the board of education to enter into a 15-year lease with the city to pay off the cost of construction. Tentative terms included the payment of insurance, utilities and heat by the school board which would also pay about $1,200 toward the construction of a new sewage disposal system and $450 for connecting water lines to the building.

The council meeting is a continuation of one held Jan. 30 when bids were opened for the building. At that time, the architects asked that all bids be tabled to give the firm an opportunity to analyze them and to present their findings.

One legal hurdle to the acceptance of bids and financing the building was cleared during the meeting of the school board and the council's finance committee when the board offered to prepay two years of rent. This sum, subtracted from the total cost of the building, would reduce the amount of money which would have to be borrowed to less than $24,000. Any loan above that amount could be borrowed only with a bond election.

If the low bids are accepted Friday night, a steel building, complete except for a paint room and the connection of water and sewer lines would cost $21,930 and a cement block building would cost $28,841.

Members of Woman's Club Have Program on Greece

The Thief River Falls Woman's club held its bi-monthly meeting in the Chamber of Commerce room, Tuesday, February 10. Mrs. J. A. Wassgren, chairman of the Current Events group and program chairman of this meeting, gave a review of the culture and art of Greece making special mention of the pillared facade of the Northrop Memorial Auditorium on the University Campus in Minneapolis.

Miss Mary Demetrello, an exchange student from Greece as guest speaker gave an insight into life in her homeland with special mention of customs, education and home life. Her home while in this city is with Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Ewing and family. The Current Events group and the general club presented a gift to Mary.

The Allegro group presented three numbers—"God Bless America," "Let There be Music," and "Speed our Republic," with Mrs. Sherman Idso as accompanist and director.

Instead of the panel discussion previously planned, and in keeping with this important birthday month, Mrs. Millard Peterson gave an interesting excerpt of Lincoln, Mrs. Charles Vorachek paid recognition to St. Valentine and Mrs. Fred Monroe told about the International House in Minneapolis and work done for foreign students.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting with Mrs. Arthur M. Johnson co-chairman of the Laurel group and Mrs. J. A. Wassgren at the hostess table. They were assisted by Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson and Mrs. Fred Monroe of the General group. The Valentine motif was used for the occasion with a blue note too. This was used in a table arrangement with a church as the central theme. This was prepared by Miss Bernice Troumbly of the teacher training department.

Family Farm Growing Larger, Commission Reports to Governor

A broad economic picture of Minnesota's agriculture was presented to Governor Freeman in St. Paul last week by members of his study commission on agriculture. The report is being presented to members of the Minnesota state legislature this week.

The published report, embracing 208 pages is one of the most comprehensive surveys ever made of Minnesota agriculture and covers more than a year's study, beginning in 1957.

Assignment given to the commission by Governor Freeman was "to ascertain the extent to which farm people in Minnesota are sharing in, or failing to share in, the national proserity of the 1950's, and more specifically to point out problem areas in the state agricultural areas."

Members of the commission are:

Dr. Willard W. Cochrane, University of Minnesota agricultural economist now on leave at the University of Chicago, chairman; Frank D. Stone, general manager, Land O'Lakes Creameries, vice chairman; M. W. Thatcher, general manager, Farmers Union Grain Terminal association; Arthur Hanson, commissioner, Minnesota Department of Securities; George W. Jacobson, executive president, Group Health Mutual, Inc.; Glen A. Long, manager, Farmers Union Marketing Association; Oscar Lund, Minnesota Dairy Products association; Gean O'Leary, chairman, Farm Credit District of St. Paul; Felix F. Rondeau, president, Mutual Service Insurance Companies; Arthur J. Smaby, general manager, Midland Cooperatives; Thomas H. Steichen, general manager, Farmers Union Central Exchange; and Loren C. Crane, vice president, Minnesota Electric Cooperatives.

Some of the findings of the 11-man commission were:

Total farm production for sale in the state increased 54 per cent from 1939 to 1956. Crops contributed most of this general increase although a good share was due to the increased production of livestock and livestock products.

Although production continued to increase after 1948, gross farm receipts dropped because farm prices declined.

The general economic health of Minnesota farmers is better than the national average despite the sag in farm receipts during the 1950's, and the state's farm incomes were "considerably higher than the average farm incomes of other states in the nation through the period 1939-56."

Income of Minnesota farmers, while better than the national average, figured out to only about 40 per cent of the average per capita income of non-farm people in the state.

Minnesota income has followed the national pattern, with income from farming dropping while non-farm income has been rising.

The commission's breakdown of farm income in the state reveals that, in 1955, approximately 63 per cent of the state's farmers had net incomes that were less than $2,000 from all sources and only two per cent had incomes that were more than $6,000. A further breakdown shows that cattle and hog raising farms averaged about $2,500, grain farmers about $1,900, cattle and hog raising farms about $1,600 and dairy farmers about $1,100. Size of the farm was one of the most important factors affecting income, the commission found, but size alone was no guarantee of high income. The farmer who was not above average efficiency had a low income regardless of size of his farm, and the more technologically advanced farmers had much higher incomes.

The family farm is not disappearing, the commission found, but merely is increasing in size. It now represents a larger percentage of the total number of farms than ten years ago. The report indicates that the family farm can even become larger in future years just by using existing technology.

Concerning land values in the state, the commission found they have continued to rise in spite of falling farm incomes since 1948. In 1957, the total value of farm land in the state was about nine times as high as net farm income. In 1939-41, it was only seven times as high.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

The Noose Tightens

In any discussion of taxation, spending and debt, two groups of people are too often overlooked—those who were born into a world where income and expense balance precariously leaving nothing for emergencies and savings and those who worked hard all their lives to put "a little something aside" for their later years.

Disregarding the questions of the worthiness of projects and whether government debt is a good thing, let us devote a little attention to these people who receive no subsidies, whose income is fixed and who have no organized group to speak for them. In a futile small voice, let us say something in behalf of a great many people who are being squeezed harder and harder as the years go by.

I do not know how large this group is in actual numbers but it is very sizable. What affects these people could very well change the entire economic picture of the nation, the state and every community.

What is happening today has a parallel in the industry of coal mining, which, a few years ago, was being struck repeatedly by John L. Lewis' miners. Increased wages that resulted were passed on to consumers. Many who had used coal for residential heating found that the supply of oil and gas were more dependable, cheaper and more convenient and the demand for coal decreased until many miners found that the supply of coal far exceeded the demand. They had outpriced the market—the law of diminishing returns caught up with them.

Slowly but surely, other things will be in long supply as the available dollars are sucked up by increasing taxes and governmental spending and debt which is reflected back upon this large group of taxpayers.

Let us take the example of an elderly widowed lady living in the western section of our own city. During her husband's lifetime, he put aside sound dollars in the form of what was then considered ample insurance for his wife's remaining years. What has happened since then is an old story. Rising prices and increased taxes have to be paid from her small income which grows more inadequate as the days go by. Life in her golden years has become a nightmare instead of the peaceful time for which her husband had so thoughtfully provided. Every newspaper and news broadcast is dreaded and there is no relief in sight. There are things that this woman needs but one by one they are removed from her list because the difference between her income and the cost of living is growing smaller.

Then there is the businessman who paid good dollars into a retirement fund but today finds that he can't live on the income. He has worked far beyond his years but continues to do so because of necessity.

And there is the young man who receives what is considered by his elders as a munificent sum each payday in comparison to the "good old days" but whose wages and the cost of living do not match, no matter what he does. Employed in a business where his lone plea for relief from the financial pinch may result in a discharge from his position and without an organized group to speak for him, he feels the result of every price and tax increase more and more.

What happens to these people and others like them is the concern of everyone. Representing a large segment of the buying public, they are being squeezed out of the market place through no fault of their own. The goods they would buy are being delayed or eliminated from their lists. Necessities are being spaced as far apart as possible. Substitutions of lower-priced articles are being made.

Eliminate much of the buying power of these people and, sooner or later, the whole economy of the community, state and nation will be seriously affected. The lawmakers of this nation on every level must come to realize what is happening and what will happen rather than voting themselves bigger salaries and expense accounts to compensate for the higher cost of living which they must themselves have caused.

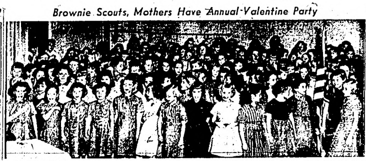
Brownie Scouts, Mothers Have Annual Valentine Party



Brownie Scouts gathered to sing the "Brownie Smile Song" and "Queen Mary" at the beginning of the Mother and Daughter Valentine party in St. Bernard's church parlors Tuesday evening. The annual event was attended by 335 persons who opened the program with the pledge of allegiance and the singing of "America." Mrs. R. J. Dryden, president of the Thief River Falls Girl Scouts, presided at the meeting and gave special recognition to the Brownie Scout leaders and their assistants.

the area and the city are concerned.

Q—Will some lots which are benefited more be assessed more and those which would benefit less be assessed less?

A—Some lots would benefit more but we have talked over this matter many times and have never been able to come up with any system of assessment that would work. We would have to assess on a uniform basis.

Q—Why wasn't the system put in when 52% of the voters were in favor of it years ago?

A—I can't answer the question. Only someone concerned with the matter at that time can do so.

Q—What would this project have cost individual property owners if it had been done back in 1951?

A—The assessment would have been $280. Although the project will cost more now, state funds will bring the cost to individuals down to less.

At this point, a question was asked, "If this project goes through, what are the prospects of this area having curb and gutter, sidewalk and street surfacing work done in the next five years?" Stewart's reply that storm sewer work was the first step toward those improvements was interrupted by his questioner who asked for a "yes" or "no" as to whether the area would have the improvements within five years. The question was ruled out of order by President Carlson. Mayor O. D. Beich stated, however, that there were no plans for work in the area in the next five years.

Q—When would assessment for this work begin?

A—It would probably be computed from the time the city entered into contract for the work.

The next portion of the hearing was devoted to those who favored the work. Supt. Irwin T. Mickelson spoke for the school board and recalled that the basement of Washington school and the band room of Lincoln high school had been flooded in the past when the combination storm-sanitary sewer backed up during heavy rains. Any heavier backup would probably cause flooding of the motors in the schools, he said.

Arnold Pearson, secretary of the school board, said that most residents know of the damage to the schools and pointed out that the taxpayers owned the schools which were being damaged. "We are representing your interests," he said.

Others who spoke in behalf of the project, nearly all from the area in district 3 south of Sixth st., told of the damage to basements from the backup of the combination storm-sanitary sewer now serving the area, the dust during the dry season and the danger of disease from the polluted water entering the basement of homes.

Dr. George Martin said, "I came here because I thought the town was going places and it has but I'd like to see it continue to develop. I'd like to see more surfaced streets. At $266 for each owner of a lot for the improvement, they're getting a bargain. This improvement is coming eventually. For every year you put it off, you can figure an increase of 4% to the total cost."

Dr. Walter Pedersen and Coach Joe Mrkonich also stressed the danger to health. "I can't see how anyone can conscientiously oppose the project," Dr. Pedersen said. "If a health problem arises in my family because of these backed-up drains, it won't be my family alone which is involved. It will become a community problem," Mrkonich added.

H. O. Berve, 810 Main ave. N., presented two petitions, one from the northern section of the district and a second from the southern section, bearing the signatures of 174 residents in opposition to the project. In part, the petitions stated, "We, the undersigned, object to having our real estate included in the project. There are sufficient sewer facilities in our part of the city and we don't need a storm sewer. We object to the assessments and further taxes. Taxes are too high now."

Berve made it clear that neither he nor any of the 115 signers of the one petition living in the northern section of the district were in opposition to a storm sewer, they were opposing the extension of the sewer to their area which he stated was on high ground where it was not needed and where the high content of gravel in the earth absorbed the water. "If there are some who need drainage," he concluded, "let them pay for it but leave our property out of it."

C. E. Hellquist, 811 Duluth ave. N., echoed Berve's words adding, "This project would be of no benefit to me. Why should I have to pay?"

Martin Bothun, 941 Arnold ave. N., said, "I have lived in Thief River Falls for 70 years but I have never been tumbled around as much as in the past seven years. There are 200 taxpayers north of Sixth st. who are against this project but you're trying to jam it down our throats.

"We are being blamed by the lowlanders for something that is not our fault," Bothun continued. "Anyone who knows anything about the drainage system in the northern part of the city should know that we are not even connected to the sewers that are flooding. If we need a storm sewer, we'll ask for it. You don't have to jam it down our throats."

In later questioning D. H. Stewart said that it was true that $61,000 could be deducted from the cost of the project if it was not extended beyond Sixth street. His questioner doubted that the project should be carried beyond Sixth st. if that much money could be saved.

Mrs. Inez O. West, a resident of the northwest part of the city, said, "I don't know where we are going to get money for something like this. We are poor people."

Near the conclusion of the matter, Mayor Beich stated that he and the present city council couldn't commit future city governments for street work. He pointed to the 4th st. work of last year and 3rd st. work this year as part of the street program and concluded, "I hope mayors in the future will project the street program."

The meeting was adjourned until Monday evening, Feb. 16, at 8 o'clock in the city Auditorium.

Mercury Rises to 20 on Wednesday

Low Reading of —25 Is Reached Sunday Night

While floods, tornadoes, sleet, freezing rain and heavy snow plagued a large part of the nation, this area has been experiencing a gradual warming trend which saw the mercury standing at 20 degrees Wednesday and with 15 to 20 degrees predicted for today.

Amateur prophets, looking to the unsettled weather conditions to the south, have begun their annual predictions of an early spring and are receiving the hopeful backing of the entire population.

Although the temperature Wednesday night never sank below a plus 8 reading, it was preceded by a —25 Sunday night and —23 both Monday and Tuesday evenings.

According to the KTRF weather forecast, considerable cloudiness is expected today with occasional light snow. Cloudiness with light snow is also expected tonight when temperatures will be from zero to 10 degrees above.

Tomorrow, the region is expected to have partial cloudiness and colder temperatures.

Two Minor Traffic Mishaps Reported

Both Accidents Occur in City Monday Afternoon

Two minor traffic mishaps, both of which occurred Monday afternoon, are the only blots on an otherwise quiet week in the city, according to city police.

The first mishap occurred about 12:46 Monday when Nels E. Osell, Roseau, driving a pickup truck south on LaBree av. was involved in a collision with Dr. Milton D. Starekow, city, who was proceeding west on Third st. and making a left turn onto LaBree av.

Osell had stopped for the stop sign and then started across Third st. when he saw Starekow approaching from the east and stopped again. Starekow, in turn, thought Osell was going on across Third and made a left turn into LaBree and in doing so struck Osell's pickup truck.

Damage was $95 to the truck and $125 to the Starekow car.

The second mishap that afternoon occurred at 2:43 when a car driven south on Knight av. N. by Mrs. Florence R. Mickelson, city, was struck on the rear fender by another vehicle driven east on Ninth st. by Clair C. Larson, St. Hilaire.

Damage to the Mickelson car was estimated at $125 and to Larson's $115.

Plane Missing on Trip from Red Lake

Robbinsdale Couple Not Heard from Since Sunday

Twenty-five Civil Air Patrol planes started aerial search at dawn Wednesday for a suburban Robbinsdale pilot and his wife, missing on a Sunday flight to Minneapolis from the Upper Red Lake region, 45 miles north of Bemidji.

Missing were Lonnie Worth, 49, and his wife who were traveling in a four-place, single engine Cessna 180, maroon and silver in color.

Capt. Bob Kost said the patrol first was alerted early Wednesday when Worth's son, Melvin, became concerned over their long absence and learned they had started for home.

Kost said a check of airports disclosed that Worth had filed no flight plans from the lake region to Crystal Airport in Robbinsdale, where the plane was berthed. Nor was any radio communication heard from the ship.

Newfolden Trims Karlstad 57 to 48

Team Has Season Record of 14 Wins, One Defeat

The Newfolden Nordics snared the Karlstad Rabbits, 57 to 48, in a game played at Newfolden on Saturday, Feb. 7. This makes the fourteenth victory in 15 games for the Nordics this season. The Nordic 'B' squad won its twelfth game in 14 outings by downing the Rabbit 'B' squad, 53 to 10. Don Engelarud was high point man for the evening and led the Nordics with 21 points, while Dahl and Bakke were in double figures with 17 and 11 respectively. For the Rabbits, Peterson was high with 13 and Ronnander scored 12 points.

The Nordics grabbed the lead right from the outset and slowly pulled away during the evening. First period score was 15 to 11 and this increased to 27 to 19 by halftime. The Nordics had their best advantage at the third quarter stop with a 42 to 32 score.

The Nordics now have a season record of 14-1 and a conference record of 9-1. On Saturday they play a return engagement with the Warroad Warriors, having defeated them, 52 to 43 the last week in January.

The Nordics have now scored 879 points for the 15 games for a 58.6 offensive average per game for the season while holding the opposition to 679 points for a 45.2 defensive average per game.

The individual statistics show Dennis Bakke, guard-forward, averaging 17 points per game; Don Engelarud, forward, 16.6 points per game; and Bobby Dahl, center, 13.5 points per game. Robert Dahl committed 44 fouls for a 2.9 average fouls per game. However, he has also made the most free throws with 70 for the season and is sporting a 70 per cent average for shooting free throws. John Haglund, forward, has committed the least fouls having committed only 12 fouls while playing almost every minute of the 15 games, and getting the assignment of guarding many of the opposition's big scorers.

The league lead is shared by the Mae Jahr and Alice Liden rinks, with the two rinks having but one loss apiece.

Highway Safety Chief Criticizes Speedometers

Sieben Says They Should Break When Speed of 80 Miles an Hour Is Reached

"There is no time when the top half of some speedometers can be used legally in Minnesota," Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, charged in a talk given the the Industrial Safety School in Duluth, Wednesday night.

"Some automobile manufacturers equip their cars with speedometers that range to 120 or 140 miles an hour," he said. "Yet there is no highway in Minnesota where the legal rate is more than half that speed. Having this range of speed results in the impulsive youth or irresponsible adult trying to see if his car can reach the top speed indicated.

"I suggest that manufacturers could, in good faith, install speedometers which would break at 80 miles an hour. Then the person who deliberately violates speed laws when there is no officer within view would be penalized where it hurts—in his pocketbook—by the necessity of paying a repair bill for the speedometer."

Sieben urged that support be given to Governor Freeman's recommendations for safety legislation which included requiring the installation of safety devices on new cars including seat belts and padded dash boards.

"As our traffic volumes increase, it is imperative that the vehicle must be kept as safe as possible, not only with safety equipment but in the best operating condition. Voluntary motor vehicle inspection programs have demonstrated the need for a compulsory inspection program because of the large numbers of vehicles driven that are in an unsafe mechanical condition," he said.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Roseau Against the Field

When the Region Eight hockey tournament gets under way at Roseau tonight, the odds on the Roseau Rams will be prohibitive, and rightly. Coach Oscar Almquist's club is undefeated through a 25 or 26 game schedule, meeting the state's best, and they are heavily favored to move through the two games coming up on Thursday and Friday.

In fairness to the Warroad Warriors, and the Prowlers or Baudette Bears, who will meet the Rams on Thursday and Friday, none of these teams are over-awed by the Rams' hockey prowess. The games remain to be won or lost on the ice, and none of these teams will be leaving their hockey in the dressing rooms.

That Roseau team, though, is something special as far as high school hockey is concerned. Particularly the starting lineup of Jim Stordahl center; Larry Stordahl and Don Ross, wings; Keith Brandt and Dale Olson, defense; and Dick Roth, goalie. In all the years that we have been interested in the eighth region's hockey play, we cannot recall watching a team with the all-round scoring potential of this season's Roseau club.

The Prowlers of 1954, with two crackerjack lines, and three alert defensemen, and an all-state goalie, had superb all-round balance. But the Roseau Rams of 1959, in Dale Olson and Keith Brandt, have a pair of defensemen who are as dangerous on scoring rushes as the forwards. The two blue-liners, on occasion, will move up to the wing posts, with Jim Stordahl centering, and the Roseau attack doesn't miss a beat in its goal-scoring tempo.

Worth the Trip

We took a busman's holiday on Tuesday and made the thirty-five mile trip to Mentor to watch the Fosston vs. Mentor basketball game, one of the important tilts on the district 30 slate. The game was well worth the trip and the admission fee, with the Mentor Trojans edging out the Greyhounds, 56 to 53, in a thriller.

Our chief reason for making the short jaunt was to have a look at Mentor's high-scoring guard, Rodney Anderson. Against the Greyhounds, Anderson, who is a loose-jointed completely-relaxed individual, not very big, scored 25 points. Anderson, a southpaw, is an effective dribbler, with fine drive and a deadly hook shot. He hits with remarkable accuracy on a jump shot, too, and he teamed very well, coming out of the corner, with Mentor's six-foot five-inch center, Roger Wagner.

This Roger Wagner is a member of the basketball-playing Wagners of Fisher, and he transferred to Mentor a couple of years ago. His presence in the Mentor lineup gives the Trojans a strong rebounder, and it is altogether possible that Mentor will win the district 30 title. To date the Trojans have lost but one game, that to Fisher, in sixteen starts. In the victory column, Mentor has included such teams as McIntosh, Bagley, Fosston and Erskine.

Oh yes, the officials that "worked" the Fosston vs. Mentor game, and they did an exceptional job in keeping the game under control, were Jack Boyer and Dale Folger from the local high school faculty.

Top-level Experts in Water Resources at Winter Shows Feb. 24

The largest groups of experts on water ever to gather at one time in the Red River Valley will participate in the Water Resources Forum on Tuesday, Feb. 24, the second day of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, according to B. E. Youngquist, president of the Shows. The Water Resources Forum will be held in the Kiehle auditorium at Northwest School of Agriculture.

Gladwin Young, deputy administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, USDA, Washington, D.C., a man who has wide and varied experience in water resource handling in the United States and, particularly, in Central United States, will deliver the highlight address at the evening banquet. The banquet will be held at the Crookston Central high school at 6 p.m.

George A. Thiel, scientist and geological expert of national note will lead off the program about 10 o'clock in the morning and will talk about the geological facts relative to water and the land formation of the Red River Valley. This will be followed by a thorough review of historical facts and of current research on soil-water relationships by two top workers in agronomy and soils, Olaf C. Soine and George R. Blake, both of the University of Minnesota.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:15 o'clock. One of the top ground water experts in the nation, Philip Manson of the Agricultural Engineering department of the University of Minnesota, will present the facts on agricultural water.

After this discussion of the scientific facts about water, a panel of interrogators will participate in an open forum. These leaders and represent agencies men are all state and federal concerned with some aspects of water resources. Some of the men are with industry; one of them is a farmer. These men will provide comment in order to clarify water and will answer questions the interest of their agency in as may be pertinent to their interest in water resources.

This top-level panel of interrogators includes Col. Desloge Brown, district engineer, Army Engineers, St. Paul; Henry Cowles, chief engineer, Otter Tail Power Company, Fergus Falls; Herbert A. Flueck, state conservationist, USDA Soil Conservation Service, St. Paul; Sidney Freilsen, head, division of water, State Conservation Dept., St. Paul; Virgil C. Herrick, executive secretary, Minnesota Water Resources Board, St. Paul; William P. Martin, head, soils department, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota; Walter Ross, farmer, Fisher, Minn.; Skuli Rutford, director, Agricultural Extension Service, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota; Leon R. Sawyer, district engineer, and Robert Schneider, district geologist, Ground Water Branch, U.S. Geological Survey, St. Paul; George A. Selke, commissioner, state department of conservation, St. Paul; Joseph H. Strub, Jr., state-climatologist, U.S. Weather Bureau, Minneapolis; C. A. Van Doren, field station director, U.S.D.A.—Soil and Water Conservation Research Division, Morris; Russell Youngren, Minnesota Water Resources Board, Hallock; M. A. Thorfinnson, executive secretary, Soil Conservation Committee, Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul.

Carl G. Ash of Crookston, county agricultural agent of West Polk couty, will serve as chairman for the forum.

Arrests by Game Wardens up in '58

4,114 Arrested Compared to 3,880 Previous Year

Game wardens made 4,114 arrests in 1958 for violations of the game and fish laws reports Arthur Emme, assistant chief game warden.

In 1957 wardens made 3,880 arrests. The 1958 increase reflects the upward trend in law violations being experienced by law enforcement agencies around the country.

Carrying loaded or uncased firearms in a motor vehicle accounted for 1,001 arrests reports Emme. "This represents an all time high for violation of law which common sense and a regard for safety should reduce to a minimum," said Emme.

Violations of various fishing laws resulted in 1,785 arrests, followed by migratory fowl and small game infractions, 721. A variety of other violations accounted for the balance of arrests.

A high degree of teamwork was apparent in game warden activities last year, explained Emme. Wardens cooperated with one another to the tune of 9,154 assists in 1958, overshadowing the 5,143 assists recorded in 1957. This was largely accompanied through the establishment of road checks during the year.

Farm Problem Big Issue

Net farm income increased substantially in 1958 but department of agriculture statisticians figure it is due for a decline in 1959. Products that brought comparatively high prices last year will be more plentiful this year they tell us. And middle-man's costs are going to take a bigger bite out of the consumer's dollar.

All of which means that the farm problem will be a hotter-than-usual issue in the present session of Congress.

Unfortunately, in seeking a solution, agriculture itself has made no progress in developing a program of its own. The great farm organizations are divided and the debate in Congress probably will be based mainly on emotional appeals.

And, because the leaders have not been willing to compromise their differences, agriculture is not the political power in Washington that it was a few years ago. The present program has failed in spite of the fact that record expenditures have been made in efforts to bolster prices. Adding to the problem of those who seek relief is the fact that the farm problem is regional rather than national, with a few crops causing most of the difficulty.

The prospect for those farmers who look to the government for a solution for their problems is not bright.

Living Within Our Means

President Eisenhower provided liberally for housing, slum clearance and airport construction in his budget, but the Democrats want more money to be spent for these purposes. The issue is sharply drawn between the spenders and the savers. The President is expected to use his veto power to keep appropriations within his recommended limits and then there will be the real test of strength in the attempt to override the veto.

There seems to be little hope for the government getting out of the giveaway business. There probably would be justification for government participation in airport costs providing the costs would be met with revenues from user taxes. Minnesota's aviation aids are paid for by special user taxes just as are our state aids for highways, and under such conditions aids can be proper.

There is no justification for outright grants of federal funds for ordinary local needs. In some instances, where other forms of credit are not available, government loans may be in order, but the giveaways should be few and far between.

Much of this reckless spending would end if the appropriation bills provided that the expenditures could be made only as the tax dollars become available. The spenders generally are opposed to taxes and such a spending limit would have the merit of keeping the government from going further into debt.

No one should complain if, in our public spending, we are forced to live within our means, and a safe guide for the measuring of our means would be a limitation that would permit spending only as the tax dollars accumulated. When the number of dollars proved inadequate, the administration would have to decide which need was most urgent.

Withholding Windfall

Other states are considering a system of payroll withholding in the collection of income taxes. Of the 32 state that collect taxes on incomes, 12 have already adopted withholding.

Here in Minnesota Governor Freeman has advocated this form of collection but his interest seems to have been mainly in the revenue windfalls it would bring. Those on payrolls would pay three years taxes in two, which would ease the pain of the huge increased appropriations temporarily.

In New York, Governor Nelson Rockefeller would waive the extra year's payment as a discriminatory tax imposed upon only those who are on payrolls. Governor Freeman would find much less opposition to his proposal if he would do likewise. The trouble with these windfalls is that they provide only temporary relief, encouraging extravagances that probably would not tempt us if we had to pay the hard way right at the start.

Much of the state's present difficulty is due to the trick financing with windfalls two years ago.

Litter Bug Bagged

Some cities make quite a fuss about keeping their streets and parks clean, and try to maintain the same standards of tidiness that the average person insists upon on his own home premises. The following item from the London Evening Standard indicates how litter bugs are dealt with in that good city.

> A visitor to Hyde park absent-mindedly dropped a chewing-gum wrapper on the ground. An alert policeman saw that the visitor received an envelope in the mail next day. It contained the chewing-gum wrapper and a notice advising him to pay a fine for dirtying up the park.

The state is making some progress in discouraging litter bugs from dropping their garbage along the trunk highways. Getting caught results in a loss of both dollars and prestige. Nobody loves the litter bugs who litter our highways.

Some of our more alert cities and small towns are showing concern and are developing a public consciousness of the fact that litter bugging is an unsocial act in any public place as well as in a private home.

With Bayonets?

(Ceylon Herald)

The uproar about legislative reapportionment goes on, and one of the intriguing factors is the suit in federal court of some St. Paul residents alleging they are being deprived of proper representation. The court has ruled that this session of the legislature must do something about the question or it will act. We cannot quite believe that a federal judge can order the legislature of the sovereign state of Minnesota to reapportion itself. We would like to see the legislature state forthrightly that it will not be dictated to by a federal court and that it will reapportion only if and when it so decides. If the court can tell the legislature what to do in this matter, it can presumably do so in other things. And if that precedent prevails, it is only a matter of time before state government is liquidated altogether. In justice to the citizens who elected them, the legislators should resist this questionable invasion of their jurisdiction by every possible means.

How, for example, would the federal court enforce its ruling? Would federal troops move in with bayonets? This one should be highly interesting.

Borrowed Nonsense...

In the championship game of the marble tournament, one little boy missed an easy shot and let slip with a real cuss word.

A preacher on the sidelines heard the remark and asked, "George, what do little boys who swear when they are playing marbles turn into?"

"Golfers," came the prompt reply.

The passenger in a London taxi leaned out of the window. "What on earth are you doing?" he shouted to the driver. "I asked you to drive me from Victoria to Leicester Square and this is the fourth time we've passed St. Paul's."

"Sorry, sir," replied the driver. "I thought you were an American."

Although a cold may seem to be only an uncomfortable inconvenience, it is, nevertheless, a "break" in your resistance to more serious infections. For this reason, it is wise to take care of a cold at the first warning sneeze or sniffle. If it doesn't respond quickly to tried and proven home remedies and treatment, or if it is accompanied by chills, fever and excessive aching—consult your doctor without delay. Do not try to laugh off a cold you can't shake off.

Your Office in Washington

by Congressman
ODIN LANGEN

"I am afraid of the result upon organized action where great results are in view if any of us allow ourselves to seek out separate points on which there may be difference of views as to policy and right, and let them keep us from uniting in action upon a great principle in a cause on which we all agree."

These are the words of Abraham Lincoln, spoken in Chicago almost exactly one hundred years ago—March 1, 1859. Now as we celebrate the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of this great statesman's birth, they come to us with the same urgency as if they had been spoken just yesterday. We are faced today with the challenges of a strong and ruthless international foe, with the obligation of fiscal responsibility, and with a great agricultural problem, among others. That there should be debate and differing viewpoints goes without saying, for this is the principle upon which a democratic republic is based. But differences of opinion must not be allowed to obscure the "large viewpoints"—our common, united front in seeking the best solutions for all of the people, their problems and needs, and their defense.

Congressional Highlights

The bulk of the legislative action on the House side of Capitol Hill continues to be done in the various committees. Our Interior Affairs Committee voted last week, 25-4, in favor of a bill for Hawaiian Statehood. It was pleasing to note the unity shown in this favorable action.

During the last week also, meetings have been held regularly by those of us representing the Midwestern States to work on proposed solutions to the agriculture problem. In the field of small business, I have had the opportunity to confer with the Small Business Administration relative to the benefits they are able to provide for fostering increased opportunities for small business in the Ninth District.

Concordia Choir

Next Monday the Concordia College Choir from Moorhead will give a concert here in Washington at Constitution Hall. This world-famous group toured Europe last summer, and received acclaim wherever they were heard. We are all looking forward to seeing these young men and women from home, over one-third of the choir being from our Ninth District.

86th Congress Club

Last week Mrs. Langen was elected first vice-president of the 86th Congress Club, which is composed of the wives of all the new members of both House and Senate. This group, which has ninety-nine members, will sponsor or participate in many events throughout the course of this Congress. We will be telling you more about the group from time to time.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—If I am able to pay off my GI home loan faster, by making extra payments, would I have to pay a penalty?

A—No. You may make extra payments on your mortgage at any time, or pay off the entire GI loan, without penalty. However, an extra payment must be at least as large as a regular one month's payment, or a flat $100, whichever is less.

Q—I am in college under the Korean GI Bill. My cut-off date has passed, and if I want to change my course now I know it must be a normal progression of the course I am taking. I'm about to graduate from law school and I want to take a bar review course. Would that be considered a normal progression?

A—It would, since it leads naturally to fulfillment of your goal of becoming a lawyer.

Q—I am a World War II veteran and have never applied for a GI home loan. How much more time do I have in which to get a loan?

A—World War II veterans have until July 25, 1960 to apply for a GI loan. The law allows up to a year after that date to complete the deal.

Q—I want to apply for a disability rider on my GI insurance, to give me an income if I am disabled so I can't work. Will the new increased coverage of up to $100 a month cost me twice as much as the old, which allowed only $50 a month?

A—No. Your additional payment for the new increased coverage would be small. Any VA office will give you exact figures for the extra payment on your policy.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

from the Desk of SENATOR
HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Health for Peace—On February 2 the ground was laid for a far-reaching experiment in international cooperation, as Senator Lister Hill and I introduced the "Health for Peace Act," (S.J. Res. 41) designed to mobilize our nation's health research resources for a concerted attack throughout the world upon cancer, heart disease, mental illness, birth defects and infant mortality, and other dread killers and cripplers. Freedom from disease is surely one of man's most fundamental aspirations. And I found, during my extensive travels throughout Europe and the Soviet Union recently, that an international project for cooperation in medical research is one of the few promising areas of agreement between East and West. Disease, after all, is the greatest common enemy.

Positive Steps—The Health for Peace Act is a concrete statement of the hope I have expressed all during the past year that we could embark upon a series of "works of peace." I have said, again and again, that what the world needs most of all is wise, humane leadership so that the hungry could be fed, the naked clothed and the sick of the world healed. If there are few prospects for political agreements between East and West, at least we can do our best to build a climate which might make political agreements eventually possible.

Health for Life—Entirely aside from its possibilities for building toward a more peaceful world, the "Health for Peace" resolution looks toward an entirely possible series of "breakthroughs" on the health front through the international policy of great medical minds. Aside from the impact which advances in medicine could have in the underdeveloped nations, the effects in our own country of securing a major breakthrough in the field of cancer alone would almost surely result in an extension of the life expectancy in America to 75 years—a gain in five years of average life expectancy for every American child. American history since 1900 is solid proof of the value of an extensive medical research and public health program. In just one field, care of the newborn, we have been able to reduce the rate of infant mortality to one-fifth of what it was in 1900. What a vital, living statistic that is, and what a magnificent tribute to the men and women of American medicine!

Much More to be Done—Yet with all our great advances, we have made small progress against many diseases which cause not only widespread grief and suffering, but also enormous expense to our people. For example, one out of every 20 Americans are mental patients occupying a hospital bed—between nine and ten million Americans. We are all aware of the staggering tolls taken every year by heart disease and cancer. And remember—we Americans have no monopoly on skill in medical research. In my recent committee report on "International Medical Research," I stressed the great gains which we Americans would receive from closer association with the top minds in the several fields of medical research in other nations.

Prospects Good—I predict that the Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, of which Senator Hill is the chairman, will soon proceed to take action on this legislation—and that Congress will set up a new National Institute for International Medical Research with a $50 million annual budget. It will be an historic step forward in the history of man's efforts to live at peace with his fellows.

LESABRE, the Buick you can own for only $200 more than the best models of the leading low-priced cars...

This is in no way a "stripped" car you're looking at. Come in and study the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Buick LeSABRE like this, equipped with Twin-Turbine automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, and anything else you want in your next car. Then do the same to the top models of the leading low-priced three, and you'll find the statement above stands up.

What a difference for only $200!

Now think how much more you'd enjoy a Buick. A comfortable, substantially built automobile. A car with the finest ride in all Buick history. A car with Buick's exclusive fin-cooled brakes, and the smoothest type of transmission money can buy. A wonderfully quiet and greatly respected car!

Owners report QUALITY outstanding

Your money in a Buick today puts you in on the ground floor of what promises to be a long new time of leadership for Buick cars. "My sixth Buick and the best I ever owned!" ... "Best-operating car I've driven in thirty years!" ... "Much the best Buick yet!" ... Reports like these mean extra pleasure in your Buick ownership ... and they mean hard dollar value when the time comes to trade. It all adds up to the best proof in 50 years that: "WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK PEOPLE WILL BUILD THEM!"

New in gas economy, too!

In planning the '59 Buick, the new Wildcat engines, transmissions, and axles were all engineered to work together for greater gas mileage. Across the country owners tell us they are getting 15 to 20 miles per gallon in the '59 Buicks. And in a recent thorough test of Buick LeSabre against another car of comparable size and a good reputation for economy ... the Buick won in every case under all kinds of driving conditions.

So we think we've got a new kind of value in this Buick LeSabre. And we suggest you go to your Quality Buick Dealer's and see whether you agree before you buy a new car.

THE CAR IS THE BUY!

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING SERVICE

is available in your area thru the organization and maintenance of a Cooperative Farmers Association, NORTHWEST BREEDERS.

Much time and effort was put forth to establish this organization and this service in the area of Northwestern Minnesota and Northeastern North Dakota where the Association operates. Much development has been made in quality of dairy cattle now available in the area. More development in quality can be secured in the years coming up.

In addition to the sires maintained at Roseau, semen is now available from leading sires in other cooperative associations, including Tri-State Breeders at Westby, Wisconsin, and Consolidated Breeders at Anoka, Minn.

Are you using this service to increase the profits in your dairy enterprise? The calves that will arrive on your farm next fall will be no better than the breeding that goes into them. Good cows are the ones that keep the business going.

GOES AND GOES AND GOES ON A GALLON!

Biscayne 4-Door Sedan shows the Fisher Body beauty of Chevrolet's lowest priced series for '59.

CHEVY'S NEW HI-THRIFT 6

More miles are built in a gallon of regular-grade gas—up to 10% more—and Chevy's new Hi-Thrift 6 engine puts them there. It also gives you more "git" in the speeds you drive most.

Here's an engine that always seems able to coax extra miles out of a tank of regular-grade gas. In fact, if you're one of those drivers who keep tab on things like gas mileage, you'll soon see for yourself that this new Hi-Thrift 6 is geared up to 10% more miles a gallon.

Another thing you'll like about this 135-h.p. 6 is the extra pep it gives you for passing and climbing hills. This is due to higher torque at normal speeds.

It may be hard to believe anything that looks and moves like this '59 Chevy can be such a stickler for economy. But—whether you pick the Hi-Thrift 6 or a vim-packed V8—this is just one more reason Chevy's the car that's wanted for all the right reasons. Stop by your dealer's and see.

You and Your 1958 Income Tax Returns

Soon, you will again be filing your income tax returns, both federal and Minnesoat. To assist you in the preparation of those returns a series of 15 articles has been prepared under the supervision of the Minnesota State Bar association. This article is the first in that series.

Who Must File a Return

If you are under 65 and received gross income of $600 or more in 1958 you must file a federal return. However, if you had reached age 65 by the end of 1958 you need not file a return unless you received over $1200 in gross income. These rules apply whether you are married or single, a minor or an adult. Gross income means your income from all sources before any deductions or exemptions are taken. It includes income from wages, salaries, rents, interest, dividends and gains from the sale of property. However, gross income does not include Social Security or Railroad retirememnt pensions, gifts, life insurance proceeds upon death and workmen's compensation. Even if you earned less than $600 in 1958 you should file a return to get a refund if any tax was withheld from your earnings.

A Minnesoat return is required if you are single and had gross income of more than $1000 or if you are married and had a combined gross income with your spouse of more than $2000. In addition if you were not a resident of Minnesota for the entire year you may be required to file a return even though your Minnesota income was less than the above amounts.

Form of Return

The short, simple form 1040A may now be used for the first time for taxpayers having gross income as large as $10,000. In addition your gross income must consist entirely of wages, interest and dividends and the income from the latter two sources may not exceed $200 if you are to use Form 1040A. Previously this card form was available only to taxpayers having a gross income of less than $5,000.

Even though you could file Form 1040A you may save taxes by filing the longer Form 1040. For example, the longer Form 1040 will result in less tax if you received sick pay or dividends or if you incurred deductible transportation expenses or if you have other deductible expenses which exceed 10 per cent of your income.

If you are married you may file a joint return with your spouse. Where husband and wife have separate taxable incomes it is usually advantageous to file a joint federal return but separate Minnesota returns.

Assistance in Preparing Returns

Most questions you may have will be answered in the official instruction booklets which are mailed with the returns. Free advice may also be obtained from the Revenue Service in larger communities. However, if you have someone else prepare your return for you, it will usually pay you to consult a qualified accountant or attorney for assistance. The fellow down the street with an "Income Tax Returns" sign in his window may know little more than you about income tax law. A few minutes of investigation of the qualifications of the individual preparing returns will be time well spent. Remember this is one place where the old adage about being "penny wise and pound foolish" applies.

(This column, based on Minnesota and federal law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Win Talent Contest at Oklee

Winners of a Farmers Union-sponsored talent contest held at Oklee Saturday night were, standing left to right, Carol Sorenson of Plummer and Nancy Stucy of Oklee, and, seated, Gloria Ekwall of Goodridge. Miss Ekwall and Miss Stucy appeared as a vocal duet and Miss Sorenson as a soloist. There were 16 entries in the contest. About 300 people attended.—Oklee Herald photo.

Asks Early Filing of Tax Returns

Early filing of your 1958 federal income tax returns was encouraged today by George O. Lithert, district director of internal revenue. He indicated that the majority of taxpayers who have refunds coming usually file their returns early. His appeal was directed to those taxpayers who owe little or nothing in additional tax over what they may have paid through withholding deductions.

All returns should be sent to the district director of internal revenue, St. Paul 1, Minn. Any checks for additional tax should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service.

Winter Shows to Hear Lecture on East-west Germany

Glenn Green, Veteran News Man to Speak and Show Movies February 25th

The citizens of Northwestern Minnesota will be able to hear a first hand account of the implications of the East-West Germany crisis by a man who has recently been on the scene. The speaker, Glenn A. Green, will present an illustrated lecture on Wednesday evening, February 25, at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston. The program will be given in the Central high school auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Admission will be free.

Glenn Green of Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas is a veteran newspaper man and a former editor and writer with the United Press International; he has recently toured Germany and some of the small countries in Europe. Mr. Green will present the picture of Germany in detail augmented by colored movies made in West Berlin as well as in the Soviet Zone of Germany behind the Iron Curtain.

He visited the Soviet Zone of Berlin and got movie shots without the knowledge of the Communists and despite the warnings of the American Embassy in Berlin not to take camera equipment into Communist-held East Berlin. His movies of life in West Berlin under the freedom-giving government and life behind the Iron Curtain under Communism presents a dramatic contrast.

Preceding the lecture and movies, the Crookston Male Choraleers, under the direction of Garfield Reichert, will present a concert.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Mark	6	13-14
Monday	John	17	1-26
Tuesday	Acts	12	1-17
Wednesday	James	5	13-18
Thursday	Acts	4	1-8
Friday	Luke	11	1-13
Saturday	Deuteronomy	30	11-14

WHO ARE THEY?

Who are these children?

Probably, you'll never know their names. The countries from which they come encircle the globe. They speak many languages. But each night, before they go to bed, they all say their prayers.

Prayer is the greatest common denominator. You can go to church in Japan or Chicago and, regardless of the language being spoken, you will find that you feel equally in communion with God.

On World Day of Prayer, join your friends and neighbors in church. Let your prayers mingle with those of other people in churches everywhere. Remember that throughout the centuries, prayer has proven itself the greatest of forces. Let it do so again!

13 Farm Practices Approved for This County by State

Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the Pennington County ASC, announced today that the sign-up period for participation in the USDA Agricultural Conservation Program will open on Monday, February 23, and will close on March 20.

He said that 13 practices had been approved for the county by the state development group and would be available to all producers in the county.

Practice specifications are available at the county office. They will not be mailed to all known producers as has been the custom in the past.

All producers who desire to participate in the 1959 program are invited to call at the county office and sign a cost share request. After the request is filed, it will be considered by the county committee, which will determine the need and extent needed in individual farms.

Producers will then be officially notified as to the extent of how much the federal government will contribute toward the expense of carrying out a conservation practice on his or her farm.

Beginning Thursday, February 19, the Times will carry a brief specification of all practices available in the county.

Langen Proposes Bill to Continue Farm Surplus Sale

Would Extend for Five Years Law Permitting Sale of Surplus Abroad

Congressman Odin Langen today introduced in Congress a bill extending Public Law 480 for a period of five years. This act permits the sale of excess farm products to countries in need of these commodities, and is presently operated on a yearly basis.

In introducing the bill, Congressman Langen stated, "At a time when our farms are involved in the largest production in our history, we find nations all over the world in need of these products, while we at the same time are lamenting their existence."

Langen stated that Public Law 480 has given us "countless friends among the nations of the world where a food deficit is in existence," while reducing by millions of dollars the amount of money the government has invested in surpluses.

The purpose of the amendment, according to Langen, is to assure the best possible utilization of this act. He stated that last year Public Law 480 was allowed to lapse for a time, resulting in the loss of millions of dollars of surplus sales, which in turn had a most unfavorable effect on our national farm economy. "I feel," he said, "a program which has proved its worth in this manner should no longer be restricted by a year-to-year operation."

Extension Home Lesson Set Friday

'U' of M. Home Agent to Discuss Time-saving

"Making the Most of Minutes and Energy" will be the topic of the February lesson in the extension home program, according to Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau.

The lesson will be given Friday, February 20 at 1:30 P.M. in the court house meeting room, Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Marian Kottke, home agent, University of Minnesota, agricultural extension service, will give the training to the group leaders.

Saving time and energy in preparing meals, ironing, sewing and doing house work, will be discussed at the meeting.

All leaders of the Homemakers groups for this lesson, are urged to attend.

Heart Fund Canvass in Residential Area Set for Next Sunday

A solicitation of funds in behalf of the Minnesota Heart association will be made in the Thief River Falls residential district on Heart Sunday, February 22, it was announced today by Bert Tveit, city chairman of the drive.

Tveit stated that the campaign will be conducted under the direction of the Newcomers club, of which Mrs. James Nepper is president, with the cooperation of other volunteers.

Wendell Olson, Pennington county drive chairman, stated that they would arrange for a canvass to be conducted in their respective areas before the end of February.

Dr. Karl W. Anderson, president of the state Heart Association, said 16,729 Minnesotans died of ailments of the heart and blood vessels in 1957, latest year for which vital statistics are available.

The toll represents 53.1 per cent of deaths from all causes from Jan. 1, 1957 to Jan 1., 1958. Figures were compiled by the Minnesota Department of Health.

The state figures are slightly lower than those for the nation as a whole during 1957, Dr. Anderson said. Fifty-four per cent of all American deaths were attributed to heart diseases in that year.

"The heart and blood vessel diseases will continue to be our nation's leading public health problem until medical science learns more about their causes, control and prevention," Dr. Anderson said. "Because the Heart Fund helps to support research that is seeking this knowledge and these control measures, we ask that you give more generously in 1959 than ever before," he added.

Swanson was a farmer northwest of Trail. He and his wife had an appointment with a doctor in Crookston Tuesday afternoon.

Swanson had gone out to do chores after dinner and when he didn't return his wife went to look for him. She found him in the hayloft of the barn with a gunshot wound.

She called Fosston for help and he was taken to the Fosston hospital where he died at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday.

Hearing on Jr. Colleges Held by Legislature

House Education Committee Hearing Thursday Drew 300

Junior colleges have proven themselves far more adaptable to the community than other forms of education, the Minnesota House education committee was told Thursday at a hearing on a six million dollar junior college construction aid bill.

About 300 persons from all parts of the state, most of them educators and persons interested in higher education, jammed the auditorium of the State Office building to hear speaker after speaker urge support of the bill.

Representing Thief River Falls at the hearing were Dr. M. D. Starekow, president of the board of education; Supt. Irwin Mickelson; James Winjum and Arthur Christianson.

Rep. Dewey Reed of St. Cloud, chairman, said the committee would act in the near future on the proposal.

Rep. Wayne Bassett of Worthington, chief author of the bill, said it would empower the state board of education to pay not less than 50 per cent and not more than 75 per cent of the estimated cost of a junior college building. However, the amount could not exceed $500,000 to any one district or group of districts jointly maintaining a junior college.

John Bystrom of St. Paul, president of the state board of education said, "We must make maximum use of our brain power." He described the junior college as "low group education" and said "it is not only good for the consumer, but for the state as well."

The advisory committee on junior colleges, established by the state board of education, has recommended at least six new junior colleges. It recommended the following communities as promising sites:

Fairmont, Glencoe, Litchfield, Willmar, Hutchinson, Alexandria, Morris, Benson, Thief River Falls, Crookston, Fergus Falls, Marshall, Detroit Lakes, Redwood Falls, Montevideo, Granite Falls, Faribault, Owatonna, Red Wing, Mora, Pine City, and International Falls.

There are now junior colleges at Austin, Brainerd, Rochester, Ely, Coleraine, Eveleth, Hibbing, Virginia and Worthingson.

Goodridge School Circus Thursday Drew 350 Persons

Grade Pupils Present Lively Entertainment in School Gymnasium

Approximately 350 spectators turned out to enjoy the indoor circus staged by the pupils of the Goodridge elementary school Thursday evening in the school gymnasium and, to quote a worn old phrase, "a good time was had by all." The circus lasted approximately two hours.

The circus was under the supervision of Orville Jensen, Goodridge elementary principal, and included tumbling, rope jumping and climbing, hula hoop drills, relay races on pogo sticks, balancing board acts, stunts and games. The first six grades, comprising about 150 children, provided the entertainment.

Jensen said the elementary school student council sponsored the circus, which served a twofold purpose; to help pay for the council's movie projector and to show parents the phases that should be included in a good physical education program in the school.

The students had been saving pennies for some time to apply toward the new projector, which was purchased some weeks ago. The circus will finish paying for it and provide additional funds for film, etc., as well, through selling popcorn and other refreshments during the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Boyer of McIntosh spent last weekend as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Geisen.

Dist. 3 Storm Sewer up for Consideration by Council Tonight

Further discussion is expected tonight on the proposed District 3 storm sewer system when proponents and opponents of the project attend the adjourned meeting of the city council which begins at 7 o'clock in the council chambers.

An early decision by the council is expected to enable them to inform the highway department what part the city will take in the construction of the extension of Highways 1 and 59. Bids for grading work and the base of the highway extension have already been opened but the contract has not yet been awarded pending a further examination of the bids.

Work on the 18-mile section of Highway 59 from Newfolden, entering the Thief River Falls city limits on West 3rd st., is scheduled to begin May 15 and completed in 125 working days. Kraus-Anderson company of St. Paul was the low bidder for the work at $501,825 for grading, gravel base and a gravel-wearing course.

A preliminary examination of the two petitions submitted to the city council at the Feb. 9 hearing in opposition to the project revealed that many signatures were those of city residents outside District 3 and would need to be rejected. One petition from residents of the northern section of the city bore 115 signatures and another from the southern section of the district was signed by 59 residents.

Indications late last week were that additional petitions in opposition to the project would be submitted at the meeting tonight with property owners in the northwest section of the city expected to be strongly represented. Those who opposed the project at the Feb. 9 hearing had no comment to make late last week other than to say that they were still strongly against any work of this kind which they felt would bear them no benefits but which would be costly to the affected property owners.

No vote of city residents would be necessary for the approval or disapproval of the project which would be paid by a special assessment bond issue if approved by the city council.

Dairy farmers and their wives will have an opportunity on this tour to visit with their neighbors about the dairy business. They will look over the herds, observe the feeding practices, management and sanitation practices and observe the records kept on herd production, stated county agent Paul Steimaschuk.

The tour is being conducted under the auspices of the DHIA organization covering Pennington and Red Lake counties, in cooperation with the extension service and the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

All dairy farmers and their wives are invited to attend.

Council Defers Action on New Airport Bldg.

Puts off Decision Pending Ruling by Attorney General

Pending an attorney general's ruling on the question of whether the city can legally build the proposed airport shop building for lease to the school district, the city council adjourned its meeting Friday evening until the opinion has been received.

Dr. Milton Starekow, president of the school board, opened the discussion with an explanation of the terms of a lease into which the board would enter with the city in the event that the shop building were constructed.

Dr. Starekow and Roy Lee, a member of the city council's finance committee, reported on the meeting of Feb. 5 during which the school board offered a 15-year lease together with a prepayment of $5,000 in rent, $1,200 of the cost of a new sewage disposal system, $450 for the cost of running water mains to the building, insurance, utilities and heat.

The total cost of a building, as recommended by Larry Wagner of the firm of Denbrook & Wells, Grand Forks architects, would be $30,075 for a cement block building, $26,135 for a Stran-steel building and $27,379 for a revised Stran-steel building. This amount would include a paint room and the electrical and mechanical work. The cost of sewer and water connections plus the architects' fee of $1,600 would be added to these amounts in figuring the total amount of funds needed.

Dr. Starekow later said, "There is some question of why the school district doesn't build this building. A new elementary school is needed and if we had to go into a bond election which included the airport building, we would be jeopardizing the fate of the elementary school which is so badly needed."

Robert Wurst, city attorney, explained to the council and the handful of interested spectators that the city would pay for the building with revenue bonds which would be retired by the payments which the school district would make. Revenue bonds can be arranged for up to a total amount figured on a basis of $3 per resident of the city. (If the total population is 8,000, the city could arrange for a loan of $24,000 without calling for a bond election.)

C. E. Hellquist, 811 Duluth ave. North, asked, "What guarantee do we have that the school will have the full enrollment needed for the school district to keep meeting its monthly payments?" City Attorney Wurst answered that the city is taking no risk, that the lease is binding and that they would, under law, have to make the payments. He then called on Stan Nelson, director of the area vocational school, to go into details of the school.

Nelson opened his remarks with a comparison of enrollment in the school. "The year before our present building was constructed," he said, "we had 11 students. At present, we have had 290 students since July 1

Municipal Power Plant Is Put into Operation

All of the area east of Jamestown, N. D., serviced by power lines of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation was without electricity from 7:30 until 8:40 Sunday night when either the switching station or the 230,000 volt line developed trouble.

In Thief River Falls, service was furnished within eight minutes by the municipal power plant to the hospital circuit with one of the diesel generators. Other circuits were serviced as soon as other generators could be put into operation.

Service to the west side of the city was delayed for 30 minutes when a breaker switch for that circuit developed trouble. Service to the city by the Bureau of Reclamation was restored at 8:40 when the damaged line at Jamestown was put into operation.

They're Not Interested in Clowns Right Now!

What's the object of such rapt attention from these Goodridge elementary school students? Certainly not a teacher! This photo was taken Friday evening at the circus held in the school gymnasium and if you'll look elsewhere in this paper you'll see the object of their gaze near the gymnasium ceiling. Over 300 persons attended the circus staged by the Goodridge elementary student council and proceeds will go to pay for equipment purchased by the students. The clown on the balancing board is Marlis Johnson, who found the show stolen from her by another performer. The other children are not identified — immediately after this photo was snapped they scattered.

For best results, shampoo your hair about five days before you come in for a permanent, then brush it thoroughly each night and morning. Massage the scalp with the fingertips at the same time applying ointment if your hair is dry.

If your hair is oily, the scalp should have a special hair lotion each night and morning.

Ask your hairdresser the week before your appointment what she would suggest that you do to condition your hair for a better and longer-lasting wave.

You'll find your hair looks better with less work when you begin with a really good HAIRCUT and PERMANENT. To look your LOVELIEST the EASIEST, call JO ANNE'S BEAUTY SHOP, MU 1-4405, or stop in for an appointment at 107 EAST THIRD STREET.

The wool program is conducted under the National Wool Act as authorized by congress in 1954. Payments under the 1958 program will be made some time this summer after payment rates are determined on the basis of the national average prices received by producers for shorn wool during the 1958 marketing year. Any marketing after March 31 will be eligible for the incentive payments under the 1959 program.

Incentive payments also apply to unshorn lambs sold no later than March 31.

CANDID COMMENT

by Mack Draper

What a revolting development to come up on a fellow's birthday! The grief was caused by the slight thaw Saturday when our right front wheel got splattered up, but the trouble didn't crop up until it was time to go to work Monday.

All our work Sunday evening towards getting off to a good start Monday morning was to no avail. Had written a couple of stories Sunday p.m., and was all set to get our part of the Monday paper out in a hurry.

So what happens? The car starts just fine—but won't budge out of its tracks. The right front brake drum was frozen solid!

Even the bankers beat us to work today.

One certainly can't tell much about the weather when living in town. We took our weekly drive in the country Sunday and found considerable ground drifting. Then, just out of St. Hilaire, a sudden change in wind velocity dropped visibility to near zero and we found ourselves driving back under near-blizzard conditions. But, one could hardly notice it after we got back to town.

A phone call to friends in Michigan, N. D., last night revealed that they had been having terrific storms all day and they could hardly see their garage, just a few yards from the house.

Wonder if there's much snow down at Union Lake. We also wonder — has anyone heard the crappies nibbling at the ice this winter?

Ever wonder why you get electric shocks from touching objects when the weather is extremely cold? Science tells us when weather is extremely cold and dry certain substances become superconductors of electricity—and when we touch it there's and when we touch it there's a discharge of the static stuff.

Some weeks ago in Grand Forks we shook hands with another fellow while both of us were standing on a nylon carpet—and the ensuing shock nearly floored both of us!

That is our abbreviated comment for today — time is short!

Polk and Marshall Boards to Meet on 2-county Library

Crookston Conference to Discuss Proposal is Set Friday, February 20

New developments in the establishment of a county library system were presented to the Polk county commissioners at their regular monthly meeting held last Monday.

Representing the Friends of the Library Association, Dr. D. E. Stewart of Crookston explained to the commissioners that the ass'n. is now requesting that a multi-county, or two-county library be established in place of a single-county unit.

Dr. Stewart said that in December the Polk Association was assured by the library division of the Minnesota board of education that $15,000 was available to Polk county for the establishment of a single-county library.

Hannis S. Smith of the library division sent word to the Polk association that since that time additional multi-county libraries have been organized and approved in the state and there are no longer any aid funds available for libraries being set up on a single-county basis.

The Friends of the Library group proposed to the commissioners that a multi-county, or two-county, library be established with Marshall county. Marshall has indicated that it is interested in becoming part of a two-county library system with Polk, Dr. Stewart said.

"If Polk and Marshall were to establish a two-county library, a total of $132,000 would be available in federal assistance, to be allocated over a period of three years," Dr. Stewart pointed out.

In their continued session Tuesday the Polk board set Feb. 20 as the date for a meeting with the Marshall county commissioners to reach a decision on the proposal. The meeting will be held in Crookston at 9 a.m.

Stormy Weather Prevailed Sunday

Temperature Rose to 28, High Reading for Month

Those who had hoped for an early end to winter had their spirits raised over the weekend with warmer temperatures but Winter took a roundhouse swing at the area Sunday with light snow and blowing snow to let the optimists know that there might be plenty of bad weather left before Spring comes.

Thursday night's low of -22 was the low for the period which showed a definite warming trend with a zero recorded the following night and a 2 above zero Saturday night.

Daytime temperatures have been above zero since last Tuesday with a 28-degree reading Sunday and a 20 Wednesday.

The KTRF weather forecast is for fair and colder today with considerable cloudiness tonight and tomorrow with continued cold tomorrow.

The high temperature expected today is from 10 to 15 degrees and a low tonight of from zero to 5 degrees above is predicted.

'U' M. Branch at Crookston Asked in St. Paul Friday

Senate Education Group Hears Delegation Ask for Expanded N.W. School

Nearly 100 persons from the Crookston and Morris areas attended a hearing in St. Paul Friday to press for establishment of college courses at University of Minnesota agricultural schools in Crookston and Morris.

Chief spokesman at a hearing before the senate education committee were Marvin Campbell, president of the First National bank of Crookston, and Edward J. Morrison, editor of the Morris Sun.

The committee is considering two identical resolutions asking the university to transform the two agricultural colleges into four-year colleges.

"What we are asking is that college education be provided for more people, utilizing the facilities which now exist and have been paid for with tax dollars which must not be thrown away," said Campbell.

Both speakers emphasized lack of college facilities in western Minnesota, saying that only four of 34 colleges in the state are located in that section.

They said buildings at Crookston and Morris are adequate for college courses and would accommodate students who cannot now go to college because they are so far from colleges.

Fewer high school students go to college from western Minnesota proportionately than from other sections of the state, they said.

Campbell said the role of the agricultural school is declining, but the demand for college education is increasing.

County DFL Meeting Supports Freeman's Budget Proposals

A film, in which Governor Orville Freeman pleads for backing for his proposed high budget for the next biennium, was the highlight of a Democrat-Farmer-Labor rally held in the basement meeting room of the courthouse and attended by about 40 persons Saturday evening. Ernest Swanson, Pennington county DFL chairman from Goodridge, presided.

The group was addressed by State Senator Roy Wiseth, Goodridge and Rep. B. M. Wichterman, Plummer.

Wiseth said bills, except appropriations bills, were not especially numerous in the conservative-controlled senate, and lambasted the conservatives for their inaction under present leadership particularly in opposing the stratospheric Freeman budget and in not submitting a junior college bill. He accused them of criticizing the Freeman budget without offering any proposals of their own for raising the revenue needed for state government the next two years.

Rep. Wichterman's address was also critical of the conservatives in the legislature but he dwelt at length mostly on the advantages of the liberals' tax proposals involving an increased income tax on a withholding basis, as against a sales tax.

A sales tax, he emphasized, would hit low-income groups and farmers hardest. He also said big business would be most benefited by abolition of the personal property tax, although its effect on small business was not brought out.

Thoroughout both addresses it was made clear that the Freeman withholding proposal was not intended as a replacement tax and in answer to a question in which some objection to further taxes withheld from wages might be coming from labor, Wichterman said labor representatives in the Twin Cities had been in favor of a withholding tax.

Following the talks by Wiseth and Wichterman, C. E. Hellquist, Thief River Falls, made three resolutions from the floor. These concerned (1) opposition to a sales tax, (2) approval of the Freeman budget and (3) a withholding tax. All were passed unanimously, as was another resolution requesting establishment of a junior college in Thief River Falls. It was directed that the resolutions be sent to Governor Freeman and both houses in the legislature.

Following the adjournment, refreshments were served.

Livestock Show and Sale at Winter Shows

The annual Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston will again feature a first-class livestock exposition and sale during the week of February 23-27. The open class livestock show will begin at 2:00 p.m. on Monday of Winter Shows week and will wind up on Thursday evening with a Shetland pony show. The pony show is a new addition to Winter Show activities.

University of Minnesota livestock specialists will be on hand to judge the dairy, beef and sheep divisions. Ralph Wayne, extension dairyman, will judge the dairy cattle; R. M. Jordan, of the animal husbandry department, will be in charge of the beef cattle judging, and Robert E. Jacobs, extension animal husbandman, will place the sheep classes. Paul Cripe, a well-known breeder of Chester Whites at Amenia, N. Dak., will judge swine, and Carl Spong, of the Central Livestock Association, West Fargo, will judge Shetland ponies.

A Futurity Show is held in conjunction with the open class livestock exhibition. The show restricts competition to boys and girls who are members of 4-H groups in an attempt to stimulate interest in the livestock industry among farm youth. George Nornes of Climax, vocational instructor, is secretary of the show. The entries to date are slightly above last year.

One of the highlights of Winter Shows week is the purebred livestock sale conducted during the last two days of the show. The sale of registered bred ewes and gilts will be held Thursday, February 26, and the sale of registered beef cattle and dairy cattle will be held on Friday, February 27. Both sales will start at 12:30 noon.

Livestock breeders in the Red River Valley area of both Minnesota and North Dakota combine their efforts to make this annual sale an outstanding success. Willard Schnell of Dickinson, N. Dak., will again officiate at the auctioneer's block, while A. J. Doxter of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, will serve as general manager of the sale.

A Futurity Sale is held in conjunction with the open class sale in order to further encourage young girls and boys to enter the livestock business. The sale restricts bidding to only those girls and boys who are—or soon will be—members of a 4-H club in the locality.

Anyone desiring information concerning the show or sale should contact D. Reimer at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston. Mr. Reimer is secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock Association.

Marriage Counsel Given Rural Youth Thursday Evening

Charles Martin, Family Life Specialist from 'U' M, Is Guest Speaker

"Are You Ready for Marriage" was a topic discussed by Charles Martin, extension family life specialist of the University of Minnesota, at the February meeting of Pennington county's Rural Youth group, Thursday, the extension office reported today.

Mr. Martin told the 38 young men and women that a higher percentage of people of marriageable age are married in the U.S. than in any other country, but at the same time we also have the highest divorce rate. "This is not a fact to be proud of," stated Martin.

In the search for love there are four steps everyone goes through. They are:

Exploration. At this stage dating is with a variety of people of the opposite sex.

Courtship. During this period dating is limited to only one person.

Engagement. This is a time when definite plans are made.

Marriage.

Martin went on to say that when "the one" is selected there were certain things that should be discussed and on which agreement should be reached. These are religion, money, children and recreation.

Other factors that will influence success or failure in marriage were mutual backgrounds and outlooks and emotional maturity.

The biggest cause of marital discord is over money matters, followed closely by sex.

"It is important to have an understanding, before marriage, of the role sex plays after marriage. Ministers and doctors can and should be consulted by the couple for both the spiritual and physical aspects of marriage," Martin said.

"Love does not insure success in a marriage. It helps, but there is a lot of plain hard work that goes into a happy marriage."

Recreation concluded the evening. The group will meet again in March.

Tests Show Vernal Alfalfa Pays Best

Variety Is Recommended by 'U' M. for Use in 1959

Compared to other varieties, Vernal is by far the best alfalfa Minnesota farmers can choose for seeding this year.

Several years of University of Minnesota trials around the state show this to be the case, according to Laddie J. Elling, agronomist. Vernal is both more winter-hardy and more resistant to bacterial wilt than any other variety.

Elling compared alfalfa yields for different varieties both where wilt was a problem and in fields where this disease didn't show up. In each case, Vernal topped all competition.

For example, Vernal averaged 4.80 tons of dry forage per acre over a 3-year period at the Rosemount Agricultural Experiment station. Ranger, the only other recommended variety, yielded 4.37 tons. This was in plots where bacterial wilt was definitely a problem.

In 1957-58 tests where there was no wilt, Vernal averaged 5.21 tons per acre, more than a third of a ton above Ranger and a half a ton above non-recommended varieties.

Vernal consistently had the lowest percentage of plants winter-killed of the varieties tested. Based on a 3-year average it varied from 3 to 17 per cent winter-kill, while non-recommended varieties had as high as 61 per cent winter-kill in the same tests.

Pennington Buys $19,439 in Savings Bonds in January

"Purchases of Series E and H bonds in January, 1959, totaled $7,753,000, the highest monthly sales since July, 1956," Fred E. King, state savings bonds director, announced today.

"The January purchases were 3 per cent above a year ago, the increase coming in H bonds which were 27 per cent higher than in January, 1958," King pointed out.

January, 1959 purchases of Series E and H savings bonds totaled $19,439 in Pennington county, or 8.8 per cent of quota.

In District one, of which this county is a part, purchases totaled $290,631 or 15.5 per cent of quota. Marshall county led the state with purchases of 40.4 per cent of quota.

HERE'S TO YOU

William Penn, Quaker and founder of Pennsylvania, was a great lover of beer and accustomed to praising his own brewing. He introduced the brewing industry to Pennsylvania. His brew house, which he built, is still preserved at Pennsburg, near Bristol, Pa.

Strawberry Pancake Recipe

Here's a tasty breakfast treat the whole family is sure to like: Beat ¼ cup flour, ½ cup beer. Beat in 4 eggs, ½ tsp. salt, pinch pepper. Butter and preheat a 6-7-inch skillet. Add 2 to 3 tbsps. batter. Cook pancake until golden brown on both sides. Turn out of skillet; roll. Makes 8 to 10 pancakes, but make them very thin. To serve, place on platter. Fill with fresh strawberries (or other fruit, jam, or jelly). Top off with confectioners' sugar. Yummy!

Beer Serving Tip

One of the arts of serving beer is to rinse the glass beforehand with cold water—it helps insure a long-lasting head.

The livelihood of more than 100,000 Minnesotans depends wholly or partly upon the brewing, distribution, and retail sale of beer. Beer belongs. Enjoy it. So here's to you.

Board of Winter Shows Met Feb. 6

Completes Arrangements for '59 Event Next Week

The last business meeting before the 1959 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, was held by the Winter Shows board of managers on February 6 at the Northwest School of Agriculture, according to Secretary O. C. Soine.

The meeting opened with a detailed report on the 1959 Show by President B. E. Youngquist. The President expressed satisfaction with the fine way in which the water resources forum has developed. All indications are that there will be a packed house for both the all-day forum as well as at the banquet in the evening. President Youngquist indicated that only 250 tickets will be available for the banquet on Tuesday, February 24, at 6:00 p.m. at the Central high school, Crookston, cafeteria.

A Talent Show for youth is being launched this year with the Crookston Junior Chamber of Commerce as co-sponsors with the Winter Shows Board of Managers.

The new Pony Show was explained as well as the new ideas which are being incorporated in the Potato Show.

President Youngquist presented a rather lengthy report on the result of several "brainstorm sessions" which have been held the past few months on the subject of Winter Show buildings. The board of managers held the report over for further study and action at the next meeting.

Council Defers Decision on New Airport Building

and we have a waiting list." He went on to say that although no advertising of the aircraft mechanics school had been done, several applications have already been received. "There would be no competition for students in this field," he said.

Alderman A. J. Rau intervened at this point to state that he had no personal opposition to aviation in Thief River Falls but that he felt that the city had other obligations such as drainage, streets and other needs and that he felt that the construction of a building "for which the city had no use" was not necessary.

Alderman E. B. Benson asked Stan Nelson about the proposed aircraft and mechanics course and was told that the length of the course was 18 months. Graduates of the course would be able to take the FAA examination which, if passed, entitles them to be licensed mechanics.

Dr. Statekow added that even if the course failed, the area vocational school is already crowded and that the leased building could be used for other classes if necessary.

In addition to the adjourned meeting on this matter which will be called, the city council will meet at 7 p.m. tonight, Monday, with members of surrounding township boards to consider the joint purchase of a fire truck and at 8 p.m. to continue the matter of the proposed storm sewer project in district 3. The regular meeting of the council will be the following night, February 17.

Social Action Unit to Meet Tonight

The Pennington County Association for Social Action will meet this evening, Monday, at 8 o'clock in Epworth Hall of the Community Methodist church. Representatives of the Marshall county group will share in the program, and the public is invited to attend.

Spring Moisture Shortage Looms in State This Year

Snow in Forests This Winter Contains Little Water, Experts Report

Although there is a cover of snow varying from a few inches along an east-west line through Brainerd and Fergus Falls to about two feet along the Canadian border, the threat of a shortage of spring moisture is real, and foresters in the division of forestry are planning for the worst while hoping for the best.

Don Wilson, forester in charge of fire control for the division has traveled the woods for many years and reported "sugar snow" conditions in Itasca county are now more prevalent than he has seen in the past. "Sugar snow" Wilson explained, is a hard granulated snow which does not pack and has very little moisture in it.

"This means," Wilson said, "that there will be only a small amount of water when the snow melts." Most of the northern area was frozen before snow came, which means that the runoff can take place before the ground has thawed out and very little moisture will remain in the ground.

The reports of low water levels and subnormal flow of water in the streams is backed by monthly reports issued by the U.S. Geological Survey, St. Paul.

In October, Geological reports say, the stream flow all over the state, with few exceptions, was below that of last year and the average for the last ten years.

Central Livestock Assn. Meet Feb. 25

Cooperative Sets New Volume Record in 1958

A good sized delegation of farmers and their wives from this community will attend the 38th Annual Convention of Central Livestock Association, Wednesday, February 25, in St. Paul.

They will be among the 3,500 livestock producers and delegates from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Montana and Canada that are expected by officials of the huge livestock cooperative to attend the one-day meeting.

The annual report of N. K. Carnes, general manager, will reveal that Central Livestock Association eclipsed all former records in 1958 for dollar volume of livestock handled and producer membership.

Central Livestock Association and affiliated companies handled 2,201,000 head of livestock having an all-time high value of $176,000,000 during 1958, up 23% from 1957, according to Mr. Carnes.

There was a net gain in membership of 2,737 member-patrons, one of the largest in many years. The total membership of Central Livestock Association has now reached the all-time high of 173,000 livestock producers.

J. Arthur Johnson, President of the Central Livestock Association, announced that the Board of Directors had declared a cash patronage refund of 17% on all commissions collected for selling livestock during 1958 from Central patron-members. Commissions charged for selling livestock are standard for each commission firm and regulated by the Packers & Stockyards Administration.

Thieves Hockey Team Defeats Fargo 8 to 5

The senior hockey Thieves picked up four points in the Northwest Hockey league standings on Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Fargo Flyers, 8 to 5, on the Arena ice. The game scheduled to have been played here on Saturday night, with the Grand Forks Jets as the opponents, was postponed. The game has been tentatively rescheduled for Wednesday night, Feb. 25.

In Sunday afternoon's entertaining game with the Fargo Flyers, the Thieves, held to a 1 to 1 score at the end of the first period, and trailing by a 3 to 2 score midway in the second period, pumped in three quick goals in the final minutes of the stanza to take a 5 to 3 lead. Jimmy Reese hit the twine for three goals during the Thieves second period uprising.

The Thieves outpointed the Flyers, 3 to 2, in the third period to gain their 8 to 5 triumph. Darryl Durgin, scoring a goal in each period, also turned in a "hat trick," matching Reese's performance.

The Thieves will play the league-leading Crookston Pirates at Crookston on Sunday afternoon.

TRF Bums Hockey Team Ties Fargo

Plays Comets Sunday to 4-to-4 Stalemate

In an added attraction hockey game on Sunday afternoon, played following the Thieves vs. Fargo Flyers Northwest hockey league tilt, the Thief River Falls Bums hockey team played a 4-all tie with the Fargo Comets.

The Comets sped into an early 2 to 0 lead, but the Bums, on goals by Dennis Hallstrom and Glen Geneje, evened the score at 2-all. The Wendy Johnson-Dennis Hallstrom combination tallied a goal, giving the Bums a 3 to 2 lead; only to have the Comets rack up a tally to again deadlock the game.

Darrel Wick, on assists by Wally Grovum and Jack McGill, tallied for the Bums late in the third period; but the Comets, who played the game with a seven-man squad, scored in the final minutes to gain a 3-all tie.

The two teams will play a return game in Fargo in a couple of weeks.

Roseau and Prowlers in State Hockey Event

The Roseau Rams, defeating the Prowlers, 5 to 1, in the finals of the regional hockey tournament played at Roseau on Friday night, won their third successive Region Eight high school hockey championship, and their seventh title since the ice sport was recognized as a major sport by the State High School league in 1945.

The Roseau Rams, who are the defending state champions, and the Prowlers will resume their hockey rivalry on Thursday afternoon when, in a first round state tournament game at St. Paul, the two teams meet at 3:30 P.M. Roseau will be representing Region Eight, and the Prowlers, by virtue of being runner-up in Region Eight tournament play, will represent Region Three in the state pairings.

In Friday night's regional final against coach Oscar Almquist's powerful Rams, the Prowlers were handicapped greatly by the absence of center-ice player Dale Wennberg from the lineup. Wennberg, during the Prowlers first-round game against Baudette on Thursday night, bruised his left shoulder as he crashed into the boards, and a medical examination on Friday revealed that the Prowler center had suffered a shoulder separation.

Arlan Hjelle, who had just recovered from a serious cold, which necessitated a couple of days in the hospital, was shifted to center-ice in Wennberg's stead, and he performed ably in directing the play for wings Jerry Jorgenson and Archie Schneider.

Roseau opened the scoring in Friday night's championship tilt when high-scoring Dale Olson, taking a pass from Don Ross, whipped a ten-footer past goalie Wayne Halvorson and into the west goal at the 2:53 mark of the first period.

A pair of Roseau goals, with center Jim Stordahl scoring at the 3:19 mark and wing Earl Johnson hitting the mesh at the 8:24 mark, gave the Rams a 3 to 0 lead in the second period. Both goals were the result of well-executed combination plays that carried the disc within scoring range of the Prowler net.

After the Rams, on Don Ross' goal early in the third period, had taken a 4 to 0 lead, the Prowlers entered the scoring column when Jerry Jorgenson, finishing off a play that Schneider and Hjelle on the assists, beat all-state Dick Roth at the 11:48 mark. Roseau finished off the game's scoring with a tally by Darry Heller at the 11:59 mark.

In a consolation game, played following the regional championship game, the Warroad Warriors, by a 4 to 2 score, defeated the Baudette Bears, winning third place in the tournament standings.

Prowlers and Roseau Sixes Win 1st Round

Winning first round games in the Eighth Region's high school hockey tournament at Roseau on Thursday night, the Roseau Rams and the Thief River Falls Prowlers gained berths in the state high school hockey tournament which will be played in St. Paul on Feb. 19, 20, and 21. This year the Eighth Region will send two representatives into the state tourney, with the regional runner-up team designated as the Region Three representative.

In the opening game of Thursday night's twin bill, the Roseau Rams, continuing their undefeated play, defeated the Warroad Warriors, winning by a 5 to 0 score. In the "nightcap", the Prowlers defeated the Baudette Bears, 5 to 2.

Roseau's Jim Stordahl, an all-state selection last season, paced the Rams to their shutout win over Warroad, scoring three goals. The Ram's center-ice player scored on a solo rush at the 4:49 mark, taking the puck at the Roseau blue-line and raced down the ice. As he reached the Warroad defense, he faked a slap shot, feinting the Warrior blueliners out of position, then sidestepped through the defense to come in on the defenseless Karl Loveld to score from close. At the 5:58 mark, Dale Olson, on a pass from John Wahlberg, picked the upper left hand corner of the net on a hard shot from thirty feet out. With a minute of the period to play, Don Ross fliped a centering-out pass to Jim Stordahl and the Rams' center banged the disc into the east goal goal for Roseau's third tally of the opening period. The Rams added single goals in the second and third periods for their 5 to 0 win.

In the second game of the night, coach John Matchefts' Prowlers, on goals by Jerry Jorgenson and Eddie Holmes, jumped off to a 2 to 0 lead over Baudette Bears. And then continued to maintain an advantage over the Bears to defeat coach Alan Godfrey's club, 5 to 2.

Jorgenson, at the 3:19 mark, blasted a thirty-foot shot, that Baudette's capable goalie, Allen Pelowski, failed to cover and the knee-high drive hit the mesh of the east goal. At the 7:09 mark, Bruce Ranum, from the corner to the right of the Bears net, sent a pass to Eddie Holmes behind the Baudette cage, and Holmes swept the puck around the post and into the net. Baudette moved into the scoring column at the 9:57 mark when Jeff Hanson's screened shot, from just inside the blue-line, beat goalie Wayne Halvorson. The Prowlers regained a two-goal lead when, from a melee in front of the Baudette net, burly Archie Schneider slapped the disc into the net.

The Prowlers, at the 4:16 mark of the second period, gained a 4 to 1 lead when the Jerry Jorgenson-Dale Wennberg combination marked up a goal, with Jorgenson pulling the trigger on a shot that hit a pipe inside the net and bounced out, with the goal-judge flipping the red light to indicate a valid score.

Baudette's Jack Nielsen tallied the Bears' final score when, at the 10:34 mark, his hard backhand drive picked the "long" corner of the west goal.

The Prowlers, in the third period, picked up an "insurance" goal when, with Jerry Larson serving a tripping penalty, the short-handed locals scored, with Schneider rifling a shot past Pelowski.

The Prowlers will be carrying a season's record of twelve wins and eight losses as they enter the state high school hockey tournament in St. Paul on Thursday afternoon when, as the Region Three representative, they will meet the defending state champion Roseau Rams in a first-round game at 3:30 P.M. Nordics Lose 69 to 58; Second Defeat of Season

The Newfolden Nordics clinched first place in the east subdistrict 32 conference by defeating the Middle River Skippers 48 to 43, in a game played at Middle River on Tuesday. On Saturday night, playing at Warroad, the Nordics dropped a 69 to 58 decision to the Warriors. The win and the loss brought the Newfolden conference record to ten wins and two losses.

Roseau, Warroad, Baudette, and Middle River have all lost at least three games, so they cannot displace the Nordics from first place. According to present pairings, Newfolden will play Greenbush in a first round subdistrict tournament to be played at Greenbush beginning on Monday, Feb. 23.

Dennis Bakke led the Nordics scoring against the Middle River Skippers with 15 points, followed closely by Bob Dahl with 14 points and Don Engelsrud with 12 points. The Skippers' Larry Holmes shared the game's high point honors with Bakke, collecting 15.

Before a "standing room only" crowd, the Skippers tallied the first basket as both teams seemed over anxious during a slow scoring first quarter which ended 7 to 6 in favor of the Nordics. The game seesawed at the beginning of the second quarter and the Skippers had their last tie score at 13 to 13 at the end of three minutes. At this point the Nordics started a scoring barrage which netted them a 27 to 18 halftime lead. The Nordics started fast in the third quarter and pulled away to a 13 point lead at 35 to 22 with three minutes of the period gone. At this point the Skippers rang for all speed forward and closed the gap to 39-30 at the third period stop. A furious fourth quarter brought them closer but the Nordics finally prevailed, 48 to 43.

In the preliminary the Nordic "B" squad brought their season record to 13-2 for the season as they racked up the Skipper "B" team, 27 to 18.

Fertile Cage Team Loses Friday to Prowlers 60 to 51

Locals to Wind up Home Schedule Tuesday Night with Game vs. Halstad

In an inter-district basketball game played at Fertile on Friday night, coach Alan Adams' Prowlers, leading at every period stop, defeated the Falcons, 60 to 51.

The Prowlers, with a season's mark of ten wins and four losses, will close out their home court schedule on Tuesday night Feb. 17, when they meet the Halstad Pirates on the Lincoln gymnasium court.

After a slow and low-scoring first period, with the Prowlers holding a 13 to 6 lead, the locals exploded for twenty-point second period, with guard Mickey Hanson being the "firecracker" of the period with twelve points. After the Falcons had pared the Prowler lead to four points, 16 to 14, to start the second period, Mickey Hanson looped in three jump shots from the outside. Bob Pearson rang up a long shot; and then Mickey hooped in three field goals, getting one on a layup, to give the Prowlers a 33 to 20 advantage at the intermission.

Mickey Hanson, Lynn Nicholson's field goal from off to the left of the free throw circle, and Ron Hanson's hook shot, sped the Prowlers into a 39 to 20 lead to start the second half's play.

The Prowlers controlled the play throughout the third period the Falcons, with hard-driving Jerry Olson scoring four field goals and a pair of free throws, began to slice into the Prowler lead.

Fertile's Jerry Olson, with ten field goals and four free throws, was the game's high point player with twenty-four points. The Prowlers' Phil Hanson and Mickey Hanson, with sixteen points apiece, shared runner-up honors.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

More of the Same

As expected, and predicted by the sideline observers, coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams made a successful defense of their Region Eight hockey title when they defeated coach Johnny Matchefts' Prowlers, 5 to 1, on Friday night. The win was the 29th straight for the Rams this season, and the 40th straight win over a two-year span.

On Thursday afternoon, Feb. 19, with the face-off at 5:30 p.m., the Roseau Rams and the Prowlers will meet in a state tournament first-round game on the St. Paul Auditorium ice sheet. It's unfortunate that the two teams from Region Eight, with Roseau as the regional champion and the Prowlers as the Region Three representative, should be paired in the first round. The tournament pairings are arranged on a rotation basis, and the luck of the draw was such that Region Eight was paired against Region Three.

While the odds are heavy that the Rams will defeat the Prowlers in the opener, and go on to make a successful defense of their state title, the locals do have a precedent working in their favor as they meet Roseau for the fourth time. Back in 1954-55, the Roseau Rams defeated the Prowlers, 6 to 0 and 7 to 1, during the season's play, and by a 2 to 1 score in the regional tournament finals. In the consolation finals of the state tournament, the Prowlers surprised the Rams by scoring a 4 to 3 win. So it can be done.

It is hoped that Dale Wennberg will be able to play in the first-round game on Thursday afternoon, for he is a vital factor in the Prowlers' play. The intentions are to secure the assistance of the veteran trainer of the University of Minnesota athletic department, Lloyd Stein, in bandaging Dale's left shoulder. And if Dale's doctor gives an okay, the Prowler center will be on the ice giving his 100-percent plus.

For the fans who will not be making the trip to St. Paul, radio station KTRF will have Doug Tegtmeier at the rink-side giving play-by-play of the Roseau and Prowler games. Listening to Doug give the play, and he's with the puck all the time, is just about the same as being in attendance. Now if he could only score some goals for the Prowlers!

Could be a First

When coach Johnny Matchefts leads his hockey Prowlers onto the St. Paul Auditorium ice for their first-round state tournament game on Thursday afternoon, it could mark the first time that a one-time participant in the state tournament is returning to the tourney as a coach. We have been checking our records quite closely, and it appears that Matchefts, who was an all-state tournament center for coach Cliff Thompson's Eveleth Golden Bears in the late 1940's, is to first to return as coach of a state tourney entrant.

Singles Bowling Tournament

Marv Washnesky collected his second successive five dollar bill from Al Holzknecht on Sunday afternoon when he defeated Pat Poole, 536 pins to 478 pins, in a three-game match of the Northern Chevy's singles tourney.

Pat piled up the pins for a fine 202 score to open the match, gaining a 12-pin lead; but in the second game, the youngster had his troubles. Pat "blew" the 4th, 5th, 6th, and 8th frames, and chalked up a split in the 10th grame, to score a meager 121 pin game Marv, in his second game, rolled a consistent 186 score, to take a commanding lead.

Pat carded a 155 in his final game, while Marv rolled a modest 160.

Next Sunday afternoon, at 2:00 P.M., Washnesky will put his two-match winning streak on the line against Leif Erickson. Odds are rated at about even.

Northrop Indians Swamp Knox 34 to 8

Losers Score Only in Final Quarter of Game

The Northrop Indians defeated an "Ice cold" Knox Tigers team, 34 to 8, in a grade school basketball game on Wednesday afternoon. The Indians, with Dennis Hanson and Bruce Olson doing the bulk of the scoring held a 13 to 0 lead at the intermission, and 22 to 0 lead entering the fourth period. Knox, on a pair of field goals by Gary Nelson, and two-pointers by Peter Isaacson and Evan Anderson, scored eight points in the final atanza.

It takes a BIG loaf of Bread!
It does take a big loaf of bread to fill the needs of the 33,000 northern Minnesota families whose livelihoods depend on iron mining and the businesses that serve and supply it.
These people consume nearly 9,000,000 pounds of bread each year. They spend over $30,000 each week . . . more than $1,600,000 a year for bread. This takes a lot of wheat.
The iron mining industry, in producing iron ore, provides jobs for thousands of people in northern Minnesota—jobs which, in turn, provide markets for Minnesota farm products—markets right within Minnesota's own borders.

'Average' Cow Is Poor Producer, Says Cole; Commends DHIA Plan

FOOD SECTION
Pages 1 thru 6
Volume Forty-eight | Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota | Monday, February 16, 1959 | Number Fourteen

Minnesota's "average" dairy cow is really a poor money-maker, the head of the University of Minnesota dairy husbandry department said last week.

C. L. Cole said at the annual meeting of the Blue Earth County Dairy Herd Improvement association that average production per cow in the state is only 6,900 pounds of milk.

"Minnesota ranks 15th from the top in all states in production per cow, while the average for the highest state is 8,880 pounds," he said.

At the Minnesota average, Cole explained, each cow has a return over feed cost of about $130. In comparison, he said "cows in DHIA tested herds in Minnesota last year produced 10,127 pounds milk per cow. The return over feed cost for these cows was $222 each, or $92 more than their sisters in untested herds."

Cole said that in a 30-cow herd, this difference would mean $2,760 more return to take care of costs other than feed. Or in other words, "30 cows in DHIA herds are equivalent in returns over feed costs to 51 cows in average Minnesota herds."

These figures offer a good argument for a dairy record system on any farm with milk cows, Cole said. Yet, he added that only "about 7 percent of all cows in the state are on some kind of record plan.

"I don't know anyone who is capable of giving a reasonable estimate at the end of any year as to comparative value of his cows unless he has a record of their production for the entire year," Cole asserted. "Yet, more than nine-tenths of our industry is guessing in its culling program."

He pointed out that "today is the best time in recent years to find low-producing cows and take advantage of the high meat prices. These cows only add their small contribution to the surplus, and another cow in the herd has to make up for their loss to the herd owner.

"Dairymen as business men cannot possibly afford to invest in feed, provide housing and care for 51 cows when they can get the same return over feed from 30," he declared. "This is the equivalent of raising the Grade A milk price from $3.75 per hundred to $5.16 per hundred and at the same time reducing capital investment and labor by 40 per cent each."

Cole added that "these 30 cows produce 303,810 pounds milk yearly while the 51 produce 351,900 pounds. If we did this on a state-wide basis, we would milk 817,647 cows—instead of 1,390,000 as at present—and reduce the milk surplus by 1.3 billion pounds.

"We would no longer rank third in cow numbers and fluid milk production, but we would be in a much better financial position," he said.

Cole also made some pointers on dairy feeding. "Our research work has shown us we need no longer be concerned about sources or a great variety of concentrate feeds," he said. "We don't care what the concentrate source is just so long as the cow likes it and will eat enough so all of her requirements are met each day and she can express her inherited ability to reduce milk.

"Our problem is not in growing, but in preserving what we have grown," according to Cole. "Being ready to make silage or hay as the weather dictates oftentime saves important feed. Modern methods and equipment are musts. Twenty pounds of high quality alfalfa hay will provide a cow with as much digestible protein as 6.5 pounds of 44 percent soybean oil meal and as much total feed nutrients as about 12 pounds of shelled corn."

'Save Your Vision' Week March 1 to 7

Optometrists Join with Jaycees in Observance

"Driving Takes Seeing," will be the theme for National Save Your Vision Week, March 1-7, which will be sponsored in Minnesota for the 8th successive year by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Minnesota Optometric Association. The theme was announced yesterday by Dr. Owen Wilke, Marshall, president of the optometric group.

This theme was chose, according to Dr. Wilke, because optometrists, Jaycees, and other cooperating groups and governmental bodies both locally and nationally will conduct public service activities to emphasize the need for better vision for safe driving.

The Minnesota Optometric Association—and this is concurred in by Harry Sieben, state safety director—says that one out of every five drivers is deficient in one or more of the five basic vision skills which effect safe driving, and most are unaware of these shortcomings. "Yet all but one-tenth of one percent could have their vision for driving up to par with the aid of modern optometric science."

State Bar Assn. Gives Data on Income Tax

(This is the second in a series of articles on income tax. These articles are made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

You may be among those who failed to file an income tax return last year even though you were specifically required by law to do so. A required return overlooked by many persons is the declaration of estimated income tax with the result that such persons subject themselves to a penalty of 6% of any underpayment of installments which should have been paid.

Who Must File an Estimate

Generally, an estimate must be filed if over $100 in income other than wages will be received in 1959. In addition, all single persons who expect to earn more than $5,000 and all married persons who expect to receive more than $10,000 in 1959 must file estimates.

Due Dates

If you now may reasonably expect to meet one of the above tests in 1959 your estimate is due not later than April 15, 1959, on Form 1040-ES. With the return you must pay 25% of the difference between your estimated tax and the amount you estimate will be withheld in 1959 by your employers. Similar 25% payments are due on June 15, September 15, 1959 and January 15, 1960. If your circumstances change so that you are first required to file an estimate after April 15, 1959 you must file on the date the next quarterly tax payment is due and pay your estimated tax due over the remaining installment periods.

Special Rule For Farmers

Farmers, whether independent or on a sharecrop basis, have until January 15, 1960 to file their declaration of estimated 1959 income tax. If a farmer files a declaration on time and pays at least 2/3 of his estimated tax he then has until April 15, 1960 to file his return without penalty. However, if he prefers, a farmer may file a final income tax return by February 15, 1960 and pay his entire tax due at that time instead of filing an estimate on January 15.

Thurs, if you are a farmer you may avoid all necessity of filing a declaration of estimated tax by filing your final tax return by paying the entire tax due by February 15 of each year.

Butter Cookie Event Sponsored by State Dairy Industry Group

Patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Minneapolis, and crippled children in Gillette State Hospital, St. Paul, this year will be treated to a host of delicious butter cookies entered by Minnesota homemakers in the state's 7th annual butter cookie contest sponsored by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee and the Minnesota Creamery Operators' and Managers' Association, Lew Conlon, MDIC manager, reported today.

Minnesota's attractive Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Diane Schroeder, Fertile, Minn., will be official hostess at both hospitals when the patients take time out for an afternoon milk and cookie break during the week before Easter.

An innovation this year announced by Conlon is the division of entriess into "plain" and "fancy" classes, plus adding a "junior" class for girls and boys through 14 years of age.

"Because of the large number of entries and the varieties of cookies last year, we have decided to broaden the base of the 1959 contest with the 'plain and 'fancy' classes, plus giving more of the youngsters a chance to compete. Last year we had more than 800 entries and distributed some 17,000 butter cookies to institutions," Conlon said.

In the "plain" and "fancy" classes, duplicate prizes will be awarded. First place winners will receive portable television sets. Second prizes are radios and the two who place third will receive electric mixers.

First prize in the junior division is a record player; second, a trasitor radio; and third a camera. The annual "Princess Kay Award", a special drawing prize established last year, is a set of stainless steel flatware. All entrants receive a gift just for entering the contest.

Closing date for the event this year is set for midnight, March 23, with judging to take place on March 25. All entries should be mailed to the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, 2239 Carter Avenue, St. Paul 8, Minnesota.

Judges this year are Mrs. Harold Rasmussen, St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press home economist; Mrs. Russell Stansfield, Minneapolis home economist; and Mrs. Algot Johnson, Route 2, Dassel, Minnesota's 1958 association butter cookie champion.

Contest rules are similar to previous years except that the "plain" and "fancy" entries must be so designatetd and clearly marked on the package and on the recipe. In the "junior" class, the entrants age also must be included on the recipe, along with the junior division identity marking on the package.

There are the governing points for the 1959 contest:

Appearance, — 20 points. Appearance will be graded on uniformity of size, thickness and whether uniform in color.

Package, — 20 points. Package will be graded on the safe arrival of the cookies in first-class condition, properly packed. Fancy or unusual packaging is not desirable. Each entry shall consist of 18 or more cookies of one kind, and each entry must be packaged separately but need not be mailed separately. The recipe must be submitted with each entry.

Texture, — 20 points. Cookies should be tender, and either crisp or soft, depending on the type of cookies. They must not be hard, tough or crumbly.

Flavor, — 40 points. Entries must have a mild, pleasing flavor, or well-blended flavors. They must not be flat, too sweet or too pronounced of certain ingredients.

Any cookie recipe may be used which uses butter as the primary ingredient and it need not be original. The judges will consider each entry by number and will not know the names of the contestants.

Editorials . . .

"Time was when people were exported like slaves from the British Coast and exposed for sale in the Roman market. These men and women who were thus sold were supposed to be guilty of witchcraft, debt, blasphemy or theft. Or else they were prisoners taken in war—they had forfeited their right to freedom, and we sold them. We said they were incapable of self-government and so must be looked after. Later we quit selling British slaves, but began to buy and trade in African humanity. We silenced conscience by saying, "It's all right—they are incapable of self-government." We were once as obscure, as debased, as ignorant, as barbaric, as the African is now. I trust that the time will come when we are willing to give to Africa the opportunity, the hope, the right to attain to the same blessings that we ourselves enjoy." —William Pitt

Cyprus Independence

Another hot spot seems to be cooling off as Turkey, Greece and Britain approach agreement on the future of the important island of Cyprus. Over a period of more than three years many lives have been lost in the violence and terrorism of the conflict for control. With such a background of bitterness it is reasonable to assume that the new government of an independent Cyprus will have its bad days.

Favorable to a satisfactory adjustment however, is the fact that Britain, Greece and Turkey are allies in N.A.T.O. and reasonably friendly. All three of these nations probably are glad to have the problem off their hands for the time being at least. The only group likely to be unhappy with the peaceful settlement would be the Communists who have, as usual, been helpful in promoting discord.

Let's Have Uniformity

The old argument about fast time is with us again. After two years of experience with what is referred to as daylight-saving we still are not convinced that it is necessary to monkey with the clocks in order to get up an hour earlier in the morning. A few years ago some of the good people who work here at the Times thought it would be better to start work an hour earlier. Submitted to a vote, the idea was favored unanimously. The new schedule was adopted and the only time change necessary was setting the alarm to ring an hour earlier.

Uniformity is the important factor in our system of dividing the hours of each day into 24 equal parts. We should not have business operating on one system and transportation on another. National and international uniformity are desirable. With this end in mind we propose one more amendment to our national constitution, providing that only Congress shall have the authority to establish the time schedules of the nation. If Congress then wishes to decree that the sun shall reach its meridian height at eleven o'clock, or even at ten o'clock, in the morning, we will go along and just as cheerfully as we now pay our taxes to Uncle.

Lien Law Sham Battle

At each session of the legislature a bill is introduced to repeal the old age assistance lien law. A liberal house welfare committee favored such a bill last week by a vote of ten to nine. It now goes to the appropriation committee, also controlled by the liberals, where it probably will, as usual, be killed.

The state welfare commissioner estimated the two-year cost to the state would be $2,770,000 and about the same amount to the counties. He neither recommended nor opposed the measure. A spokesman for the state county commissioner association opposed it.

At each session during the more than 20 years the lien law has been on the books these sham battles have been fought. The lien provision has not been repealed because it serves a good purpose. No aged people are adversely affected by the law. Only their heirs suffer a loss, but the interests of deserving children who assist their parents may be adequately protected.

Those liberals who are both honest and informed know this to be true. They do not favor the sham battle approach to such problems.

Not Hastily Conceived

The Minneapolis Tribune assures us that the university's building program, including its across-the-river expansion plans, has not been "arbitrarily and hastily" conceived. University officials have given this program a great deal of thought, we are told.

We do not question the Tribune's statement. We are satisfied that a great deal of thought has been given to this program not only by the officials of the university but also by the members of the planning committees of the city of Minneapolis.

But we are not satisfied with the tricky manner in which this plan was forced upon the state, in the closing days of the legislative session. There was no statewide presentation of the program, giving the citizens of all areas an opportunity to appraise its effects upon their problems of higher education. And for their slippery conduct in handling a matter of such far-reaching importance to the state as a whole, the officials of the university deserve the severest censure.

Under this program Minneapolis is going to get its assist in slum clearance. That however, represents only a few million dollars. The big gain to Governor Freeman's home town will be a great junior college operated entirely at state expense.

A few communities in the outstate areas are hoping to get a few crumbs from the legislature to pay a part of the cost of the buildings for junior colleges that will be maintained largely at the expense of local taxpayers. Minneapolis will get its junior college with the state paying the entire cost.

Maybe its too late to stop the powerful Minneapolis machine that has much too much to say about our state government. May it be noted, however, that the boys from the country are being taken for a ride like they never were taken for a ride before.

Revised Teaching Aims Urged

(New York Times)

Critics of the public schools, as well as those with suggestions for improvement, have been laying heavy emphasis on such matters as size of class, teachers' salaries and the kinds and numbers of courses taught.

But Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, vice president of the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education, said last week that the nation will not get the kind of schools it needs by thinking in these terms. They deal, he said, with form and structure rather than substance.

Dr. Eurich, who has helped direct the spending of millions of dollars on research and experimental work to better education, said Americans "must question some of the basic assumptions on which we've built our educational system."

For example, he said, the nation has tried increasing teachers' salaries — it has doubled them in the post-war era — but it has not solved the problem of raising teaching quality. And it will not necessarily get better education that way, he said, because as teachers become a scarcer commodity the argument that higher pay permits selective hiring dissolves.

For another, he said, most critics accept the idea that small classes are always better, but there is not proof that this is true. A lot of things requiring only demonstration or explanation can be taught in large groups just as well, he said.

"We are putting everything on the basis of a teacher's providing mother love to 25 youngsters," he said, without knowing whether she can provide it, without even having decided just what we want the schools to accomplish, or how to set up the best conditions for accomplishing it.

We should, he said, set up the same basic conditions as we would in any other profession. This would mean using a group of specialists in ingenious ways to handle different parts of the teaching task. The Fund is supporting projects experimenting with groups of teachers for elementary grades.

We should be concentrating, he said, on two points the popular discussion of school problems avoid: the quality of the teacher and the substance of the education we want.

Instead, we have been concerned with the form and structure of teaching, he said, which are "no more than facades on a Hollywood slope which the rain and wind will tumble." For example, Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University, holds that two years of language are not enough.

"But he's been looking at the product—maybe it wasn't taught right," Dr. Eurich maintained. "Anyone can go through the four years of language he recommends and not learn much. But anyone who wants to can master a language in two years."

"You could have two schools side by side, both following Dr. Conant's recommendations, and they could be as different as day and night. That's because these considerations involve the shell rather than the skeleton of the building."

Educational reforms will have to await larger national decisions, Dr. Eurich believes, because the goals of a school system must derive from those of the society it serves.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Lucky to Have "Noisy Neighbors"

A recent news item about an Air Force base and the townspeople nearby illustrates a point I've made for some time.

Most of the local people had the same complaint — the roar of jets was irritating — so a group of them petitioned the Air Force to move the base.

Then the Air Force invited the petitioners to the base to show them how vital it was to their defense. The people soon decided jet noise was really a welcome sound — and all petitions were dropped.

From where I sit, jumping to conclusions—without knowing all sides of a question—is something people ought to avoid. It would make living together a lot easier. On little things, too—like your preference for tea or coffee and mine for beer. Understanding the other fellow's point of view will make traveling a lot smoother in this "jet" age of ours.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL

The biggest fish rearing operation in all America is closely supported by a top-flight fisheries scientist named John Dobie, working from a laboratory in St. Paul. Minnesota's reputation as the "walleye state" came because it was blessed with many of the right kinds of lake. But their reputation would soon be lost were we to leave solely to nature the job of providing walleye fishing in all of the different kinds of lakes from which Minnesota fishermen want to take them.

Each spring, egg taking stations are set up at Waskish, Cutfoot Sioux, and other locations where up to 400 million eggs are taken from the females plus enough milt from the males to insure their fertilization.

Eleven hatcheries throughout the state undertake the exacting job of converting these little brown eggs into over 200 million walleye fry, which are transparent and little larger than mosquito wigglers.

At one time most of the fish stocked in Minnesota and elsewhere were these tiny fry. However, it was learned that most fry stocking did a much better job of feeding native fish in the lake than of producing walleyes. Now about the only time we plant fry is where lakes have been winter-killed. Here they survive and grow rapidly because there is no competition. If, after stocking, we get by for two or three years without another winterkill there will be good walleye fishing.

However, the big job is to raise some four to six million of these walleyes to fingerling size for stocking throughout the state. About one-third of them are raised in about 150 natural ponds with the cooperation of sportsmen, while two-thirds are produced in 30 state-owned ponds which are managed intensively.

Great Progress has been made in raising walleyes during the last few years. In 1953 the 30 ponds produced less than two million, and by 1956 the production on the same ponds had been increased to seven million. This was accomplished primarily thru fertilizing the ponds so they would naturally produce the abundance of water plants and animals to feed the rapidly growing young walleyes.

Due to problems of dry weather and excessive weed growth, production fell to three and one-half million during 1957 and four and one-half million in 1958. It now became apparent that fertilizer dumped into a pond increases water fertility but has little effect on soil fertility.

In order to get fingerlings large enough to prevent their becoming food of hungry perch and panfish after stocking, it is necessary that they be kept in the rearing ponds beyond the size at which walleye fingerlings in the lakes are eating fish. If natural food is not abundant in the ponds at this time (when they are from an inch to an inch and one-quarter long) canaballism will be prevalent. The critical period is in the first half of July when the first bloom of suspended microscopic animals dies off and the second bloom which occurs in the latter half of July has not begun. An attempt is made to keep the pond soil fertile enough to support a large insect population which walleyes can feed on during this period. This results in fish food being quite scarce in early spring, most abundant in June, and scarce again by the first of July. The first half of July is a critical period because following this, food again becomes more abundant. However, in ponds built on soils of over 4 per cent organic matter, there are enough aquatic insects to feed the walleyes during this critical period. Without food at this time the walleyes consume the only food available—other walleyes.

It now appears that more reliable production in these ponds can be had by draining and summer fallowing the pond about one year out of five.

Of course, this is only a part of the intricate story of raising walleyes, but the interesting feature is the constant checks which are made throughout the summer. Each week samples are taken of the water, plankton, and fish from each of the 30 ponds and sent to Mr. Dobie at the St. Paul laboratory. There he determines water fertility, food abundance, growth rate of the fish, and so forth, and issues instructions for the operations of each pond through the analysis of a small jar of water and fish. And when John says, "Take half of the fish out of that pond next Thursday," it had better be done. A few days delay will mean that the hungry young walleyes, like the gingham dog and the calico cat, will eat each other up.

Cooperative Associations

in Creameries, Oil, Feed, Breeding have long provided necessary service for farmers in Northwestern Minnesota. There is a continued need for cooperative service in those same fields. The advantages of Cooperative effort can be destroyed by competitive efforts that destroy existing co-ops, and divide volumes of business in any field to such an extent that the whole area has less efficient service and less chance of continued operations in whatever field it may be.

As a Breeding Organization, Northwest Breeders, has provided effective service over a wide area. Herds have been built that match herds in any part of the state. Not all have been this well built and all will not be so well built due to the many variances of breeding that cannot be controlled by anyone.

Breeding cattle is a long time program and many undesirable factors may be existant in a herd for years. This will be true regardless of the breeding involved due to the many factors of inheritance involved. Individual herds vary from year to year in production even under the same management as feed and other conditions may be quite variable from year to year.

Sires available now at Northwest Breeders Stud are from herds that have built some of the best herds in Canada and the United States. Provings as reported in USDA with daughters in many herds will not be as high as provings in individual herds but they will reflect the actual production.

Sires that have been purchased for artificial breeding from individual herds often have high proofs because the herd where they were used was that kind of a herd. The same sires used across the board in many herds will have averages on daughters that are comparable to all the other sires that are used in Artificial Breeding and gravitate towards the 411 pounds fat level reported in USDA in 1955 report as an average for all sires used.

Conditions where records are made have to be considered in evaluating a proof. The best evaluation of a sire is in what he will do right on your farm and the many daughters of Northwest Breeders sires now in production are proof that the overall picture has been good. When we have heifers with 500 pounds of fat with first calf, many others with records from 400 to 500 pounds reported, we can feel sure that the sires used are doing a job.

If we had more testing being done in the area we would have even more indication of the value of the breeding that has been used.

PROOFS on Holstein and Guernsey sires at Northwest Breeders include 506 pounds for both H-24 and G-23, daughters of both sires being handled under conditions that can be duplicated by anyone. Other sires being used are also very desirable due to breed character, size, records, proofs, and evidence provided by daughters now in production.

Cooperation with other Cooperative Breeding Associations has made it possible for Northwest Breeders to also supply semen from the leading sires in these Studs. Full information can be secured from your local Technician or by writing to Northwest Breeders at Roseau, Minnesota.

68,431 Farm Jobs Filled Thru State Agency Last Year

Commissioner Starkey Reports Gain over 1957

The number of agricultural jobs filled by the Minnesota State Employment Service during 1958 came within 2,000 of setting an all-time record, according to an annual review of the farm placement activities of the department of Employment security released today by Commissioner Frank T. Starkey.

The 33 state employment service offices found people to fill 68,431 jobs of an agricultural nature during 1958, Starkey reported, an increase of 2.9 per cent over the 1957 total of 66,478, and just 2,181 under the record total of 70,612 farm placements in 1954.

Starkey said that the increase of 5,888 in youth work program placements in 1958 was achieved despite a drop in labor needs for over-all seasonal crops, largely due to increased use of labor-saving machinery, to bring total farm placements in 1958 above the '57 figure and close to a record total. Most of the increase in the Youth Work Program was registered in areas served by the Hopkins and Minneapolis State Employment offices. The total number of youth placed in agriculture in 1958 was 46,805, of which 42,015 were in truck gardening.

In addition to the 68,431 farm jobs filled, the employment service found people to fill 6,851 in related activities, such as canneries, meat processing plants, poultry processors and dairy products establishments.

The agency also found experienced farm hands to fill 4,688 jobs and steady employment for 492 farm couples. The regular farm hands placed were 683 (or 12.7 per cent) fewer than in 1957 due largely to the farmer's efforts to do their own work with the aid of more modern equipment. The farm couple placements in 1958 were up 89, or 22 per cent over 1957.

Kiplinger Tells of Junior College

Magazine Editor Writes about Advantages of Plan

By 1970, up to 50 per cent of college students in New York and California will be enrolled in the two-year college, predict the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. Twenty-five per cent of all students going to college these days are attending junior college.

Why would anyone want a junior college education instead of a regular one? Many reasons, says the editors.

Cost. More than half the two-year colleges are tuition free for locals. And even where tuition is charged, it's often quite low.

Convenience. Most attend junior colleges that are near home and many save money during their two years to pay for the years of advanced study.

Curriculum. Junior colleges often give preprofessional and vocational courses that aren't available in four-year institutions.

Adjustment. For many a student, the switch to college from high school is too great a step. The two-year college provides an excellent transition during which the student matures and has time to decide whether to go on.

How do junior colleges rate? About a quarter of the freshmen at junior colleges rank above the average freshmen at a four-year college and students who transfer from junior colleges usually do about as well as those who start at four-year schools.

EXTRAORDINARY MNEMONICS FEAT

Said a lady to a gentleman in a Waseca store, "Did you ever attend Elwood school at Clinton Falls?" Said a somewhat puzzled gentleman, "Y", "Then," averred the lady, "you are Joe Reycraft." He admitted it. None of which would have made nay special news except that the lady in the case, Carrie Leighton, is a 102-year-old retired school teacher now living in Indiana, and the gentleman, now a 92-year-old resident of Waseca, was her pupil in a one-room country school 80 years ago. Miss Leighton, on her way to visit in Colorado, has never worn glasses.

Plane Pilot Missing on Flight from Red Lake Found; Wife Dies

The pilot of a light plane missing since Sunday Feb. 8, in sub-zero weather was found alive Thursday afternoon on Leech Lake. His wife was dead beside the wrecked plane.

Lonnie Worth, 49, Robbinsdale, Minn., told rescuers he stayed alive in a deserted summer cabin on the shore of the big northern Minnesota lake after covering his badly injured wife with a blanket.

Worth was spotted walking from the cabin toward the plane about 3 p.m. by a helicopter on a routine flight from Bemidji, site of an Air Force winter training center.

Temperatures reached lows of 25 below zero during the four days Worth and his wife, also 49, were missing.

They had taken off from Upper Red Lake last Sunday afternoon enroute to their suburban Minneapolis home.

A doctor who examined Worth said the pilot was suffering from shock and exposure. He was in somewhat of a dazed condition as he was questioned by Civil Air Patrol searchers at the Bemidji airport.

He refused to be taken to a hospital.

Worth told the helicopter crew his wife was badly hurt by the crash. He said he covered her with blankets Sunday afternoon, then set out to find help.

He walked about five miles, but finding nothing, retraced his steps back to the plane. Later in the day, he made it to shore and found the cabin.

Worth said he found stove fuel and food in the cabin, keeping him alive and warm.

He said he tried to get back to the plane Sunday night to bring his wife to the cabin, but snow covered the tracks and he was unable to locate the plane.

The temperautre reached 15 below that night. The next morning, Worth said, he walked across the ice to the plane, but his wife was dead. He then went back to the cabin to wait for help.

Worth said he tried to land the plane Sunday on Leech Lake when the snow cut flying visibility. The plane smashed up when it hit rough ice on the lake.

Home Council Hears Highway Officer

Mitchel Johnson Speaks to Group Tuesday Night

"Safety on the road and good drivers start in the home," stated Highway Patrolman Mitchel Johnson in a talk to the township councilors at the Extension Home Council meeting Tuesday, February 10, according to Roberta LeBourveau, home agent.

Johnson went on to say that every fifteen seconds someone is seriously injured on the highways of the U.S. But contrary to popular belief women are not the poorer drivers.

Young people learn their driving skills from adults, especially their parents. Frequently if a father is a fast, reckless driver, his son will have similar driving habits.

In closing, Johnson said, "Safety is not a signal light, a jail sentence, a divided highway or an enforcement index. Safety is primarily a state of mind, under which all people realizing the imminence and the consequence of accidents are willing to accept those restraints necessary to prevent them."

Pork Called Good Buy This Winter

Large Supplies of Hogs Serve to Reduce Prices

Look for specials on pork roasts at your market this month and in March.

Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota, points out that unusually large supplies of pork are coming to market now. Prices of hogs are at the lowest point in recent years, and low-priced hogs mean low-priced pork at the meat counter.

Many stores are offering special prices on pork loins for the benefit of consumers who have home freezers or lockers. But whether you have a freezer or not, a period of low-cost pork is the time to include more of this meat in family meals, Mrs. Loomis says.

The center loin cut, which contains the tenderloin, is the most popular for roasting. The rib or loin end and other loin roasts contain more bone in proportion to meat and generally are priced lower. The shoulder roast is the least expensive cut.

Fresh pork needs to be cooked all the way through both for best flavor and for safety. Important to remember is that pork is safely done when all traces of pink color have disappeared.

'58 Was Light Year for Polio in State

Only 25 Cases with One Death Were Reported

Minnesota had a light polio year in 1958. Only 25 cases with one death were reported to the Minnesota Department of Health; 23 cases were paralytic.

Even though Minnesota experienced its fewest number of polio cases in 11 years, polio epidemics are still possible in the state unless a much greater proportion of the population is protected by vaccine, according to Dr. D. S. Fleming, director of the state health department's division of disease prevention and control.

"The 1958 polio outbreaks in Detroit, New Jersey, Virginia and West Virginia show that many persons are still susceptible to the paralytic forms of the disease. This is particularly true of young children," he states.

Although it is difficult to say how much of the decline in cases since 1955 is due to immunization, Dr. Fleming points out that the Salk vaccine is the only proven, effective protection available to the public. He urges all unvaccinated persons to begin the full course of polio shots now before the onset of the 1959 polio season.

Stan Sandvig Quits Position on City Counc..

Successor as Third Ward Alderman to Be Named by Council

In a surprise announcement at the regular city council meeting Tuesday night, S. C. Sandvig, alderman from the third ward, resigned effective March 1.

Sandvig would give no reason for the move other than the press of business matters. Alderman Roy Lee and S. A. Honebrink were appointed as a committee to make a study of possible successors for the position and to submit their findings for council action. Other nominations can also be made by residents of the ward.

The council approved two commission reappointments recommended by Mayor O. D. Belch. Roy M. Barzen was approved as a member of the city park board and Carl B. Larson as a member of the cemetery commission. Both appointments expire January, 1964. The mayor's request for $300 for his contingency fund was also approved.

A letter from Sen. Roy Wiseth to the council was read asking that a resolution be sent to him asking for the introduction of a bill enabling legislation which would allow the city to refinance bonds. The council asked that the city attorney prepare such a resolution.

A resolution was approved for the payment of $1,106.34 to Jerpbak and Nuese of Marshall for the water and sewer extension in Bratrud's second rearrangement and approval was also given for the payment of $21,738 to the William Ziegler company of Crookston for the motor patrol purchased in December.

The council has called for bids to be opened March 17 for a six-cylinder dump truck of two ton capacity for use by the street department and a second truck of three-quarter ton size for the park department. Bids have also been called for a building with toilet facilities at the tourist park to be opened the same evening.

A request by Alvin Jablinske, street commissioner, for the purchase of an air compressor for use in the department's shop for greasing, spray painting and other work was approved.

A hearing has been set for Monday, April 6, on the request of L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc., for the vacation of a 22 foot by 250 foot piece of property on the east side of State ave. north of the firm's warehouse, for a 20-foot roadway opening on Arnold ave. and the alleyway from the roadway south to the warehouse. The council granted the firm a

Action Deferred on Jointly Buying Rural Fire Truck

City Council Withholds Decision on Proposal until Meeting Feb. 23

In a special meeting with the city council Monday night, 14 representatives of four township boards submitted a proposal for the joint purchase of a fire truck for use in the city and for fires in their townships.

The delegation asked action by the council in favor of the fire truck's purchase to enable them to put the matter on the March election ballots of the townships. Under the proposal, Smiley, Silverton, Norden and Excell townships would each contribute $3,000 toward the purchase of an $18,000 truck which would be based and manned by city personnel. The city would contribute the remaining funds less the amount that would be provided by trading in its 24-year-old truck.

Roy Langevin, city fire chief, again repeated that the old truck needed to be replaced whether or not it was done in conjunction with the township fire departments. The proposed 500-gallon pumper would be partially equipped with equipment from the old truck.

The matter was deferred until a meeting Feb. 23 at 8 p.m., when more details of the proposal will be submitted.

L. B. Hartz Announces Plans for Erecting Warehouse Addition

An addition, more than twice the size of the present warehouse between State and Arnold aves., will be constructed by the L. B. Hartz Stores Wholesale in the near future, it was revealed at a special meeting of the city council Monday evening.

The addition, 208 feet by 322 feet, will be joined to the north side of the present warehouse which is 102 feet by 322 feet, according to L. B. Hartz, president of the company.

The disclosure was made when Hartz and Harry E. Simons, secretary of the firm, appeared before the council with a request that a 20-foot roadway from Arnold ave. to the alley between Arnold and State aves., the alleyway from this point to the present warehouse and the 22x250-foot boulevard on the east side of State ave. be vacated. They also requested that a building permit be granted.

Three homes north of the warehouse will be moved or razed before construction begins and the area will be filled to bring the floor of the addition to car height.

The warehouse east of Arnold ave. will be devoted wholly to the storage of frozen foods, fruits and vegetables in addition to providing office space.

A 50 by 100-foot garage and repair shop will also be constructed at the northwest corner of the new addition.

Simons appeared before the city council Tuesday evening and a motion for a hearing on the vacation of the property was set for Monday, April 6. A building permit was granted subject to the vacation of the property and the approval of the city engineer of the grade levels.

Chief of Grand Forks Air Base Discusses Operation at Rotary

Col. Neil A. Newman, commander of the Grand Forks Air Defense sector, discussed the continental air defense system at the Rotary club luncheon Monday noon and explained the function of the Grand Forks air base in the international operation. The Grand Forks base is one of a number of such stations located south of the Canadian border, others in this area being at Minot, North Dakota, and Duluth.

These bases will be equipped mainly for interceptor operations, he said. From a vast system of radar detectors, extending across the continent in three lines and supplemented by ships at sea, these bases would be alerted to the approach of any over-the-pole enemy planes. The progress of their approach would be piped into great automatic computing machines and this information would be used in the dispatch of intercepting planes or the launching of anti-aircraft missiles.

When completed the Grand Forks base will represent an expenditure of more than a hundred million dollars, Col. Newman stated. He estimated the number of the military and civilian personnel employed at the base at 4,000, representing a total population of at least 8,000.

He stressed the fact that this system of continental defense is a joint operation in which Canadian and American forces participate. The international boundary would be ignored in the event of attack, he authority of the Grand Forks staff extending to the 54th parallel, far north in Manitoba. While the operation is primarily defensive, bomber planes will also be stationed at the base. His talk was illustrated by slides showing several types of ships and missiles that figure in the overall defense structure.

Col. Newman was accompanied by Joe B. Bridston of Grand Forks, a Rotarian of that city.

Banquet Speaker

REV. NORMAN LANDVIK
Pastor of the First Lutheran church of Detroit Lakes, who will be guest speaker at the annual Fathers and Sons banquet in Trinity church, Tuesday evening, February 24, under the sponsorship of the Trinity Men's Brotherhood. Donald Paul, president of the group, will preside, and he will call on Alvin Christofferson to give the toast for the fathers, while the response will be made by his son Gary.

Ninety farmers, homemakers, and businessmen attended a dairy tour held in Pennington county Tuesday. Attending were also a delegation from Roseau and Red Lake counties. The tour included three stops on two grade A milk producing farms, and one grade B, east of Thief River Falls.

At the first stop on the Art Stenberg farm a good producing herd was observed. The herd averages 412 pounds of butterfat. Stenberg pointed out that he started his good herd by buying heifers from high producing dams, in this way holding down costs of going into good dairy stock. He also stated that his dairy barn, fully equipped to handle milk cows, cost ten thousand dollars indicating the general trend in dairying. This trend being more capital investment and less drudgery and hard work in milk production. Stenberg stated that his 40-cow herd is returning a good profit.

County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk explained different record keeping systems. A culling guide which can be obtained from the extension office for 25 cents, would be of much help to a dairy farmer in locating and culling out the "boarder" or unprofitable cows. But whether it's a culling guide, owner sampler, or DHIA, is for the farmer to decide as long as some method of testing is used on the farm, Stalmaschuk stated. The need for some kind of test is indicated by the low county average of milk production per cow. The county average cow produces 6,100 pounds of

Storm Sewer Debated Again Monday Night

Possibility Seen of Compromise on Assessment Plan

The "Battle of Bunker Hill" in northwestern Thief River Falls seemed to move closer to an armistice Monday evening when the hearing on the proposed construction of a storm sewer system into district 3 was continued in the city Auditorium.

Exponents of the entire project and opponents to any construction continued to stick to their guns at the meeting but a definite trend toward some kind of a compromise was apparent.

Some residents from the northern section of the district, referred to by the opposition as from "Bunker Hill," continued to stand firm in their statements that they would derive no benefit from the project and that they would be assessed for something from which only residents south of Sixth st. would gain any advantage. They continued to maintain that water from their area did not flow into the present combination storm-sanitary sewer which has flooded southend basements.

Those in favor of the entire system, both from the "highland" and the "lowland," again repeated their statements that the project "will benefit the whole city" and "will come sooner or later." They pointed to the lower cost today to individual property owners through the use of state funds and asked that the development of the city not be hampered by the rejection of the proposed storm sewer system.

One new development came about during the hearing when Robert Wurst, city attorney, summed up the discussions with the statement that below Sixth st. the residents have a definite drainage problem and that north [illegible] lem of excess surface water or backing up of sanitary sewers.

"The area to the south would gain more by the installation of the proposed system," Wurst said, "while the sole advantage to the residents 'on the hill' would be the possibility that they would, in the future, be able to have street improvements."

"Property values in the area south of Sixth st. would be enhanced by the installation of this storm sewer," Wurst said, "and I doubt that all the residents of the area could legally be assessed at a uniform rate for this project."

Wurst called for an expression of opinion by interested parties to another assessment schedule under which those south of Sixth st. would pay more because of the added benefits they would derive and those north of that street would pay less. Opinions from the floor were mixed with some flatly rejecting such a schedule and others in favor of it.

Young Thieves Given Sentences Thursday

Two local youths were sentenced to the Youth Conservation Commission at St. Cloud last Thursday, thus bringing to an end a string of 15 break-ins dating back to February, 1956, in this city, police said.

John Trickle appeared in district court Thursday, after pleading guilty earlier to a large majority of the break-ins, and was sentenced to an indeterminate term to the YCC at St. Cloud, while Donald J. Klopp was also sentenced to the YCC at St. Cloud but sentence was stayed and he was placed on probation to a YCC agent in the Duluth area.

The break-ins in which the two were involved were as follows, according to police: Feb. 14, 1956, theft of a robe from a car; May 31, 1956, attempted break-in of Grain Belt Dist. Co.; July 4, 1956, break-in and robbery of Ole's Northern Supply. Two guns stolen in the last break-in listed above were recently recovered and their recovery was instrumental in the solution of the other cases.

The other cases were: July 8, 1956, theft of a revolver from a car; August 11, 1956, break-in at Langley-King Co. (now Taxeraas Imp. Co.); Nov. 23, 1956, break-in at the VFW club; Dec. 9, 1956, attempted break-in, Golden Rule grocery; Dec. 14, 1956, break-in Evans Seed and Produce Co.;

Dec. 19, 1956, theft of liquor from a car; May 18, 1957, break-in at Amundgaard-Lunke Co.; June 1, 1957, break-in at Lincoln high school; Nov. 20, 1958, break-in, Evans Seed and Produce Co., and First St. Groc.; Dec. 19, 1958, break-in, Nelson's Groc., and Jan. 13, 1959, break-in Thief River Grain Co.

Klopp or Trickle were involved in all of the above break-ins, either together or with other persons, except that Klopp was not involved in the last four, since he was working in Silver Bay at the time they occurred. Both signed statements saying they had taken part in the break-ins listed.

building permit for an addition to its warehouse subject to the property vacation and the approval by the city engineer of grade levels.

The petition submitted by R. H. Wetenkamp in his application for the construction of a new service station at 501 Riverside ave. was rejected.

Three bids were received by the council for a police squad car but action was delayed until Feb. 23 so that the bids can be examined. Northern Chevrolet, Inc., submitted a bid of $3,106.15 and offered to take the present car in trade for $2,008.15 leaving a balance of $1,088. Forkenbrock Motor Co. submitted a bid of $3,107.60 less $2,047.60 leaving a balance of $1,060 and Tunberg Motor Co. bid $3,022.25 less $1,943.25 leaving a balance of $1,079.

On the request of Harry Hendrickson, superintendent of electric distribution, the council will advertise for bids on a carload of power poles which will cost approximately $2,300 and meter testing equipment which will cost approximately $1,450. Bids will be opened March 17.

The meeting was adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 23.

90 Persons Share in County Dairy Tour on Tuesday

milk; the state average is 6,800 pounds of milk. Both cows would return poor wages for labor, after all other costs are paid.

The DHIA average, on the other hand, is 10,127 pounds of milk per cow. Here the farmers through the testing program have selected cows to a point where one average DHIA cow returns twice as much profit as two average county cows. However, dairy farmers need 400 lb. butterfat herds or 12,000 pounds of 3.5 test milk per cow to make good labor returns. This requires a doubling in production for each dairy cow in the county. A testing program of some type is an essential first step for the required improvement. The high prices on cull cows now offer an excellent opportunity to replace them with high producing animals.

A discussion on quality milk production was held on the Bert Johnson farm. Paul Furuseth, quality man with the co-op creamery, explained the various tests used to check milk for quality. In conducting the tests he told how bacteria, introduced into milk because of poor sanitary conditions, destroy milk quality. He also stated that inadequate or poor cleaning of milk equipment is the most frequent cause for bacterial milk contamination. Rapid milk cooling, clean barns and cows, proper ventilation, and good management all the way, all the time, such as Johnson's, are necessary for quality milk production, Furuseth stated.

Bert Johnson pointed out that less capital requirement was necessary for grade B milk production. Johnson stated that high quality roughage is important for high milk production. Higher state requirement are expected to raise the quality of grade B milk, Furuseth added. The Svendsgaard farm in Cloverleaf township was the last stop on the tour. Dale Svendsgaard pointed out how the herd was developed largely from one cow purchased for 4-H work. The cows in the herd showed excellent quality and were of large capacity. Skyrocket and Rockwood breeding predominated in the herd.

The tour was conducted under the auspices of the local DHIA organization in cooperation with the extension service and the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

istered an objection to the inclusion of his firm's property in the project, another objector asked that the line of demarcation be set at Seventh st. rather than at Sixth st., and a third person asked "why the imaginary line at Sixth?" Others, mainly from the southern area, registered objections to increased assessments for property in their area and decreased assessments for property in the northern section of the city.

Another development at the hearing was a suggestion that the storm sewer be extended only as far north as Sixth st. On one hand, there were those who agreed with this plan with the provision that the mains be large enough to handle the northern area in future years if the system were extended. Part of the cost of the larger mains would be assessed to property owners in the northern part of the district.

On the other hand, there were those who agreed with such a system but only if the mains were built large enough to handle only the southern district. This would require no assessment of people in the northern part of the city, they argued.

The meeting was adjourned until 8 o'clock Monday evening, March 2, when the matter will be further discussed. In the meantime, the council will meet with D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer for the city, to work out different plans for assessment for presentation at the next meeting.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

Every disagreement in the world, especially those involving money, require some compromise before final decisions are made. Granted that this results in solutions which never satisfy either side but it is seldom that both the "pros" and the "cons" of disagreements can both leave the bargaining table feeling that they have gained everything they wanted.

Such seems to be the case in the prolonged hearings on the storm sewer project proposed for district three on the west side of the city. The most vocal of the project supporters want the complete system to the northern border of the district with no compromises. The most active and vocal members of the opposition want no part of the project—the financial part of it, that is.

At the risk of being ridden out of town on a rail by a tar-and-feather party composed of both proponents and opponents to the project, may I suggest an alternative to plans already suggested which would possibly take care of the problems of the lowlanders, reduce the assessment of those to the north and still provide for the expansion of the system in the future when the majority of persons above the Sixth street dividing line want storm sewers installed to provide for modern drainage of streets they will some day want?

The compromise, as I said before, will not completely satisfy anyone but I doubt if any solution will be adopted which does not compromise in some way.

The problem, stated simply, is this: (1) Those who live south of Sixth street are having an overabundance of "basement trouble" which would be solved if storm sewers are provided in their area. (2) Those north of Sixth street have no water in their basements and the soil, in general, takes care of much of the runoff.

Providing storm sewer mains for the southern section which would be inadequate in later years to handle an extension of the system further north would be foolhardy. On the other hand, it would not be fair, at least it seems to me, to tax the northerners out of proportion to the future benefits they would receive. It would also be unfair to assess southern landowners for the increased cost of the oversize mains which they would not need but which would benefit the residents of "Bunker Hill" in future years.

If the majority of residents of the district who live north of Sixth street feel that they would be paying a disproportionate share of the cost of this project, and I have never seen or heard of an accurate poll of the landowners of this area, stop the project at Sixth street but still provide for the future.

The difference in the cost of sewer mains which would provide adequately for future expansion and those which would be inadequate is comparatively small. This amount could be shared equally by the ultimately benefited people on "Bunker Hill" or, if that small assessment still met resistance by the majority of people in that area, the city could pay the difference at the present time. The amount that the city would pay would, as one person stated, be for the benefit of the entire city for the present time but would be assessed against property owners of the northern part of the district in the future when the system is extended. A fair amount of interest would be added, of course.

In the event that the storm sewer project in district three does not include the entire district, however, the generosity of the city council in allotting two years of state aid would necessarily have to be reduced by a year. The project as a whole would be one of the largest and most expensive in the city and a reduction in its size without a corresponding reduction in the amount of state aid funds would be taxing the other residents of the city to too great a degree. Those funds are too badly needed for other city projects such as street improvements. The reduction in funds would, therefore mean a greater share of the project costs would have to be assumed by those in the district.

There is no doubt that a new storm sewer system is needed in at least part of district three there is no question that any district which wants modern surfaced streets must first have such a facility and there is no debating the question that such improvements must come if Thief River Falls is to grow and prosper.

The only question seems to be just how rapidly the city can modernize its facilities today without putting an undue burden on the taxpayers.

Many of the headaches which we are facing must apparently be laid on the doorsteps of city governments of the past who were "good" because they kept the mill rate down to a ridiculously low level at the expense of the city's future. For this, the present mayor and council are taking a lot of blame. I do not envy them their jobs.

Culkins Explains ASC Cost-sharing Plans

Special Pennington county cost-sharing practices available to participants in the county ASC program were outlined today by P. W. Culkins, office manager, as follows:

F-1(c) Establishment of additional acreages of vegetative cover in crop rotation to retard erosion and to improve soil structure, permeability, or water holding capacity. —This practice is applicable only to cropland which needs such cover to retard erosion or to improve soil structure, permeability, or water-holding capacity, and to types of cover which will protect land until at least August 1, 1961.

Federal cost-sharing will be limited to that acreage which the county committee determines represents a desirable increase over what would be the normal plantings of eligible crops on the farm in 1959 under the normal crop rotation for the farm.

In making this determination, consideration should be given to the need for this practice on cropland which the farmer intends to divert from the production of crops for which allotments are established for the farm for 1959. The "normal acreage" for a farm shall not be less than the average of the rotation plantings on the farm for the years 1956, 1957 and 1958.

A suitable seedbed must be established by plowing, disking or springtoothing and performing such other operations as are necessary for the establishment of a satisfactory seedbed. The area seeded must be protected from continuous grazing until a stand is established. Periodic grazing to hold down the companion crop is permissible.

Eligible legumes are alfalfa, red clover and alsike clover.

Eligible grasses are bromegrass, timothy and meadow fescue.

An application of commercial fertilizer is required unless it is established to the satisfaction of the county committee that it is not needed. The application of fertilizer for which federal cost-sharing is authorized must be made at or before the time of seeding.

Seeding requirements—At least 8 pounds per acre of wilt-resistant and adapted varieties of alfalfa, or 6 pounds of red clover, or 4 pounds of alsike clover when seeded alone, or 10 pounds per acre of a mixture of red clover, or 2 pounds of alsike clover.

Maximum federal cost-share: (a) $2 per acre for seedbed preparation, seed, and seeding. (b) 4 cents per pound for the application of a minimum of 45 pounds of available plant food per acre. (Nitrogen alone will not qualify for cost-sharing).

W. C. T. U. News Notes

A WCTU meeting was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Bjorkman. Mrs. Earle Ripley, president, called the meeting to order. Devotions were given by Mrs. Mellem. The Christian Citizenship department was reported on by Mrs. Torkel Ose. She stated we must remember always that our American way of life depends on active participation in its governmental affairs by all the people who constitute its citizenry.

In a recent issue of "National Voice," the editor Ethel Hubler, wrote a fitting answer to comment by columnist Inez Robb, which appear in many of the nation's newspapers.

The 18th amendment closed 177,790 saloons. We have nearly one-half million today under repeal.

The 18th amendment reduced the national drink habit from 22.16 units per capita in 1914 (wet) to 8.96 units in 1930 (dry). Was that bad for our American homes?

Evangeline Booth, head of the Slavation Army, said that the 18th amendment wiped out 80 per cent of the suffering in laborers' families.

The April, 1958, Wall Street Jounal carried a feature article on "Problem Drinkers in Industry." One business head stated, "Alcoholism's direct cost to industry is in excess of one billion dollars annually." Is this good for industry?

The fact that Inez Robb is a woman makes her articles less understandable when we read the daily papers and see what legalized liquor is doing to the womanhood of America. Her attack on the Women's Christian Temperance Union should cause thousands of good women to become aligned with this organization.

Mrs. Earle Ripley reported on three of the organization's departments. Spiritual life stressed daily devotions in the home and Bible study; win others to Christ, visit the aged, distribute literature and tracts. Miss Lola Lynch, state head of visual education, furnishes excellent films on the harmful effects of alcohol and smoking, which schools use. The armed services department can use quite a number of items we are able to make at home.

Mrs. B. J. Johnson and Mrs. Iver Nelson served lunch.

Slow Down — and Live.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

New Ideas in corn planting and weed control made corn raising a more pleasant experience for Elmer Wirt and his son Russell last summer. On their farm near Lewiston, they planted corn directly on freshly-plowed ground by the "wheel-track" method and sprayed the rows with simazin. This saved time and expense through eliminating much of the field work. The chemical dealt a death blow to the annual weeds in the field.

Less tractor power was needed on the Don Haaland farm last year. The reason: contour strip cropping. Don, a cooperator in the Rice county soil conservation district, put the strips in last spring and found he lost less soil and had an easier time pulling machinery, since the strips put his work "on the level." He plans to put in more terraces and contour strips this year.

Twenty-seven farmers in five north central counties will be using more than 100 tons of fertilizer in test demonstrations during 1959. This project will be in cooperation with county agents and University of Minnesota extension specialists. The idea is to aid in farm and home development through proper fertilizing, complete record keeping, improved cropping systems and in-farm enterprise arrangement. The project will run for at least five years, with farm conservation plans as basic tools.

Contour strips, diversion construction, wheel-track planting and sod waterways controlled soil erosion and sent more rain water into the soil on the Eymard Orth farm in Stearns county. Orth recently told Clayton C. Hart, U.S. soil conservationist, that strips and the diversified boosted his yields by a fourth. He was picked as outstanding conservation farmer for the area in 1958.

Big Attendance at Sportsmen's Club

Milan Borsheim Shows Slides of Alaska Trip

An unusually large number of sportsmen, their wives and children turned out for the monthly meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmens club Tuesday.

The presence of the lady members points up the fact that sportsmans club activities are no longer the exclusive domain of the men of the family, club President James Lee stated. He urged that even more wives share their husbands' activities in outdoor sports and conservation activities and attend club meetings.

Two conservation films were shown prior to a short business session. Following adjournment Milan Borsheim showed colored slides of his hunting and fishing trips while in the service in Alaska a few years ago.

The evening was topped off by a lunch served by the committee headed by Robert Mattson.

New Type of Chocolate

Chocolate bars that melt in your mouth but won't melt in the wrapper — even in hot weather — may soon be here.

Such chocolate bars have been made at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Southern Utilization Division in New Orleans. Scientists found they could keep the chocolate firm during the hottest weather by adding small amounts of completely hydrogenated fats. This hard fat forms a rigid framework around the cocoa butter, keeping the chocolate firm. Even when temperatures go up into the high 90's, this chocolate stays firm, holds its shape and retains oils that normally leak out.

Research is being continued to adapt the findings to commercial chocolate bars.

Refrozen Orange Juice

Many homemakers ask what happens to canned orange juice concentrate when it has thawed out and then refrozen.

J. D. Winter, in charge of the food processing laboratory at the University of Minnesota, says such orange juice is perfectly safe to use. There is little if any loss of vitamin C in orange juice that has thawed and refrozen, but there will be changes in flavor. Most evident will be the tendency of the orange juice to separate.

To maintain the original quality of orange juice, Winter suggests that consumers keep the concentrate frozen in the home freezer until they are ready to use it.

See you next week.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—My wife and I are both veterans, eligible for GI loans. If we go in together on a real-estate loan for business purposes, would the amount of VA's guarantee be doubled?

A—Yes. On a real-estate loan for a business, the maximum guarantee for an individual veteran is $4,000; so you and your wife could get an $8,000 maximum guarantee. However, VA's guarantee may not exceed 50 per cent of the total loan.

Q—I want to take a college course under the War Orphans Education Act, but cannot complete it by age 23 since I did not become eligible until I was 21, when my father died. May schooling continue beyond age 23 in my case?

A—Yes. In cases where the veteran-parent dies after a son or daughter is 18 but yet 23, the eligible orphans has until five years after the death of the parent to complete school. In no case may schooling extend beyond the 31st birthday.

Q—Can the proceeds of a GI insurance policy paid to a beneficiary be attached by creditors?

A—No. Such proceeds are exempted by law from the claims of creditors. They may not be seized or attached to pay debts.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran, with an "RS" type GI term insurance policy, which I am going to convert to one of VA's permanent insurance plans. Can I borrow against my permanent plan insurance as soon as it is issued?

A—No. You must hold your new permanent plan insurance one year before you have the right to borrow on it.

GIRL MECHANICS SKILESS JUMPERS.

The unusual is nearly always news. As witness: Two-month-old Lester Dean Carlson, Fergus Falls, has an excellent birthday and Christmas outlook with four grandparents and five great-grandparents . . For violating an ordinance against firearms when he shot a predatory crow in his own Austin backyard, Municipal Judge McMillan paid a $10 fine in his own court. . . There was a reason why a Warba youngster sat quietly through a church service—his finger was caught in a hole in the seat; took a couple of careful carpenters to get him loose. . . Tracy claims Minnesota's only all-girl class in auto mechanics—14 of 'em at high school every Thursday night. . . As Chuck Ryan of St. Paul sailed into a championship ski-jump at Duluth his skis plummeted in another direction and he made a spectacular 50 yard jump ending in a 50 yard baseball slide.

Newfolden Shows 16 Wins, 2 Losses

Nordics Face Greenbush in Subdistrict Monday

Newfolden ended regular season play with a 49 to 31 victory over the Oklee Bobcats in a game played at Newfolden Tuesday, 17th. This leaves the Nordics with a 16-2 record for the season. Dennis Bakke was high point man for the Nordics and took high honors for the evening with 23 points. Wendell Hagenbeck added 16 markers to aid the Nordic cause. Vincent Austad and Jerry Solheim were high for the Bobcats with 13 and 10 points respectively.

With two Senior regulars, Bobby Dahl and John Haglund on the sick list and Junior forward, Don Engelsrud suffering from a sprained ankle, Coach John Junker sent two seniors one junior and two sophomores into the game. They jumped ahead from the start and were never headed. The Nordics held a slim 8-5 advantage at the end of the first quarter and went to the shower room at halftime with a 21 to 11 lead. The Bobcats cut this lead to 8 points at the third period stop, 27 to 19. A big 22 fourth quarter resulted from the lift added by the appearance of two more regulars, John Haglund and Don Engelsrud to the lineup.

Pairings have been set up for the East Sub-District 32 tournament with the first place Nordics playing last place Greenbush in the second game of the first night, Monday, February 23rd. Greenbush will have the advantage of playing on their own floor. The Nordics have defeated the Tigers twice during the season, 53 to 24 and 63 to 28. The Roseau Rams and Williams Wolves play the curtain raiser.

Prowler Six Gets Sendoff Tuesday

Carrying the best wishes of the townsfolk and the resounding cheers of their fellow classmates, the hockey Prowlers and their coaches, John Matchefts and Dave Rogers, left town in a four-car caravan on Tuesday morning enroute to St. Paul and the state high school hockey tournament. The Prowlers, as runners-up to Region Eight, gained a state tournament berth as the Region Three representatives.

On Tuesday morning, the Prowlers were the guests at a half-hour student pep fest held in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Mayor Orion Beich, in behalf of the city, and Sig Quam, in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed appreciation for the record that the Prowlers had compiled this season, and forwarded the best wishes of the city as the team began its trek to St. Paul.

The Prowler co-captains, Jerry Jorgenson and Neil Carlson, in behalf of the team, presented to Lincoln high school principal Miles Nelson the Region Eight runner-up trophy that the Prowlers earned last week.

The state high school tournament, an eight-team tourney, will get under way this afternoon with International Falls of Region Seven playing Robbinsdale of Region Six at 2:00 p.m. At 3:30 p.m. the Prowlers, as the Region Three entry, will play Roseau of Region Eight. At 7:30 p.m., South St. Paul of Region Two will meet Minneapolis Patrick Henry of Region one; and at 9:00 p.m. St. Paul Johnson of Region Four will play Minneapolis Washburn of Region Five.

The losers of the first round games will begin a consolation series on Friday afternoon; while the first round winners will engage in semi-finals games on Friday night. The state championship finals will be played at 9:00 p.m. on Saturday night.

Halstad 'B' Quint Bows to Prowlers

Locals Score Decisive 43-24 Victory Tuesday

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team possessed too much all-round scoring ability, and manpower, for the Halstad 'B' team on Tuesday night, and the result was that the local 'B' team rolled up a decisive 43 to 24 win in a preliminary game to the Prowlers vs. Halstad Pirates varsity basketball game.

With the Prowler 'B' team "starters" playing the first period, the local squad piled up an 18 to 3 lead, and a 28 to 5 lead at the intermission.

Bonspiel Supper at Legion Feb. 21

Mulligan Stew to Be Followed by Dancing

Officers of the Ecklund Holmstrom American Legion post have planned a special celebration for next Saturday, Feb. 21, in cooperation with the curling club bonspiel to be held this weekend.

The event will take the form of an invitational bonspiel mulligan stew feed with all members of all curling clubs to be admitted free as guests of the Legion. The feed is also open to all Legionnaires and their guests at a nominal charge.

Albert Olson, a Legionnaire from Roseau, has been secured as the chef in charge of preparing the stew.

A bonspiel dance will be held at the Legion club at 9:30 following the supper. The Irv Lester orchestra from Detroit Lakes will supply music.

I have no other ambition so great as that of being truly esteemed of my fellow men, by rendering myself worthy of their esteem. —Lincoln.

The Roarin' Game

Thirty-two rinks, with about one-half of that number being Canadian squads, will participate in the 3rd annual States-Dominion bonspiel in the Arena on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The opening draw, with local rinks in the majority, will take place on Friday night. The influx of outside rinks will occur on Saturday, and from then on until the event finals on Sunday night, the Arena will resound to the booming of the "roarin' game".

In addition to the crashing of rock against rock, and the rumble of the stones as they glide down the "pebbled" ice, spectators will hear such exotic phrases as "in the hack"; "over the hog"; "into the house"; "on the button"; "too much weight"; "too little weight"; "in-turn draw"; and "shot rock".

The officials of the local curling club, and the club members, extend an invitation to all sports fans to attend one or more of the bonspiel sessions.

It's quite a game.

The Region's Best

We doubt very much if we will receive very solid arguments against our placing in nomination for the region's best, or rather, the region's most valuable hockey player, the name of Roseau's Dale Olson.

Olson, who plays at right defense for coach Oscar Almquist's regional champion Rams, has been a bulwark, both on defense and offense, during the season which found Roseau rolling up twenty-eight straight wins. The hard-shooting defenseman has been a particular thorn in the side of the Prowlers during the season, scoring six goals in three games against the locals. And the season isn't over, as the two teams, Roseau and the Prowlers, meet in a state tournament game this afternoon.

That coach Almquist is aware of Olson's all-round value to the Roseau club is evidenced by the playing time that the blond youngster puts in for the Rams. Against the Warroad Warriors in a regional tournament game last week, Olson played all but fifty-three seconds in the first period, all but a minute in the second period, and all but a minute and a half (when he was serving a penalty) in the third period.

Dale Olson, along with center Jim Stordahl, are undoubtedly the key players in Roseau's powerful all-round game. It's good news to the other teams in the region to know that these two boys will be graduating this spring.

Couldn't Be Tougher

The Prowlers, as the Region Three entrant, will compete in the state high school hockey tournament that begins this afternoon on the spacious ice sheet of the St. Paul Auditorium. And the Prowlers couldn't be in a tougher bracket than that in which they are paired.

In a first round game, with face-off time at 3:30 p.m. the Prowlers will meet the ever-winning Roseau Rams. In the first game of the afternoon, facing off at 2:00 p.m., the International Falls Broncos, the conquerors of Eveleth and Coleraine to win the Region Seven title, will play the Robins of Robbinsdale of Region Six. The Broncos are top-heavy favorites to defeat the Robins.

By all the odds, the state championship should be decided on the outcome of Friday night's first game. And that game, according to the season's records, should find International Falls playing Roseau. During the season, the Rams scored a pair of wins over the Broncos, but not by much.

The Prowlers, who dropped a 5 to 1 decision to Roseau in a Region Eight finals game on Friday night, will have center Dale Wennberg back in the lineup. Wennberg suffered a shoulder injury in the Prowlers' 5 to 2 win over Baudette on Thursday night. There was some doubt whether or not the efficient Prowler center would play against the Rams today, but last night a report was received stating that Lloyd Stein, the University of Minnesota athletic trainer, had expressed the opinion that Dale would be ready for the game.

Prowler Quint Trips Halstad Team 65-48

Not until midway in the third period were the Prowlers able to pull away from a small and aggressive Halstad Pirates team, and go on to win a 65 to 48 decision in an inter-district basketball game played here on Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will continue their 1958-59 schedule on Friday night when they travel to East Grand Forks for a 31st district and Northwest conference game against the East Grand Forks Little Green Wave.

In Tuesday night's hurly-burly game played here, the Prowlers had their troubles in subduing the fast-moving Pirates from Halstad. Trailing by a 12 to 9 score in the late minutes of the first period, Mickey Hanson hit on a jump shot, Ron Hanson rolled in a hook shot, and Lynn Nicholson tallied a pair of free throws to give the locals a 15 to 12 lead.

Mickey Hanson took charge of the Prowler scoring in the second period, swishing five field goals, and all on jumpers from the outside, into the west basket, giving coach Alan Adams' squad a 29 to 24 lead at the intermission.

The Pirates, utilizing a fast break and finishing off their scoring plays well, kept within reach of the Prowlers to the midway mark of the third stanza, when Phil Hanson scored a pair of field goals, Mickey Hanson tallied a field goal and a pair of free throws, Bob Pearson tapped in a rebound shot, and Lynn Nicholson added a free throw point, boosting the Prowlers into a 45 to 36 lead.

The Prowlers outpointed the Pirates, 20 to 12, in the final quarter to post their 65 to 48 win, and their tenth victory of the year against four losses.

Mickey Hanson took over the game's high point honors, scoring ten field goals and three free throws for a 23-point performance. Phil Hanson followed with fifteen points. The leading scorers for coach Ray Kerrigan's squad were Dave Rien, with 14 points, and Roger Wiese, with 12 points.

Crookston Hockey Pirates Lead Loop

Roseau Cloverleafs Pick up 6 Points in Week's Play

Northwest Hockey League

Thief River Falls	5	6	2	12
Grand Forks	3	6	4	10

Results of the week's games:
Fargo, 5, at Roseau, 10.
Roseau, 10, at Crookston, 8.
Fargo, 5, at Thief River Falls, 8.

This week's schedule:
Saturday, Feb. 21
Crookston at Roseau.
Sunday, Feb. 22
Roseau at Grand Forks.
Thief River Falls at Crookston.
Wednesday, Feb. 25
Grand Forks at Thief River Falls.

The Roseau Cloverleafs picked up six points during the week's play, defeating the Fargo Flyers, 10 to 5, at Roseau, and then edging out the league-leading Crookston Pirates, 10 to 8, at Crookston to make a big spurt in the league standings. The Leafs trail by Pirates by two points, and it's probable that Saturday night's game at Roseau, between Crookston and the Cloverleafs, will decide the league championship.

The Thief River Falls Thieves, the defending league champions, moved up into third place in the league standings by defeating the Fargo Flyers, 8 to 5, in a four-point tilt played here Sunday afternoon.

Only four games remain to be played on the league schedule, with Crookston at Roseau on Saturday night; Thief River Falls at Crookston, and Roseau at Grand Forks on Sunday afternoon; and the Grand Forks Jets tentatively slated to play here on Wednesday night.

The league playoffs, according to present plans, will begin on Saturday night, March 28.

Youth Learn Traffic Safety at Session in St. Paul February 23

Delegates from more than 400 Minnesota schools are expected to be present during the Governor's Youth Traffic Safety Conference in St. Paul, Monday, February 23.

The state-wide meeting climaxes a series of 80 county and local conferences held throughout Minnesota last fall. Monday's meeting will consider recommendations from the local conferences covering driver training, attitudes, age for licensing, enforcement and driving behavior. Charles Rambeck and Stan Wilson will represent Lincoln high school, and will be accompanied by Steve Austin.

"The conference is of particular interest at this time," Alan Verson, St. Paul, president of the Governor's Youth Council, said, "because of the legislative interest in the problems of youthful driving. The local meetings have considered those points which affect their age groups. Their delegates are prepared to present proposals on both legislative and other controls which they feel can be worked out to be the best advantage of everyone."

Verson is also co-chairman of the safety meeting with Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director.

Morning sessions of the conference will begin at 9:00 A.M. in Stem Hall of the St. Paul auditorium. Delegates will be assigned to panel groups to permit greater discussion. Recommendations of the morning panels will be reported in the afternoon to a general assembly of all delegates for appropriate action.

During the afternoon, emphasis will be placed on what youth can do to help in the overall traffic picture. A youth "Principles of Behavior" has been proposed in the county meetings and will be presented for adoption.

A feature at the opening of the conference will be the appearance of Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Diane Schroeder of Rindal, who will be hostess for a hospitality get-together Sunday evening in Hotel St. Paul. This is sponsored by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee in Commendation of the safety efforts of the many 4-H chapters.

Easter Seal Group to Hold Screening Session Feb. 28th

To Hold Interviews at Crookston for Children Referred to Speech Camp

The Easter Seal Society (Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults) will hold a screening center in the county nurse's office of the Crookston Court house on Saturday, February 28, to interview parents and children who have been referred to the Easter Seal speech camp. The interviews will begin at 9:00 A.M. and run until 2:00 P.M.

The Crookston screening center area includes Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and parts of Becker, Beltrami, Clay, Clearwater, Lake of the Woods and Mahnomen counties.

Children from this area have been referred to the Easter Seal Society by school and county nurses, school teachers, principals, and superintendents, county welfare boards and speech therapists. All children who have been referred by these sources have been sent appointment cards for the screening center.

Other children with speech problems who have not been referred or received an appointment card, should contact Mrs. Lilja Snyder, county nurse's office, Courthouse, Crookston, Minnesota, immediately, according to W. B. Schoenbohm, executive director of the Easter Seal Society.

The Easter Seal Speech Camp is located 10 miles north of Stillwater, Minnesota on the St. Croix River.

Railroad Freight Rate Boost OK'd

RR & W Commission Grants 5 Pct. Hike on Some Items

Minnesota railroads Monday were granted a 5 per cent increase in all freight rates, with certain exceptions, by the state railroad and warehouse commission in St. Paul.

Otto Radke, commission rate expert, said the increase will total about one million dollars a year. He said the intrastate hikes are in line with interstate rates already in effect.

The increases are effective March 2.

The commission rejected requests for increases on grain and grain products, fresh vegetables, sugar beets, straw, flax, sand, gravel and crushed rock, agricultural limestone, wood bolts, short logs, jackpine and aspen timber.

The commission excepted livestock moving between South St. Paul and Duluth.

On rough quarried granite and sawed slabs the increase was limited to a maximum of 30 per cent, but not in excess of 12 cents per net ton.

'U' Economist Views 1959 Farm Situation

Although over-all farm prospects for 1959 are less favorable than for last year, Minnesota farmers can make several choices to keep up their incomes this year.

A University of Minnesota agricultural economist says, each farmer will be wise to keep his program flexible. S. A. Engene says in the current issue of "Minnesota Farm Business Notes" that if you buy new equipment or new buildings, make sure they're the type that allow you to make rapid changes in enterprises and practices. "Farm Business Notes" is an extension publication.

Engene sumarizes the overall farm situation as follows:

CROPS—No important changes in crop rotations likely for this year. Engene says some farmers who substituted other crops for corn may increase corn acreage but farmers who did not stay within allotments before and fed all their corn to livestock will have no incentive to increase. Wheat prospects will depend largely on the wheat programs. Soybeans look like a good crop for 1959, but acreage expansion should be limited.

DAIRY—More favorable outlook than for several years. Production in 1958 was slightly below 1957 for the nation as a whole. Any increase in 1959 will be a small one and dairy surpluses are low, with little prospect for increase. There are 3½ million fewer dairy cattle than there were 12 years ago, although production per cow has been steadily increasing. Dairy prices will continue near support levels, which are a little under last year.

BEEF—Fairly good for the farmer who buys, feeds and sells wisely. Numbers of cattle are increasing and will reach a new high in a few years. There will be a fairly constant number of cattle slaughtered during the coming year or two, but it will increase by 1961 and beef cattle prices will eventually go down.

Feeder cattle prices have been running high during the past two years and will probably stay high for another year or two. This, according to Engene, is because cattlemen are holding heir young heifers to build up cow numbers. But as the number of feeder cattle increases, prices will eventually come down to be in line with slaughter prices. Lowering feeder cattle prices will eventually mean lower returns for farmers with beef cow herds.

There will continue to be profit in finishing feeder cattle and there will be a particular advantage for farmers in or near the Corn Belt. However, competition for feeder cattle could keep prices up and keep profits at modest levels, according to Engene.

HOGS—Lower prices in view for this fall. The nation is starting upward on the "cycle" of hog numbers; the number of pigs farrowed and saved between last June and coming May will probably be higher than it has been for 6 years. Lower beef supplies may prevent a sharp decline in hog prices this year, but Engene still advises hog producers to plan on the basis of lower returns.

POULTRY—Low egg prices likely for the first half of 1959. Because of this, the number of hens kept for fall, 1959 may decrease, which would mean higher prices this fall. However, Engene feels the changes in prices are not great enough to justify any important change in production plans.

Engene sees a long run trend toward more specialized production in poultry, with fewer and larger flocks. The return per 100 dollars feed dropped by a fourth—from $200 to $150—in the last 25 years. High production rates and high labor efficiency make it possible for large flocks to get satisfactory returns with these narrower margins, Engene says. However, the small farm flock can compete only when the family is well-skilled in poultry management and when poultry make a good use for family labor.

Turkeys will continue to be a specialized enterprise, according to Engene. Production may increase again in 1959, hold profit margins down.

OUR TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR IN THE HAPPINESS BUSINESS

When it comes to picking the best business to be in, we think the Savings and Loan Business wins by a smile. It's a happiness producing business.

We are specialists in two jobs: 1. Providing the financial help families need to buy homes; 2. Providing thrifty people with a safe, profitable place to save.

Write down all the things that produce happiness. You will find that home ownership and money in reserve are high on your list. Growth to us represents progress to the thousands of people we serve in the happiness business.

From $2,500 to $6,000,000 in assets in twenty-five years, that's our record and we're mighty proud of it. And now to celebrate this achievement, as the First Federal's gift to the people of this community, a new Time and Temperature Sign will be installed high on the pylon of our building. The installation will be made early in the spring and will alternately flash the correct time and temperature twenty-four hours each day and seven days a week. The picture of this sign is proudly displayed in our lobby.

Editorials . . .

"Let your heart feel for the afflictions and distresses of every one, and let your hand give in proportion to your purse; remembering always the estimation of the widow's mite, that it is not every one that asketh that deserves charity; all, however, are worthy of the inquiry, or the deserving may suffer. Do not conceive that fine clothes make fine men, any more than fine feathers make fine birds. A plain, genteel dress is more admired, obtains more credit than lace and embroidery, in the eyes of the judicious and sensible."

Tax On Households

One of the valid reasons raised in support of the repeal of the personal property tax on household goods is the fact that it produces comparatively little revenue. On the other side of the argument is the also-good reason that this is one tax that is spread over a large number of people, for many of whom it is the only tax paid directly and painfully.

With the exception of that small portion of the tax that goes to the state, all of the revenue is used to pay the costs of local government. If the tax on household goods were eliminated then other local taxes would have to be increased proportionately. For home owners and the owners of farms the repeal of the tax on household goods probably would provide no relief.

Considering the fact that government, at all levels, is seeking more tax revenue and exploring new tax sources, there probably would be greater justification for tax revision that would make the tax on household goods more productive than to drop it entirely. There is much to be said in support of the idea that all who earn a living in a community should make some contribution toward the cost of its government and its schools. Present conditions justify a broadening of the tax base, and making household goods tax exempt would reduce rather than increase the number of taxpayers.

Rather than exempt all household goods it probably would be more equitable to require each household to pay a minimum, and at least enough to cover the cost of assessment and accounting. That would not be imposing an unjust burden on any citizen for whom all the many services of government are available.

And We Don't Get Much

From our observation school board members are not a well informed group of officials. County board and city council members seem to know much more about the particular problems with which they have to deal. Maybe this is because the problems with which county boards and city councils have to deal are more down to earth. Whatever the cause may be, paraphrasing an oil company's advertising slogan, we don't expect much from school boards and we don't get it.

But while we do not expect much, we nevertheless are surprised to find our school boards, through their state association, recommending that our schools must spend more money or have their state aids cut. Such resolutions from teachers' groups, demanding bigger per pupil expenditures, meaning pay increases, are understandable. Just why the school boards should demand that the legislature force them to spend more or take a cut in state aid is hard to figure out.

Such action by the state association proves that the average school board member in the state knows little about the business of operating a school district and has little voice in the actual management. Maybe we should consider hiring business executives to manage the business end of our education mills and limit the responsibilities of the trained educators to the problems of instruction.

No Need For Pump Priming

In an editorial on "Postponable Spending" the St. Paul Pioneer Press properly points out that with prospects good for a record year in construction, there is little justification for increased federal aid for public housing and slum clearance at this time. Discussing the bill that has been passed by the Democrat-controlled United States Senate, it states:

"The Senate bill would raise the housing expenditure by about a billion dollars. It provides among other departures from the presidential program for 35,000 public housing units; the president has proposed that there be no new authorization beyond the existing carry-over of 10,000 units.

"Apart from the inflationary stimulus in this expenditure, there is another reason why this form of public construction should be kept within the smaller rather than the larger program.

"Official forecasts point toward a record year in construction. This year may be the first on record in which spending on construction of all kinds will exceed 50 billion. The estimate for the year is 52 billions. Private residential building was on the downgrade in 1956 and 1957, but last year rose again to the highest level since the 1955 boom. Without any new stimulus, private and public residential building combined is expected to rise by about 11 per cent over last year from 18 billions to 20.5 billions.

"It would therefore seem to follow that this is a good year to let the natural recovery follow its course, and stretch out public programs such as this legislation promotes into other years when the prospects may not be as optimistic as those of 1959.

"The administration last year successfully resisted pressure for massive stimulation of the economy on the grounds that it would turn the recession around into an inflationary boom. The recovery from the recession has vindicated this policy. It would be strange folly to embrace during recovery the dangers which were averted during the recession.

As the Pioneer Press points out, with what appears to be a building boom in the making, now is not the time for federal pump-priming. Tossing additional government billions into a construction market that already will be operating at capacity would add dangerously to the inflationary pressures, and construction costs would be forced still higher.

Far better that Congress make a special effort at this time to strengthen the financial condition of the government itself. Just why some of our farm-state representatives in Congress, who constantly make a great to-do about their great love for the farmer, can support a program that is so inflationary and so opposed to the best interests of agriculture, is a thing very difficult to understand.

Two Sound Statements

(Hoard's Dairyman)

When the elected leaders of some 500,000 dairy farmers met in annual convention in Boston recently they heard two significant statements, one by the president of the National Milk Producers Federation and the other by the senior United States senator from the dairy state of Vermont.

Russell S. Waltz of Seattle, president of the National Milk Producers Federation, said, "In a business era of expansion and enlarging operations, the dairy cooperatives must strive toward even greater efficency and be alert to advantages to be gained by producers through both horizontal and vertical integration."

Later in the convention, Senator George D. Aiken said, "If dairymen make up their minds to exercise the combined bargaining power of the dairy cooperatives of America . . . no labor union and no industrial organization would be in a more favorable position." He went on to warn, "Legislation is necessary to provide tools for dairymen to work with, but dependency on government for ultimate regulation of production and pricing and farm operation is an undependable reed to cling to."

Please note that Waltz emphasized "both horizontal and vertical integration." We are pleased to see this emphasis on horizontal integration because there has been much in the public press and from the rostrum recently on vertical integration. It seems to be the popular subject of the day. Because it is popular, many who are not well-informed assume that it holds a panacea for agricultural ills.

While vertical integration can bring some economy through greater efficiencies, it does not hold much promise insofar as materially affecting farm income. Combined with horizontal integration, however, in which producers of a commodity cooperate nationwide across the board, we find the prospect of very material gains to be realized.

Undoubtedly this is what Senator Aiken was referring to when he spoke of dairymen exercising "the combined bargaining power of the dairy cooperatives of America." We agree with him in this observation and also on his comment concerning dependency on government. It is unfortunately true, however, that horizontal integration of dairy cooperatives needs government facilitation and approval.

Without that approval and a check in the public interest, a giant cooperative of dairy farmers takes on all the aspects of a monopoly or cartel which is foreign to our economic life.

Such a combination would, undoubtedly, be broken by the courts and leave farmers in the their economic problems than they were in the 1930's and in the mid-50's.

Somewhere must be found a means of permitting dairymen to work cooperatively on a national basis and within the framework of the anti-trust and antimonopoly legislation which has proved so desirable in our recent history.

Here is the key area of cooperation which should be explored by dairy cooperative leaders and the members of the Congress. Here are the only realistic prospects for any material degree of economic stability in our time.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

Orville L. Freeman

I am pleased to note how many of the members of the Minnesota Legislature report regularly to the people in their home districts, by columns in their local papers and by broadcasts over local radio stations. This is the kind of thing that makes democracy really work, by making it possible for citizens to know and understand what is going on in government.

Government and the People

I have always tried to make use of every opportunity I had to report to the people. For the next few weeks I plan to speak in eight cities, in all parts of the state, about major problems that face this session of our Legislature. I hope to listen as well as to speak. I hope that we can develop real discussion, that by a question and answer procedure we can develop among the citizens of Minnesota a more thorough understanding of the problems of government than ever before.

Services and the Budget

The principal subject under discussion at these meetings will be the proposed budget. I hope to have the chance to answer questions regarding the importance and the necessity of the services provided by our state government. I hope to have the opportunity to explain why I believe that the proposals I have made for the financing of these services are the fairest and most constructive that we could devise.

Learning What People Want

It is hard to know just what the majority of the people think about any particular issue. However, we can get some idea from those who do express their opinions, either through the newspapers or through letters and personal contacts. From a careful study of such opinions, I have formed certain impressions about what Minnesota citizens are thinking.

They Want Service

One very definite impression I have is that those people who have given the matter any serious thought want all the services our state now provides, and most of them want to see these services improved and expanded. Perhaps the best evidence of this attitude is the fact that I have yet to hear a single proposal that we should cut out, discontinue, or diminish any service that we now provide.

Some, however, do not understand why these services should cost more than they used to. This is one of the questions I hope to answer in meetings throughout the state. For it is my experience that when people realize that state services are, like all other goods and services, affected by our increasing prices; and when they realize that such services must be provided for increasing numbers of people, they find the answers for themselves.

Pay-as-you-go Idea Popular

Another very definite impression I have is the increasing support for the pay-as-you-go method of collecting income taxes. Perhaps the discussion of a proposed sales tax has helped to further this support. People tell me that they agree that it is easier to pay any obligation in small amounts than it is to pay in one lump sum, and that they believe Minnesota should follow the example of the federal government and an increasing number of states by applying this principle to our income tax.

I also find an increasing number who agree with my position that we should adopt the pay-as-you-go plan—not only because it is easier on the taxpayer—but because it will make sure that all who should pay will pay. They agree that we cannot defend a program that would increase the obligations of conscientious taxpayers unless we at the same time make sure that all are paying their fair share. For whenever a tax is evaded by any means, the load on those who do not evade their taxes is increased.

Your Office in Washington

by Congressman
ODIN LANGEN

February 18, 1959

Events of importance to the Ninth District have taken place in Washington during the past week. The Nation's Capital has been visited by two groups here for meetings affecting the people of our District, and in addition I have introduced my first bill, which I feel will be of importance to all our people if enacted.

Public Law 480

On Monday of this week I introduced legislation which would amend Public Law 480 to extend this law for five years without Congressional action. As most of you probably know, Public Law 480 permits the sale of excess farm products to countries in need of these commodities. As it exists now, the law is operated on a yearly basis, and last year was allowed to lapse for a time. This situation resulted in the loss of millions of dollars of surplus sales, which in turn had a most unfavorable effect on our national economy. Because of this, because of the valuable overseas friends which this law has made for us, and because of the millions of dollars worth of surpluses it has sold for our country, I feel this program should no longer be kept on a year-to-year basis. It stands to reason that long-range commitments by the Department of Agriculture could better be made and utilized if the Department could make assurances of delivery, as permitted by the amendment I have introduced.

Indian Affairs

Ten members of the Minnesota legislative interim commission for the study of Indian problems were in Washington last week to attend these meetings, which dealt with such subjects as education, foster homes, hospitals, and welfare in general. How Good Are Your Cows?

DHIA records or a careful summary of cream checks over a years period can give an average production figure for the herd. Deciding why the average is what it is may be a more complicated matter.

Feed conditions vary from year to year, even most careful management can vary results, the general make-up of the herd, whether young cows, or more mature producers, freshening regularity and timing, actual weather conditions as many found in the rain and mud seasons we have just had a few years back, all of those things affect the level of production in the herd. We know of one herd that varied 60 pounds of fat from one year to another just by reason of the season.

Most dairy cows have inherited more capacity for production than is expressed in their production in the herd. The uncontrollable factors in farming make it this way. When we have the right combinations of favorable conditions, we can find a much more profitable production level present.

The part that breeding can bring into the picture is important. The fact that Northwest Breeders has been able to develop herds of high levels has been brought out just recently in visits to farms in widely separated areas. One herd is producing an average of 423 pounds of fat at the Creamery. Another averaged 458 pounds in DHIA last year. Still another herd has cows that are milking 75 pounds of milk a day, some cows producing over 3 pounds of fat daily. All three of these herds are 100% Northwest Breeders breeding. The ability to produce is in there and herds such as these are an inspiration to other dairymen to study and observe and patern after in stepping up the production of their herds to the same level.

A goal of over 400 pounds of fat is hard to attain for altho we may have cows at 400, 500, 600 pounds producing ability, we have the other factors tending to affect their ability to do it for us, and this in spite of our best laid plans. Milking cows is an interesting and intriguing job of working to control all the factors affecting the levels of production actually secured.

Telephone Vignette

MEMO TO THE TELEPHONE company: The other day, with the wind whipping playfully through the intersection of Fifth street and Park avenue, we witnessed an interesting study in frustration. A man paused to light a cigaret, three times sheltering it against a match with cupped hands and three times failing.

As he prepared to make his fourth attempt, his eye came to rest on one of those outdoor telephone booths a few feet away. In one blinding flash of inspiration he stepped inside, carefully closed the door, fumbled for another match and found it, and then with an air of one who triumphs over dark adversity, calmly lighted his cigaret.

He didn't use the telephone, we're sorry to relate, and as he stepped outside again to brace himself against the January gusts, he didn't even murmur thank you.

Yet you never can tell. Here, obviously, was a gentleman with a new debt of gratitude to the telephone and it would not surprise us if he arrived home that night in a mellow glow of good will toward the entire world, including telephone companies. "A great public benefactor," we can hear him tell his wife at dinner. "I mean this fellow Bell."

Chevy panel steps lively in Florida...runs day and night, delivers 19.3 miles per gallon!

This '59 Chevy panel is on the go, morning, noon and night; it covers as much as 187 miles a day — and so constantly that its engine never cools off completely. Yet Mr. Clark Parker, the Tampa Tribune's circulation manager, reports that the truck is delivering 19.3 miles per gallon!

Take the panel pictured above, for example. Powered by the '59 Thriftmaster 6 with new economy-contoured camshaft, it's building a sensational economy record, despite the sizzling pace it sets. That's typical of the way Chevies of all sizes are turning in on the most challenging jobs in America. The way they're made, with tough-built truck components, they make the hardest hauls look easy! If you have a job that puts a truck on its mettle, see your Chevrolet dealer!

This year, the light-, medium- and heavy-duty trucks of the 1959 Chevrolet Task-Force fleet are out to whip anything that comes their way—and they've got what it takes to do it!

School Finances Are Topic of Discussion at Knox PTA Meeting

Knox PTA met Monday evening in the school gymnasium with Dr. Dan Green presiding. Lt Robert T. Burkhardt led in devotions after which the business meeting was held. The unit voted to increase the dues for next year to 50 cents per person. Cyril Havel was appointed to head a committee to meet with the park board to discuss the possibility of more East Side skating rinks next year.

The program consisted of a question and answer program presented by a panel of Knox PTA members and the board of education and school administrators. The panel included Elmer Sandberg, Morris Howick and Sidney Lieberman.

Dr. M. D. Starekow, president of the school board, introduced school board members Arnold Pearson, William Thompson and Rufus Olson.

School administrators were presented by Supt. L. T. Mickelson and included Joe Iverson, Kermit Eastman, Arnold Larson, Dennis Rolle and Stanley Nelson.

The program was opened with a discussion on school taxes by Supt. L. T. Mickelson who stated that in 1957 the state legislature asked for a new school aid law based on assessed evaluation. In school district 564, the school tax is 44.6% of the total tax load in the district, which means that of every $100 paid in taxes, the school receives $44.60. The levy in 1959 is 107 mills which is a 10% increase. In 1957-58, the state aids provided 52% of the total school income. This compares to an average of about 42% statewide. The average increase of school costs has been about 10% per year. The anticipated income for the year 1958-59 is $1,146,000.

Arnold Pearson, school board clerk, stated that in 1953 the school tax was 40% of the total tax dollar and in 1959 it has increased to 45% of the total tax dollar. He said that if the tax increase is 10 mills, it would cost the average home owner $8 to $12 a year.

The secondary school administrator, Joe Iverson, said that in the secondary school there are three administrators in addition to a guidance counselor. They help to coordinate the elementary and secondary schools, especially in the changing curriculum. He stated that there are now 1,039 students in high school. The enrollment in the coming year will necessitate a 7-hour day with noon hour classes also being held.

Mr. Eastman, elementary school director, stated that in 1955 there was a loosely coordinated grade level chairman but no central figure of leadership, therefore local schools were handicapped through lack of a program. There was nothing to help a child of exceptional ability or one of low achievement. The elementary school enrollment has increased by 275 students since 1955.

Dr. Starekow said that the proposed junior college will be coordinated with the high school the proposed bill passes, the state and area vocational school. If will pay 75% up to a maximum of $500,000 in building aid for junior colleges, besides $200 per pupil under junior college aid. He also stated that 70% of those attending the area vocational school come from out of our district.

Dennis Rolle, guidance counselor, stated that the guidance and counseling department has been maintained in the local high school department during the past year. The purpose is to give each and every person individual attention in his plans and problems.

Area vocational school director, Stanley Nelson, said that this school is not costing local taxpayers one dime at this time, and that the school is now beginning to realize on the original capital investment. The school is running at full capacity with 200 students, he said.

Coffee hour was served by the second grade mothers. The traveling cookie jar was won by both Miss Harstad's second grade and Mrs. Aune's first grade classes.

BAROMETER OF LIFE

Would it really help to have an instrument to predict the storms of life?

When the barometer falls it's too late to build a sea wall or to dig a cyclone cellar. Wise men prepare when the wind is calm. A leaking roof must be mended while the sun shines.

The Church does not claim to provide a barometer of life. But it preaches every Sunday the spiritual readiness which climaxed Christ's Sermon on the Mount:

"Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man which built his house upon a rock:

"And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house. . . .

"And it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Be Off Beat about Breakfast

The urge of teeners to be off beat—yet not miss the beat—can lead them to choose a well-scored breakfast . . . one that does not drum out a set breakfast routine.

Teeners who miss the beat at breakfast may be bored with routine breakfast fare. So say scientists who have studied reactions to the same food, served in the same way, day after day. This is why teeners suddenly ban, at breakfast, foods liked since childhood.

Their rejection of these once-liked foods is sharpened by a growing capacity for independent action. When your teener chooses an egg salad sandwich made with enriched bread, a bowl of tomato soup, and a wedge of cabbage, he may be unorthodox, but his breakfast contains the nutrients needed for good health. Or, maybe your teener has a yen for a breakfast the Greeks enjoy: Bread and cheese with a whole tomato or fruit.

If your teener is off beat about breakfast, he has the right beat as long as he is acting in the newer knowledge of nutrition. And his independent action is in harmony with the American way of trying the new, the different, the unorthodox.

Why not follow his lead? Recognize the fact that good nutrition is possible without set meal patterns. Nourish the urge to be off beat about meals, as long as you include these essential foods each day: Enriched or whole grain bread or cereal, fruits and vegetables, meat or an alternate, and milk.

Strandquist Plans to Rebuild High School

By Stan Peterson

Today, all that remains of the two-story brick school at Strandquist is a debris-filled hole in the ground and piles of blackened and twisted metalwork that has been salvaged for junk.

Tragedy struck the community the night of Jan. 31 when defective wiring on the first floor of the oldest section of the building apparently shorted out. By the time the fire was discovered, it had gained such headway that the efforts of firemen from the community and from the neighboring communities of Karlstad, Greenbush, Newfolden and Stephen were devoted to saving the gymnasium which was added to the north side of the building only two years ago.

Everything was lost in the building including the personal possessions of many teachers and pupils. The loss, which was set at $350,000, was partially covered by $155,000 in insurance.

What is the reaction of a community to such a tragedy? How are they going to carry on this year and what are the plans for the future?

If there was ever any disagreement on education, school buildings and costs in the past, they have been pushed aside. In the time I spent there this week, I was unable to discover one person in Strandquist who did not feel that the school must be rebuilt and that the community would be stronger because of the fire.

There is complete agreement among the 225 residents of the town and the 200 students of the school that there is no alternative to a school of their own. They flatly reject any suggestion that the students be sent to any neighboring community for their education.

Everyone is backing up this determination with action. The walls that remained standing after the fire have been torn down by volunteer labor and the debris is being hauled away. Twisted pipes and other metal have been removed by hand or, where necessary, by heavy equipment to clear the site.

Monday morning, classes resumed in the Strandquist school. Grade school pupils found classrooms had been set up on the basketball court with unpainted partitions of plywood and used doors painted a variety of colors. Desks were of all sizes and descriptions. New and used textbooks were stacked on basketball bleachers or remained unpacked in their shipping boxes. Heat for the building, previously furnished by the boilers in the destroyed building, was provided by three temporary furnaces installed on the auditorium stage. Everything was permeated by the smell of smoke and scorched wood.

High school students found that going to school is going to require more exercise than formerly. Algebra, history, social sciences and chemistry are scheduled for the town hall; English is taught in the Mission church; commercial courses are held in the Catholic school playroom building; speech is taught in the superintendent's office and Mayor Raymond Anderson's garage is the setting for classes in biology and shop. Lunches are scheduled for the home rooms with the hot lunch program discontinued and only the milk program to continue until a new building is finished.

"We were able to open only because of the greatest expression of cooperation I have ever seen," Supt. Leon M. Orcutt said Monday afternoon following a meeting with the school faculty. "The people of this community have donated their buildings and labor, the churches and the city have provided classroom space and all the schools around us have loaned or given us books and equipment they were not using."

"Time is our greatest shortage," the tall, grave native of Maine said. "We have had to open a school starting with almost nothing in a matter of two weeks. It just couldn't have been done without the help of all these wonderful people."

My talk with Orcutt was preceded by a meeting of the superintendent with the school faculty of 10 teachers. All through the meeting it was apparent that everyone in the room was on an equal basis with Orcutt asking for suggestions and submitting his ideas for opinions. The job they were doing was one which required everyone's help to clear up every imaginable detail from the number of wash basins needed to the distribution of the limited supplies then available.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Orcutt asked the six high school teachers to remain for a brief meeting. "Until we know definitely that we are going to have a high school next year, we will be unable to sign contracts with you," he said. "I am almost certain that a high school will be approved by the voters and I ask each of you not to leave us and enter into contracts with other schools." As the meeting concluded, it was apparent that not one of the staff was considering a move from the community.

Superintendent Orcutt brightened perceptibly when his grandson, James Edmund, interrupted momentarily to deliver the family grocery list. The boy had a black left eye and a bandage covering a cut with six stitches in it. "He fell off the davenport the other night," the grandfather explained, "and hit the corner of the table."

"We lost everything in this fire," he resumed later. "I had a pair of fine binoculars in the office and all my military records were destroyed. Other teachers and the pupils lost their personal belongings, too."

Things are looking up at Strandquist, though. The state department of education has agreed to give $20,000 in funds for the purchase of books, supplies and equipment and an architect has already been engaged to prepare preliminary plans. There will be a meeting with the voters next week to see if they will approve a $30,000 bond issue for the construction of the high school. The $155,000 in insurance will build a grade school and $800 has been received from the state board of education fo laboratory supplies and equipment. A bond issue for a high school would raise the tax rate 9 mills.

"There are those who feel that the smaller schools should consolidate for reasons of economy and to provide a better education for the pupils. If these statements are true, wouldn't it be better for Strandquist to join with another school?" I asked Orcutt.

"The advocates of big schools always point to these two reasons for consolidation," Orcutt said. "The bigger thing is what is best for the pupils themselves. Before the fire, I talked with the superintendents of other schools around here, asking if they could absorb any more pupils, and they told me that they couldn't."

"After this fire," he continued, "I asked the surrounding schools if they could provide us with room in their schools for our pupils and they said it was impossible. If extra building would have to be done to give our pupils space, why shouldn't the building be right here in Strandquist?"

Orcutt pointed out that every teacher knows every pupil in the school. "If they fall down in their work, we know it right away and give them individual attention before they get so far behind that they are discouraged and drop out. Our "mortality" rate is very low here but what would it be in a bigger school? We have to consider the fact that getting along in his world without a high school diploma is hard and that by keeping our pupils in school we are helping them after graduation."

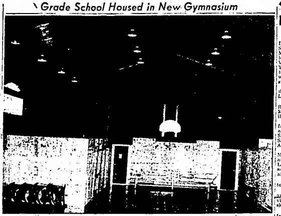
The superintendent pointed out that scholarship in the school is high and that a high percentage of graduates go on to college. "Of this group, there have been no failures in college. They are getting as good an education here as they could get anywhere."

With that kind of spirit and the kind that is shown by the teachers, the students and the people of the area, can there be any doubt that there will be a new grade school and high school at Strandquist?

Leads Building Drive

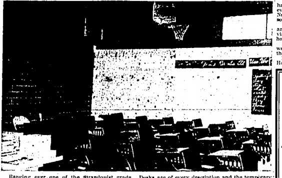
Leon M. Orcutt, superintendent of the Strandquist school for the past nine years, and Mrs. Edward Carlson, secretary, now occupy temporary administrative offices in the Sunnyside building which was moved onto the school grounds. Supt. Orcutt, who indicated that he believes the voters will approve a $30,000 bond issue needed to provide high school facilities, said that the new grade and high school building will be plain with no frills. Praising the quality of his teachers, he said that scholarship of the school was high.

Grade School Housed in New Gymnasium



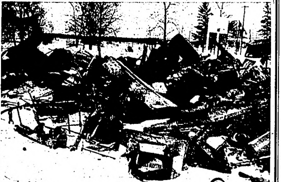
Strandquist grade school pupils started attending classes at the beginning of this week in these temporary rooms set up on the basketball court of the gymnasium which was completed two years ago. Heat for the building is provided by three furnaces set up on the stage of the building. The basketball team has its practice sessions and games in the Karlstad gymnasium seven miles north of Strandquist.

Strange Ceiling Ornament for Class Room



Hanging over one of the Strandquist grade school rooms in the west end of the gymnasium is one of the basketball goals and a scoreboard. Desks are of every description and the temporary plywood walls separate the 131 grade school children. High school students will attend classes in buildings all over the town.

Metalwork of School Building Now Junk



All that remains of nearly all the heating system, tools, desks and other equipment of the Strandquist school is piles of twisted and blackened junk. Volunteer workers in the community razed the building walls which remained standing after the fire and piled salvaged pipe and other metal to be hauled away to the scrap heap. Preliminary plans have already been prepared by an architect for a new building.

Superintendent, Faculty Discuss School Plans

Supt. Leon Orcutt, second from right, and his faculty of 10 teachers meet in the Sunnyside office to discuss the many needs of the Strandquist school which reopened two weeks after the Jan. 31 fire. Books, desks and supplies were loaned to the school by other schools in the area and buildings in the community were turned over to the school as classrooms until a new school can be constructed.

Arriving in a delayed motorcade at the city Auditorium at 5:25 p.m., the team was met on the steps by spectators, cheer leaders and city officials and escorted down the center aisle of the auditorium to the stage. A good crowd was on hand and had been entertained with musical numbers by the school band under the direction of John Moum.

Clinic for Crippled Children Set for TRF April 29 and 30

23rd Annual Clinic to Be Sponsored by Minnesota Department of Welfare

Almost 50 of the state's counties will be served this spring by the crippled children services division of the Minnesota department of public welfare as it opens its 23rd annual clinic program for youngsters in need of orthopedic care. A clinic will be held in Thief River Falls April 29 and 30 for Pennington, Marshall, Red Lake, Kittson and Roseau counties.

The clinics, first started in 1936 by the state welfare department, are held each spring and fall in different areas of Minnesota. Any child up to age 21, who is developing or suffering from crippling disabilities may attend the clinics. During the past year, 2,255 youngsters were served at the clinics. High on the list of those examined are children handicapped by congenital deformities, birth injuries and polio.

To be served at the clinics, appointments should be made in advance with the area public health nurse. If it is the child's first visit to the clinic, parents are advised to bring a referral from the family doctor.

The patient is examined by both an orthopedist and a pediatrician, and reports are sent to the family doctor. If the child needs hospitalization, special therapy, vocational counseling or some other service, consultants from the crippled children services work with the patient's parents and doctor to make the necessary arrangements.

Groups cooperating in this service are the Gillette State hospital, Minnesota department of health, state division for vocational rehabilitation, state Christmas Seal organization, Minnesota-Dakota-Manitoba Orthopedic society, Minnesota State Medical association, Northwestern Pediatric society, local medical societies, public health nurses and county welfare agencies.

State Senate Gets 3 Junior College Bills

Provides for State to Pay 50 Per Cent of Cost of Buildings

A three-bill package for a program of state aid for junior colleges was introduced in the Minnesota legislature Thursday by a group of senators headed by Sen. Stanley Holmquist of Grove City.

One of the proposals would provide a new aid to help cover the costs of educating students who come from outside the school districts where junior colleges are located. It would be in addition to the $200 per student aid voted by the 1957 Legislature.

Under the proposal junior colleges would be given as state aid the amount by which the cost per student exceeds the present per student aid plus tuition. If the cost per student were $600 and the tuition $100, the amount of state aid for each non-resident student would be $300.

The school district would continue to pay the costs for its resident students to the extent they exceed the amount yielded by the $200 state aid and tuition.

The measure calls for an appropriation for the next two years of $800,000 from the state general revenue fund.

"We believe," said Holmquist, "that since both the University of Minnesota and the state colleges are supported from the general revenue fund, junior colleges are entitled to the same support."

A second bill would continue the $200 per student aid and also make it available to new junior colleges that may be established.

The third measure, similar to one already introduced in the House, sets up a state fund of six million dollars to help finance buildings at junior colleges.

Where the House bill would make it possible for a junior college to finance as much as 75 per cent of the cost of a building with state money, the Senate bill would limit sale participation to 50 per cent and set a top of $500,000 for a grant to any single college.

Junior college supporters pleaded their case for state aid for new buildings Friday before the senate education committee.

Some of them ran into a buzz-saw of questions and charges of "regionalism" when they appeared later before the house university committee to oppose converting agriculture schools at Crookston and Morris to four-year college branches.

Neither senate nor house committee took action Friday, but the house group—apparently favorable to turning the two farm schools into college branches — set a special meeting for 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Breakin Saturday at Tribune Office

Burglars Flee When Interrupted at Work

A break-in and robbery of the Minneapolis Tribune office on Main av. S. may have been partly thwarted about 1:50 a.m. Saturday by a local man who returned to the Coca-Cola Co. after a trip north early that morning.

Frank Clinton, who came into the back of the Coca-Cola building from his run, heard someone in the front of the building, which houses the Tribune agency. Thinking it was Robert Carlson, agency manager, working late, he started to go into the agency and whoever it was rummaging around there fled.

Upon entering the room, Clinton found the front door glass had been broken and the door opened from the inside. The burglar, or burglars, departed so rapidly when Clinton's approach was heard they took only part of the money from the cash drawer.

Clinton reported the incident and break-in to police, who investigated.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Kollitz spent two days in Fargo attending to business matters this past week.

Council Action on Rural Fire Truck Soon Due

Group Will Meet Tonight with Four Township Boards

At an adjourned meeting tonight at 8 p.m., the city council will take up the matter of the possible cooperative purchase of a rural fire truck with four neighboring townships.

At an earlier meeting Feb. 16, the council deferred action on the joint purchase of a fire truck toward which representatives from boards of Smiley, Silverton, Norden and Excell townships proposed making contributions of $3,000 each. The matter will be included on the March election ballots for consideration of voters in those townships if the city entered into an agreement with them subject to the election outcome.

The $18,000 truck, which would be based in Thief River Falls and manned by volunteer firemen of the department, would be available on call in the contributing townships, according to the proposal, and would also be available to the city to replace a 24-year-old truck. The $6,000 remaining to be paid for the truck would be furnished by the city through the trade in of the present truck and with other funds.

According to Roy Langevin, city fire chief, the present truck would have to be replaced in the near future whether or not this was done in cooperation with the townships.

More details will be submitted by the townships at the meeting this evening.

No date has yet been set for the continuation of hearings on the matter of the proposed storm sewer in district 3.

Of special interest will be possible compromise proposals to be submitted by the council in the storm sewer matter which has generated so much heat during the past month. The council met with D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer, at an informal session Thursday night to work on alternative plans.

Indications during the Feb. 16 meeting and since that time seem to point toward a plan which would end the project at Sixth st. but which would provide storm mains large enough to be ample when the sewers are extended further north in the district at a later date.

Still to be determined will be the mater of assessments. Under the original plan which called for a full system throughout the district, a uniform system of assessment calling for a tax of $266 for each 50-foot lot was planned. Robert Wurst, city attorney, told the council and those attending the last hearing that he doubted "that all the residents of the area could be assessed legally at a uniform rate" under the law because some property owners would derive a greater benefit than others. At the conclusion of the hearing, D. H. Stewart was instructed to prepare alternative figures for consideration.

The ceremony took place at Zion Lutheran church with Dr. Walter Pedersen officiating. Jerry Joringdal was at the organ, playing the nuptial music and accompanying Lucille Melby as she sang "The Wedding Prayer," God Gave Me You" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white rayon velvet, featuring a "V" neckline and long sleeves that came to a point at the hand. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of white velvet trimmed in seed pearls. Her heart shaped bouquet was of feathered carnations and red and white garnet roses.

Miss Elaine Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor with Pat Gulseth of Blackduck serving as bridesmaid. They wore ballerina gowns of red velvet accented with a white sash, and styled with three-quarter length sleeves. Their headbands were white velvet and they carried matching muffs.

Little Pamela Hanson was flower girl, wearing a ballerina length gown, similar to that of the other attendants and carrying a white muff. Richard Jaranson, ring bearer, carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow.

Atending the bridegroom as best man was Milton L. Hanson, Jr., brother of the bride, and Donald Johnson, his brother, as groomsman.

Physicians Would Limit Pill Sales to Pharmacists

The so-called "Pill Bill," which would permit unlicensed and unregulated retail sale of non-prescription drugs and medicines, was branded today by the Minnesota State Medical association as "detrimental to the health and welfare of the people."

The association's council voted a resolution opposing the proposed amendment to the Minnesota pharmacy law. It declared that the physicians' group is against "any legislation which would expose the public to harm through the sale of potentially dangerous drugs, even those masquerading under a trade name, by stores other than those licensed by the Minnesota state board of pharmacy, under the direct supervision of a pharmacist."

The bill, designated as H.F. 496 was introduced on Feb. 6 by Rep. Jack Peterson, Duluth. It seeks to have packaged non-prescription drugs and medicines, which are advertised and sold directly to the public, declared "non-habit forming, harmless proprietary medicines."

This would automatically exempt them from provisions of the pharmacy law and from supervision and regulation by the board of pharmacy.

Conserving Time and Energy Topic of Homemakers

26 County Leaders Hear Discussion Last Friday by Extension Specialist

"Making the Most of Minutes and Energy," was discussed at a meeting Friday, Feb. 20, by Marian Kottka, home agent at large, University of Minnesota. This was the February lesson of the extension home program, according to county home agent Roberta LeBourveau.

Twenty-six women, leaders from the various homemakers' groups throughout the county, attended the meeting.

Making the most of minutes and energy starts with planning activities, whether it be mental notes or a list. Every woman does some planning each day. One method of saving time and energy in planning is to make a mental or written list of the jobs that "must be done," that "could be done," and that "should be done." This type of planning would insure that the necessary or the most important jobs would be completed.

Mrs. Kotke also stated that a good share of time and energy are spent in the kitchen. The kitchen may not include only the cooking, mixing and clean-up area, but also the ironing center, the business area or the sewing area.

The relationship of the three main work centers in the kitchen is important, but it is difficult to change them unless remodeling can be done. However, the group discussed several methods of making their present kitchens easier to work in.

Time and energy saving ideas to be used in the ironing center and the sewing area were discussed by the group.

Mrs. Kottke pointed out the purposes and the advantages of a business area in the home. She also discussed several items which should be included in this area.

The next homemakers lesson will be a horticulture institute on March 3 in the court house in Thief River Falls.

Two-county Library Plans for Marshall and Polk Are Halted

Plans for a Polk county library system ground to a stand-still Friday, temporarily at least, as the proposal for a multi-county rural library apparently fell thru and obstacles to an application for state aid for a single county library arose, reports the Crookston Times.

A meeting Friday morning between three members of the Marshall county board and the Polk county board ended on a note of indecision.

Herbert Pagnac, Roy Edman and Sofus Bjertness, the Marshall commissioners present at the meeting in the court house at Crookston, left after expressing the opinion that their county's representation on the proposed multi-county library board would be too small, and that the amount of time spent on bookmobile service in Marshall County would be insufficient to interest them in the joint library proposal.

A vote of the Polk County board as to whether it should declare itself in favor of a multi-county library plan, reversing its January stand for a single county unit, was defeated 3-1.

The board then instructed County Auditor Martin Vanseth to apply for state funds for a single county library system.

Vanseth phoned Hannis Smith, state director of libraries and reported that Smith told him an application on a single county basis would drop Polk into a third priority status, instead of the top priority a multi-county proposal would have enjoyed.

Whether Polk County should obtain any state funds on a single-county basis is doubtful and can not be ascertained at present, Smith said, according to Vanseth.

In addition, Smith reportedly said, no application can be considered until a county library board has been set up. The application must originate with a library board, not with the county commissioners, he said.

The commissioners, who hold their next meeting March 3, probably will take up the question of naming a board then, Vanseth said.

Easter Seals To Be Mailed Out Friday

Proceeds to Be Used to Aid Crippled Children

More than 900,000 letters seeking help for crippled children will soon go in the mail to Minnesotans as the 1959 Easter Seal Appeal begins this Friday, February 27.

The annual fund appeal ends on Easter Sunday, March 29.

Goal of the campaign this year has been set at $360,000 to support a wide range of services to Minnesota's crippled children and adults regardless of age, color, creed or type of disability.

"The Easter Seal Society is now in its 34th year of service in our state, with service vital to thousands of handicapped citizens," said Dr. Charles W. Mayo of Rochester, state chairman of the 1959 campaign.

"So much depends upon the support given to the annual Easter Seal Appeal," said Dr. Mayo. "Without this support such services as Camp Courage for crippled children and adults, a special Speech Camps for youngsters with speaking problems, seven rehabilitation centers, a sheltered workshop for employment of the handicapped, a direct aid program providing wheelchairs, hospital beds and other equipment to the disabled, research and many other services would not be possible," Dr. Mayo said.

Lutheran Welfare Society to Meet in City March 24

Rev. Otto Dale to Preside at Regional Meeting in Court House at 2 p.m.

A 'Day of Examination" has been scheduled by Lutheran Welfare Society of Minnesota in twenty-two counties throughout the State during March. Meeting at the court house in Thief River Falls on Monday, March 2, at 2:00 p.m. will be pastors, corporate members of the society, and others from this area interested in welfare.

Purpose of the meeting is to acquaint church leaders with welfare leaders, and to discuss public welfare service and what church people can do to help. "The more clear we are on what church and welfare can do, the more effective we will be in bringing help to people who sorely need it," says Harold J. Belgum, director of Parish Services, Lutheran Welfare Society.

In charge of the meeting in this city will be the Rev. Otto Dale, Ralph T. Hunt, executive secretary of the county welfare board, will explain county welfare services.

"We feel it is appropriate during Lent to spend some time contemplating the problems of people in our own parish and neighborhood and considering what alleviation the church may bring to them," says Rev. Dale, who will lead a discussion on what church people can do to supplement or add to the help county welfare staff is able to give people.

Future Farmers Week Currently Being Noted Here

35-member Thief River Falls Chapter Sharing in National Observance

The largest boys' agricultural organization in the world, the Future Farmers of America, is celebrating Future Farmers' Week from Feb. 21-28 and the Thief River Falls chapter of 35 members under the direction of Jon Metusalem is joining in the observance of the organization's 42-year history.

Started in 1917 when the Smith-Hughes act provided federal aid for courses in vocational agriculture, the movement has always had a common interest for its members, a back ground of country life and a desire to regard farming as a vocation.

By 1927, the movement in the various states was toward a national organization and in the summer of the following year, a plan was drafted for an organization which was to be known as the Future Farmers of America.

Since then, the organization has continued to grow and the idea has spread to Greece, Bulgaria, Albania, Columbia, Canada, Japan and the Philipine Islands.

Using the modern facilities of the area vocational school, the Thief River Falls chapter tests soil samples and seed germination and, in the complete farm shops, vocational agriculture students repair tractors and machinery.

During the year, the chapter takes part in contests of soil judging, cow clipping, livestock judging and farm management. In celebration of national FFA week, representatives of the chapter presented a radio program Sunday, Feb. 22, and have called attention to the week with a display booth at the school.

Tax Exemptions Are Listed by Bar Group

(This is the third in a series of articles on Income Tax. These articles are made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee)

Having a baby in December rather than in January can result in an extra $120 or more in your pocket. This is so because you are entitled to an exemption for federal purposes even though the necessary condition entitling you to the exemption does not exist throughout the year. Thus if a dependent was alive during only part of the year you may be entitled to the $600 deduction allowed for each exemption.

Personal Exemptions

A taxpayer and his spouse are entitled to one exemption each and one exemption for each dependent. If a husband and his wife file separate returns each must take his own exemptions on his return. However, if only one spouse has income or if a joint return is filed both exemptions may be claimed on the same return. Additional exemptions are allowed if the taxpayer or spouse is blind or over age 65 at the end of the year.

Exemptions for Dependents

You may claim a dependency exemption of $600 in respect of a relative with less than $600 gross income who receives over half his support from you. A non-relative may also qualify as your dependent but only if he or she lived in your home during the entire year.

You may be able to claim an exemption for a person who otherwise qualified as a dependent even if you contributed less than half his support. If you and several other persons together contributed over half the support of the dependent and no one person contributed over half, you may claim the exemption if the other members of the group will agree not to do so by signing Form 2120, Multiple Support Declaration, obtainable from your local Revenue Service office. This special rule is useful, for example, where you and your brothers and sisters together support one of your parents or other relative.

Special Rule for Children Under 19 or Going to School

The $600 gross income limitation does not apply if the exemption is claimed for your own child who did not reach age 19 in 1958 or who was a full time student. Regardless of the amount earned by such a child you may claim the exemption so long as you provided over half of the child's support. The effect is to allow a double exemption because the child is entitled to claim an exemption for himself in reporting his own income. Scholarships received by a student are disregarded in computing the support provided by the parent. An important point to remember is that a married child for whom you claim an exemption may not file a joint return with his or her spouse.

Minnesota Rule

In computing your state income tax you will be allowed credits against your tax rather than deductions from your income. In general, the state credits are allowed on the same basis as the federal exemptions. One significant difference is that the state credit is more often affected by a change in status during the year than is the federal exemption. For instance, if you had a child born on July 1, 1957, your credit for that child would be only half the customary $10. You should examine carefully the Minnesota instructions if your marital status changed during the year, if you became a resident during the year, or if you are claiming a credit for a dependent who died during the year.

Spending Plans Continue to Grow in Legislature

Taxpayers Group Cites Bills Asking $22 Million over Governor's Budget

Bills calling for the expenditure of $22,900,000 in addition to the spending proposed in the Governor's $488½ million budget have been introduced in the Legislature during the first six weeks of the session, according to Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

"These bills run the gamut from $5,000 to buy antique furniture for the Historical Society to $10,000,000 for a school construction loan fund (the Governor's budget calls for $1,000,000 for this purpose)," Mr. Stone said.

"This figure does not include an amount estimated by State officials at more than $5½ million that will be needed to pay salary increases for State employees, authorized to start July 1, 1959, but for which no financing has been provided," Mr. Stone said.

"These are some of the spending bills that have been introduced thus far," Mr. Stone commented. "Undoubtedly there will be many more.

"Obviously, we're going to need new revenues to finance the budget for the next biennium, even after a substantial pruning of these and some of the Governor's expenditure proposals. This makes it all the more important to carefully examine each proposed expenditure item, with a view to making the new tax impact as moderate as possible."

Keep Dairy Record, Co. Agent Advises

'U' of M. Men Recommend Use of New Culing Guide

If you think keeping dairy production records would "take a lot of time," note this:

Getting rid of one poor cow will save enough time to keep herd records 16 years, according to County Agent Paul Steimnaschuk, and extension dairymen at the University of Minnesota.

The record they're referring to is the new "Culling Guide," which involves taking milk weights for each cow one day each day month. Then at year's end, you have a comparison of milk production between cows.

Also, the record has a "lactation page," comparing milk production of each cow during the same stage of the lactation, or milking, period. This makes it possible to begin culling a long time before the end of the year.

On the cover, the record shows an estimate of a cow's annual production based on the third month. For example, a Holstein cow milking 28 pounds per day in her third month after freshening could be expected to produce about 220 pounds of butterfat for the year.

A Holstein producing 51 pounds would make about 430 pounds of fat.

The dairymen point out, however, that records become time savers only when you actually cull the poor producers as a result. But the other help you get from the record should increase labor income—often equally as important as saving time.

Records will save feed and may help increase production on the best cows. These are all things which will cut costs and make you more money.

The county agent's office has a supply of these records. You can get one any time; they cost only 25 cents.

New Proved Sire Service Members Told of Benefits

Harvey Rowbotham of the American Breeders Ass'n. Explains Plan Thursday

The Northern Minnesota Proved Sire Service held a meeting on Thursday evening in the court house. Much interest in this type of artificial cattle breeding was expressed.

Harvey Rowbotham, a representative from the American Breeders Association was the guest speaker. He explained the objective of this service is to give a herd the inheritance needed for high level efficient production which will in turn pay dairymen more per hour for the time spent with their dairy herds. It will also, he said, give high producing cows that will last over a period of years and will be an absolute necessity for the farmer that is to stay in the dairy business.

David Youngblood is the technician for the Northern Minnesota Proved Sire Service which is now in full operation in this territory. Other territories will follow.

3 Junior College Bills Introduced in State Senate

ing. Don Olson, Pennington county commissioner, argued against the Crookston-Morris conversion because, he said, the high-school-level farm courses taught at the schools still are needed.

But Rep. John McGill, Winona, charged that Olson's opposition sprang from the desire for a junior college at Thief River Falls.

"It seems to me this argument just narrows down to regionalism", McGill said. "We have got to look to the benefit of the whole state. If Thief River Falls wants an institution, let them come in here and ask for it but don't come in here and oppose a college some place else."

THE GREAT auk became extinct about 1844 and today it is said there are not more than eighty mounted specimens in the world.

We didn't do any research to find out how long the auk had been around before he made his final exit, but reading the above item increased a long-time admiration for the rabbit.

It is generally conceded that rabbits are one of the most ancient living mammals on the North American continent. It's likewise pretty well agreed that the rabbit has as many "enemies" as anybody. Every time he ventures a few feet from his hiding place, he must be constantly alert, for death can come on wings from the sky; with swiftness on the ground; or in the blast from a shotgun.

Birds and varmints of many descriptions pursue the elusive bunny, almost from the day he is born, and the rabbit's only defense is his wits—and, of course, his flying feet. The rabbit can only run and dart and hide. Probably it wouldn't help him much if he could fly, since he has enemies in the air as well as the ground.

Nature might have been a bit kinder to the rabbit by giving him some method of defense. The skunk and the porcupine get some special favors . . . and even the copperhead, equipped with both fangs and venom at birth. But not the rabbit. And, to make matters worse, Mr. Rabbit is a tasty morsel, for man or beast.

Mankind probably takes a smaller toll of the rabbit population than any of the other "enemies."

Pursuant to Notice duly published, the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in Special session in the Main Auditorium of the Municipal Building for the purpose of conducting a hearing and consideration of a proposed construction of Storm Sewers to drain surface water in Storm Sewer District No. 3, on February 9, 1959. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P.M. Aldermen Henson, Lee, Honebrink, Carlson, [illegible] were present. Alderman Sandvig was absent.

The President opened the meeting by calling on D. H. Stewart, Registered Professional Engineer to advise the interested persons as to [illegible] and to answer questions that might arise. Mr. Stewart stated that the cost of the project, estimated, would be [illegible] City share [illegible] amount of $179,[illegible] to be assessed over the area, which would result in an assessment of $[illegible] per fifty foot lot. In answer to a question as to what would happen as far as the proposed resurfacing of Highway [illegible] the City, if the Storm Sewer Project was not carried out, Mr. Stewart stated that the City would have to pay for part of the work and at some future time would not be permitted to connect with this drainage System. To a question as to projects for curb, gutter, sidewalk and street improvements in the [illegible] it was stated that the drainage item was a first consideration to any construction. As to question as to when assessments would possibly be computed at the time of contract [illegible] for expenditures during the project, Superintendent Mickelson and Arnold Pearson of the School Board spoke of the health hazard to the schools and had experienced from time to time [illegible] damage to basements, followed [illegible] by Dr. George Martin, Rev. Walter Peterson and Atlantic Coach Mikon[illegible].

H. O. Berve on behalf of objectors presented two petitions purported to be signed by 117 persons and property owners in the area which he stated are objections to the carrying out of the project. Mr. Berve stated that many of the objectors were not against drainage but did not feel the drainage for that reason, that taxes were too high and that their properties would not benefit. C. [illegible] Hellquist also spoke in opposition to the project, stating that there would be no benefit as far as his property was concerned. Martin Bothun [illegible] also spoke at length in opposition to the program [illegible] in his area [illegible] would not be benefited by such construction. Mrs. [illegible], a resident of the northwest part of the area also spoke against the project due to the tax cost, willing to defer the carrying out of the project were filed by Grace Hallbrook? [illegible] Avenue North, [illegible] Avenue North, [illegible] Knight Avenue [illegible] Storm sewer [illegible] by Lena Gillingsrud, [illegible] personal opinions were registered by Mrs. A. G. [illegible], Hjalmar Anderson and [illegible] all state [illegible].

It was then moved, seconded and carried that the hearing be continued to February 16th, 1959 at eight o'clock [illegible].

BOB CARLSON,
President of the Council.

Pursuant to adjournment the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on February 13, 1959 at 7:30 o'clock P.M. Aldermen Henson, Lee, Sandvig, Carlson, [illegible] were present. Alderman [illegible] was absent. Business to come before the Council was further consideration of bids for construction of an airport shop building on which bids had been received on January 30th.

Mr. [illegible] and Stanley Nelson, Vocational school Director were present and was a representative of Airport Commission Max Draper. Dr. [illegible] advised that the School District was prepared to enter into lease with the City for a 15 year period, would advance $[illegible] of rental, contribute $1200 towards cost of disposition of sewer service and $1500.00 towards bringing power service to building, insurance, utilities and heat.

Larry Wagner of the Architectural firm of [illegible] & Wells was present and stated that according to bids received the cost for a cement block building would be $30,073, for a Stran-Steel aluminum building $26,133 and for a [illegible] building $27,379 with paint room, electrical and mechanical. To either of these items would be added the cost of sewer and water service and architect's fees to bring out a total cost. City Attorney Wurst explained that in case the building was erected the City council could issue revenue bonds which would be retired by rentals received from the School District and that such bonds could be sold without the calling of an election.

Alderman Lee then moved that the meeting be continued further to such time as the Council could receive an opinion from the Attorney General of the State as to whether or not the City could legally erect a shop building for lease to a School District. Alderman Sandvig seconded such motion which was duly carried and the meeting was declared so adjourned.

BOB CARLSON,
President of the Council.

32 Rinks Took Part in 3d States-Dominion Bonspiel in TRF Arena

Curling rinks from Winnipeg and Emerson, Manitoba; Drayton, Grafton, Park River, and Grand Forks, N. Dak.; and Roseau and Bemidji, Minnesota, were in attendance at the 3rd annual States-Dominion bonspiel held at the local arena on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Thirty-two rinks, arranged into three events, participated in the three-day 'spiel. The Patterson rink of Winnipeg won the first event prize, defeating the Perry Thompson rink, also of Winnipeg, 11 to 4, in the finals.

Enroute to their championevent, the Patterson rink defeated Curtis Johnson in a first round match, edged out the Lawrence Lubitz rink in a second round encounter, eliminated the Al Bloomer rink of Winnipeg in a third round match, and then bested the Charley Habstritt rink of Roseau in the semi-finals.

Percy Thompson defeated Wallace Buman in a first round match, defeated Ed DeLap in a second round match, eliminated Alan Thompson in a third round match, and then defeated the Coopman rink in the semi-finals.

In the second event competition, the Wally Tunberg rink—Cliff Jorde, Len Furuseth, Curtis Swanson, and Tunberg—defeated the Jim Doyle rink of Winnipeg, 9 to 6, in the event finals. The Tunberg squad moved thru their event by defeating the Ray (Stream) Olson rink, the Bill Rupprecht squad, and the Si Hanson rink before meeting the Doyle rink. In their first match of the 'spiel, the Tunberg rink dropped a decision to the Les Baldner rink of Winnipeg.

In the third event finals, and which was not concluded until 8:00 P.M. on Sunday, the Hal Halopchuk rink of Bemidji, by a 10 to 8 margin, defeated the Hank Monson rink of Grafton, N. Dak. In a first round third event match, the Halopchuk rink defeated Don Trakala of Winnipeg, then bested the Glen Bruce rink of Park River in a second round match, and defeated Lavern (Monk) Carlson of Roseau in the semi-finals.

Prowler Six Wins Consolation Title

The Prowlers, their coaches, and their fans can be rightly proud of the performances that the locals recorded in the 15th annual state high school hockey tournment that was completed in St. Paul on Saturday night. The local squad, after dropping a first round game to the defending state champion Roseau team, 7 to 2, bounced back to move through two games in the consolation bracket and win that trophy.

In a first round consolation game, against the Robbinsdale team, the Prowlers, who have an affinity for overtime games in state hockey tournament play, were forced into three overtime periods before they gained a 5 to 4 decision over the Robins. Dale Wennberg, with Archie Schneider assisting, scored at the 3:15 mark of the third overtime period, closing out the game after 19:15 minutes of overtime play. The Robins' Len Lillyholm accounted for all of the goals tallied by the Minneapolis suburban sextet.

In the consolation finals Saturday afternoon, Wennberg and Eddie (Gus) Holmes proved to be the Prowler scoring heroes as coach John Matchett's club were forced to make a come-from-behind effort in order to overhaul the Minneapolis Patrick Henry team and win by a 6 to 5 score.

Patrick Henry gained a 2 to 0 lead in the first period, and a 3 to 0 advantage early in the second period. Wennberg, in the final minutes of the second period, rapped in a pair of quick goals, and the Prowlers trailed by a 3 to 2 margin entering the final twelve minutes of play.

Bruce Ranum, banging in his own rebound, evened the game at 3-all at the 2:38 mark; but Henry, with the Skavnak-Laine combination setting up the play, broke the deadlock at the 3:02 mark. Holmes, on a fine solo effort, knotted the game at 4-all, with a tally at the 3:36 mark; and at 8:47, Eddie sent the Prowlers into the lead for the first time by beating goalie Ron Notaro.

With seconds of play remaining, Henry's coach, Hal Younghans, removed the Pats' goal to get the advantage of an extra forward, but the strategy misfired when Dale Wennberg, getting a pass from Jerry Jorgenson following a face-off in the Prowler zone, whipped a long 175-foot shot that glided into the open Henry net, giving the Prowlers a 6 to 4 lead. Henry, at the 11:38 mark, added a final marker to lose the game by a 6 to 5 margin.

Roseau Again Takes State Hockey Title

Coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams, the champions of Region Eight, capped an undefeated season by making a successful defense of the state high school hockey championship, defeating the Minneapolis Washburn team 4 to 2, in the finals of the state tournament that was concluded on the St. Paul Auditorium ice sheet Saturday night.

In winning their second successive state title, the Rams proved decisively that they were the state's premier high school sextet. An indication of the Roseau club's all-round strength is revealed by the fact that five players — Jim and Larry Stordahl, Dale Olson, Don Ross, and Dick Roth — were named to the all-state tournament squad.

In a first round game Thursday afternoon, with Jim Stordahl scoring three goals, the Rams defeated the Prowlers, 7 to 2. In a crucial second round game on Friday night, the Rams met the highly-rated International Falls' Broncos, and with the Stordahl brothers accounting for the goals, Roseau defeated the Region Seven titlists, 2 to 0.

In the championship final on Saturday night, the Rams, with burly right wing Don Ross turning in a "hat trick" three-goal performance, scored a 4 to 2 win.

Congratulations, Dale

Dale Wennberg, injured shoulder and all, added further laurels to the Prowlers' winning of the consolation honors in the state high school hockey tournament by being named to the All-State tournament squad.

In being selected to the All-State squad, Dale joins a group of illustrious Prowler hockey stars of former years who were All-State choices.

Here's the roster of the Prowlers who gained recognition as being All-State hockey tournament choices: Bob Baker, defense, Jimmy Doyle, defense, and Wes Hovle, wing, in 1945; Jack Erickson, defense, an all-state selection in 1951, and repeater in 1952; Marv Jorde, center, Joey Poole, center, Mike McMahon, defense, and Jack Hoppe, goal, in 1954, with Joey repeating as an all-state selection in 1955; Jack Poole, center, Glenn Carlson, wing, and Duane Glass, defense, in 1956. And now it's Dale Wennberg, center, 1959.

Honors for Joey

Joey Poole, the former Prowler hockey all-stater, was honored at a ceremony held between the second and third periods of the North Dakota vs. Minnesota hockey game at Grand Forks on Saturday night.

Poole, a co-captain of the North Dakota Sioux, and whose play was instrumental in giving the North Dakota club a two-game sweep of the series, 6 to 5 and 5 to 2, was presented with a wrist watch by Thief River Falls' mayor Orton Belch and Sig Quam, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The presentation was made in recognition of the fine example that he has set for the younger hockey players by his play with the Sioux (the game on Saturday night marked Joey's last appearance on the Sioux ice as he graduates this spring), and the worthwhile credit that he reflects to his home town of Thief River Falls.

Who?

Who was the Business league bowler, carrying a 180-plus average, who became highly indignant last Tuesday night when, after bowling an anemic 151-pin game, he was "encouraged" by this remark from a teammate: "Nice game, kid."

The quoter of that remark, who rolled a 600 total, was challenged as to the sportsmanship of his snide remark, but he maintained that he was only trying to uphold the morale of the 151-pin bolwer!

Note to Arlan and Dale

Last spring Arlan Hjelle and Dale Wennberg were along on a trip to Winnipeg to witness a western Canada junior hockey playdown series games between the St. Boniface Canadians and the Regina Pats, and which was won by the Pats. The two Prowlers were impressed by the play of Regina's right wing, Bill Hicke. We have learned that this season Hicke is playing with the Rochester team of the American league, and is the league's leading scorer. In fact, Hicke's coach states that he has the potential of another Maurice Richard. Hicke belongs to the Montreal Canadian organization.

Another player that was impressive in that Regina lineup was a 17-year old center, Red Berenson. This boy has been attending the University of Michigan this season, but the other week he took a leave of absence to join the Belleville McFarlands, Canada's entry in the world's amateur hockey tournament.

The game of polo was first played in the United States at Newport, R. I., in 1877. James Gordon Bennett, Jr., owner of the New York Tribune, introduced the sport to this country.

Crookston Clinches Hockey League Title

Bud Salem's Crookston Pirates, picking up a point by playing a 6-all tie with the Roseau Cloverleafs on Tuesday night, and picking two points by defeating the Thief River Falls Thieves, 7 to 3, at Crookston on Sunday afternoon, clinched the Northwest hockey league championship for the 1958-59 season. The Pirates posted a league mark of eight wins, three ties, and two losses.

In Sunday afternoon's game at Crookston, and which was played under poor ice conditions, the two teams turned in a fine period and a half of hockey, with the Pirates holding a 2 to 1 lead. Crookston, on a solo rush by Mark Lilliberte, scored at the 3:31 mark of the opening period, and gained a 2 to 0 lead when Dave Bang, on a pass from Gar Beckstead, beat goalie Jack McGill at the 6:02 mark of the second period. Cal Offerdahl, with brother Del Offerdahl assisting, hammered in a Thieves' tally at the 8:17 mark of the second period. But the Pirates, on goals by Laliberte and Bang, moved into a 4 to 1 lead late in the period. Just before the period's close, Al Steenerson, on a nifty solo try, rapped in a goal to pare the Pirates' margin to 4 to 2.

The Pirates, sniffing the league championship, scored three goals in the third period to take a 7 to 2 lead before Jimmy Reese, just at the game's end, hit the twine for goal.

Prowler Quint Ends Schedule, Edges EGF

The Prowlers closed out their 1958-59 basketball schedule on Friday night by scoring a 43 to 41 win over the Green Wave of East Grand Forks in a district and Northwest conference game played on the East Grand Forks floor. The win gave coach Alan Adams' squad a creditable mark for the season of twelve wins and four losses.

Friday night's game, particularly in the first period, was a weird exhibition of play, with both teams being indecisive and erratic in seting up their offensive plays. The Prowlers, with Mickey Hanson scoring all of the points, gained an early 7 to 3 lead, but Marv Selmanson, on a pair of field goals, and Dick Stallmo, on a free throw, shoved the East Siders into an 8 to 7 lead. Lynn Nicholson, who was an "old reliable" for the Prowlers throughout the game, gave the Prowlers a 9 to 8 first period lead when he hit on a jump shot just before the buzzer sounded.

East Grand Forks matched the Prowlers in point scoring during the opening minutes of the second period, tying the game at 16 to 16. A Prowler spurt, with Ron Hanson and Mickey Hanson scoring field goals, and Nicholson dropping in a pair of free throws, gave the locals a 26 to 19 lead at the intermission.

The Prowlers, playing the best brand of ball of the night, opened up a 12-point spread in the third period, holding a 35 to 23 lead. But the scrappy East Siders refused to become flustered, and on field goals by Cameron Saunders, Bill Harvey and Stallmo, and Pat Sullivan's free throw, they pared the Prowler lead to 35 to 30 entering the final quarter.

The Green Wave, with Saunders hitting on his outside shots, moved to within two points of the Prowlers, 40 to 38, with 1:30 to play. Nicholson, on Harvey's foul, dropped a pair of points into the west basket, and the Prowlers held a 42 to 38 lead with 35 seconds of play remaining. Saunders added an East Side free throw; but Bob Pearson equalised that point on a Prowler gift shot, and the Prowlers led, 43 to 39, with eighteen seconds to go. Saunders' field goal, with ten seconds to play, brought the Green Wave total to 41, but time ran out as the Prowlers moved the ball across the center-line, giving the locals a hectic 43 to 41 triumph.

The Prowler scoring was paced by Mickey Hanson, who had a 15-point night, and Lynn Nicholson, who tallied eleven points. Saunders, with 11 points, and Stallmo, with 10 points, were the high scorers for coach Harold Sullivan's squad.

According to the district tournament pairings, the two teams, East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls, are seeded into the lower bracket of the 31st district tournament that will be played in the fieldhouse on March 2, 3, and 4.

U.S. Steel Chairman Tells State Editors of Cost of Pay Rises

Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corporation, said Friday in Minneapolis that every one-cent per hour increase in direct employment costs will add some $15 million a year to the industry's cost of making steel. Moreover, he pointed out, that as similar wage boosts in other industries are reflected in such items as purchased goods, services and taxes, the increase in indirect steel employment costs soon mounts up to an equal sum.

"So as a kind of rough rule of thumb, we may say that each one cent increase in steel wages and benefits means some $30 million of increased cost to add to the inflation spiral," Mr. Blough said.

In an address before the Minnesota Editorial Association, Mr. Blough said the United Steelworkers of America is "talking" in national advertisements about a "billion-dollar bundle" for its membership which it says would benefit the nation with increased sales and profits.

"Why no do the same for all of the 65 million gainfully employed people in America, and thus raise the ante to $52 billions?" Mr. Blough suggested. "In short, why not go on a real inflationary bender while we're at it. It should be a lot of fun while it lasts!"

Levelling his speech against further inflation, Mr. Blough told the editors: "There is, I believe, one great irresistible force in this country that can stop inflation at its source. That is the force of informed public opinion. And the power to create an informed public opinion is the power of the press."

Employment costs in production from raw materials to the finished product, direct and indirect, account for 75 to 80 per cent of all costs, Mr. Blough stated. "That means that an unearned rise in employment costs has from three to four times as much inflationary effect as a corresponding rise in all the remaining costs of production put together."

From 1940 through 1957 hourly employment costs in the steel industry have gone up an average of 7.6 per cent each year, Mr. Blough stated. In contrast, he pointed out, the Department of Labor reports show that output per manhour has risen only 2.6 per cent each year. The difference has spelled wage inflation.

FU Exchange to Meet in St. Paul

Convention Opens Mar. 2, in St. Paul Auditorium

Nearly 1,000 delegates and visitors from Minnesota are expected to attend the 28th annual meeting of the Farmers Union Central Exchange in St. Paul, beginning March 2.

The three-day meeting, held in the St. Paul Auditorium, will draw close to 5,000 from all parts of Minnesota and seven other Midwestern states.

The Central Exchange, the Northwest's largest regional manufacturing and farm supply cooperative, furnishes some 300,000 rural families with feed, fertilizer, petroleum products, farm machinery and other necessary farm items through 850 locally owned co-ops.

Clyde T. Ellis, executive manager of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association, will be the keynote speaker. He will address the gathering at the annual banquet on Wednesday evening, March 4.

Other programs scheduled for the meeting include General Manager Thomas H. Steichen's annual report to the stockholders. He is expected to report a record business in prospect, which will probably even exceed the $80 million goal set for 1958. A $90 million goal for 1959 has been announced.

Presidents of Farmers Union state organizations and the president of the National Farmers Union, James G. Patton, will be featured speakers at Tuesday evening's program.

As a climax to the the three-day convention, the delegates and visitors will be feted to the largest sit-down banquet in the United States on Wednesday evening in the Auditorium arena.

No. States Power Has Big Tax Bill

Northern States Power Company, which pays the second highest property taxes in the state of Minnesota, will pay Pennington county $1,217 this year in real estate, personal property and transmission line taxes. A first installment on personal property and transmission line taxes of $608 was paid the county by NSP this week.

"Northern States Power Company pays three per cent of all property taxes paid in Minnesota," said Allen S. King, NSP president. "Twenty-five cents out of every dollar taken in by NSP is paid out in taxes of all kinds. The company's total taxes for 1958 amounted to $38,701,000 and were $1,514,000 more than last year."

Bernard Augustine, Albert Lea, is master of ceremonies at the Thursday evening banquet. Along with the appearance of Deas and Princess Kay, a full evening of entertainment will be provided the delegates.

Postoffice Explains Regulations on Bingo

Noting a marked increase in questions about "bingo" as a lottery, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield today released some questions and answers on this subject:

Q. Does state law making bingo legal within individual states make it possible to use the mails to advertise bingo so long as such advertisements go only within state borders?

A. No. Changes in State laws do not affect the federal statutes restricting Bingo.

The Postal Lottery Law, Title 18, Section 1302, U.S. Code, prohibits any mailing of lottery matter —and bingo is considered a lottery—whether such mailing is a ticket, payment or advertisement.

It makes no difference that such mailing is confined within the borders of the State where such lottery may be legalized.

Q. Does the restriction against lottery "advertisements" apply only to newspaper advertisements?

A. No. The restriction applies equally to magazines and periodicals which go through the U.S. mails, as well as to any form of notice advertising a lottery sent through the mails by individuals or organizations.

Q. One does not think of bingo as being in the same category as the big lotteries such as the Irish Sweepstakes. Why is bingo considered a "lottery?"

A. The law says it is a lottery. Under federal court decisions, the classic identifications of a lottery are "consideration, chance and prize." There is consideration in the form of the fee paid to play; there is no doubt that there is chance in bingo; and prizes of cash or merchandise are offered.

Q. Suppose the advertisement of a bingo game does not mention "bingo" at all? Is it still prohibited in the mails?

A. Yes, bingo, or similar games using different names, cannot be advertised in any matter carried through the mails. The law cannot be evaded by such words as "Party" or "Games" or "Big Game Wednesday Night" or by merely printing "$". If the advertisement in fact relates to a lottery, it is a violation of the federal law.

Q. Are lotteries conducted for charity exempted in any way from the federal prohibitions?

A. None whatever. The Postal Lottery Law makes no exceptions in favor of lotteries conducted for worthy causes, or which might be regarded as a "little raffle."

"I hope," Mr. Summerfield commented, "that these answers will aid in public understanding of these laws, which the Post-Office department is duty bound to enforce."

Better Look First

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

Critics of the University of Minnesota expansion program are not concerned with whether the school builds in Minneapolis or St. Paul, despite attempts by university officials to create a different impression.

What they do question is the wisdom of any major expansion at the university before some basic philosophy of higher education is laid down for the entire state. No such philosophy exists.

Macolm Willey, academic vice president of the university, read a list of objections to expanding the school on St. Paul sites when he appeared before the House appropriations committee. This suggestion was raise two years ago but has not been revived since, except by Mr. Willey, apparently to justify the west bank campus project.

Interestingly, Mr. Willey said that the nearly 24 million dollars requested by the university for the proposed west bank program through 1967 would cover a transitional period in Minnesota education and that "some new pattern" of higher education might very well evolve in the state after 1970. He said what is done now in the way of providing facilities will have to carry the university to the time when it has been decided what the higher education pattern will be.

Why is this pattern not determined now or within the next two years before any university expansion program is authorized by the legislature?

Study may reveal that a feeder system of junior colleges should be developed, not only in outstate areas but in the Twin Cities and suburbs, to provide better educational opportunities for all. They all may take much of the burden off undergraduate facilities at the university.

Mr. Willey seems to recognize this possibility. He told the committee that facilities on the west bank should be placed where they "still will be useful in meeting the university load in professional and graduate education even after 1970."

Unfortunately, if present plans for costly investment in undergraduate school facilities on the west bank are accepted, it most certainly will hamper development of any "new pattern" of higher education. Legislators are not likely to grant aid for junior college construction in the Twin Cities if they already have laid out millions for freshmen and sophomore facilities at the university. Neither would lawmakers be inclined to expand other junior college programs elsewhere in the state as rapidly.

It is not a question of Minneapolis-St. Paul rivalry nor is this an urban-rural argument. The simple question to be answered is what direction should higher education take in the next 20 to 25 years?

Failure to answer that question first, before going ahead with a multi-million dollar construction program, is the height of irresponsibility and is not in the best interests of all the people of Minnesota.

Secrecy Deplored . . .

(Alexandria Park Region Echo)

We received a letter his week from the St. Louis County Press association in which publishers in that area deplored action by school boards to keep information about school operations from the public. These publishers specifically referred to condensation of legal reports on school board proceedings.

Much of the same procedure has been followed in Alexandria and elsewhere in the state where highly abbreviated school board proceedings are published. Just why this is done, we don't know. Cost certainly isn't much of a point as publishing a complete report wouldn't add much to the operation cost — possibly not more than $50 per month for a school system such as Alexandria.

For example, the Douglas county board each month publishes a complete report of its action, including an account of all bills paid for. We haven't taken the time to add up the amount, but we know that publication of this information, which is vital to all taxpayers, costs the taxpayers less than $2,000 per year.

There may be a reason for the school board's action but cost certainly isn't one of them.

We strongly feel, like the St. Louis county publishers, that the public has a right to know where school tax money is spent. The information can easily be presented in detail to all who want to know at little additional cost to the taxpayers. —G.E.D. in Alexandria (Minn.) Park Region Echo.

Locomotive as a Museum Piece

(Calgary Herald)

Now that Calgary, and Calgarians, have decided to purchase as a museum piece one of the giant 5900 series engines the only question which remains to be decided is the site for the steamer.

And this question bids fair to be more controversial than was the problem of whether to buy the locomotive from the CPR in the first place.

Several suggestions have been made — near the zoo, the Stampede grounds, Turner Siding — but we think the most imaginative plan put forth comes from Ken Liddell, Herald Columnist.

While Mr. Liddell, who has been a guiding spirit since the project began, suggests no specific site — he does point out, though, that the site finally selected will of necessity be permanent because of the engine's size and weight — he does think the locomotive should be the nucleus of a Calgary museum.

He envisions a building in the shape of an old-time frame railway station near the 5900 complete with platform and the distinctive bay window in front. The station museum could be fitted out with telegraph key and other fast-disappearing railway equipment, while wax figures —a Mountie, Indian and so on — could be appropriately placed in the waiting room and other offices. Further, a room could be set aside where films of the 5900s in action could be shown to the visiting public.

There is little doubt that such a set-up would provide irresistible to tourists and Calgarians alike. The museum would be unique in Canada and would be worth a good deal of money in publicity for the city and tourist dollars.

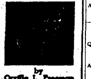
REPORT from the GOVERNOR



by Orville L. Freeman

Last week a bill was introduced into the Minnesota Legislature that I regard as one of the most important bills to be considered during all my experience in public life. It is a bill relating to ethics in government, and its provisions are designed to make sure that all elected and appointed government officials will act solely in the public interest.

Committee on Ethics

The bill is directly the result of the work of a committee I appointed more than a year ago to study and make recommendations on the subject of ethics in government. The committee membership included members of both major political parties and men with both legislative and executive experience in government, as well as leaders in citizens' and religious organizations and well known students of government. Dr. Charles Turck, former President of Macalester College was chairman until he accepted a new position outside of Minnesota, and Rabbi Plaut of St. Paul is its present chairman.

Reason for Committee

I appointed this committee because I believe that we should seek by every means to secure and maintain the highest possible standards of ethical conduct in public service. I believe that the great majority of the elected and appointed officials in Minnesota do their best to maintain such standards. But situations do arise that sometimes create doubt. Enactment of the bill would help to prevent such situations.

Conflicts of Interest

The bill would prohibit any officer or employee of the state from permitting himself to be placed in a position where his duty to the public interest conflicts with any private interest. In addition, members of the legislature having a personal or private interest in any measure coming before the legislature, or who represent any group having an interest in such bills are required to disclose such interest to the legislature or its committees. No officer or employee would be permitted to take part in decisions in which he had a pecuniary interest. Officers and employees would likewise be prohibited from appearing before any state board or agency as paid representatives of interests having matters before such agencies. There could then be no room for suspicion that any influence other than the public interest would affect the decisions made.

Public Support

I hope that Minnesota citizens will study and support this legislation, as well as that in another bill, already introduced, which incorporates the Ethics Committee's recommendations with regard to the regulation of lobbying.

Members of the Committee are eager to explain their recommendations to the public. In so doing, they will add to the already great service they have rendered to the people of Minnesota by the careful study and serious consideration which have already gone in to their report and recommendations.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—If I don't want to take my GI insurance dividends in cash, what kind of arrangements can I make with VA to hold dividends to my credit?

A—You have your choice of two plans. Under one, you simply tell VA you would like to have your dividends held for you, on deposit. In the other plan, called the dividend credit plan, VA holds your dividends, and will automatically withdraw funds to pay GI insurance premiums, in case you miss paying them. Under both plans your dividends draw interest.

Q—Can a veteran get a GI loan for the purpose of buying an automobile to be used in commuting to and from his job, or for pleasure driving?

A—No. However, if an automobile is found to be essential in a veteran's business or farming operations, it may be possible to get a GI loan.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, receiving compensation for a service-connected disability. Lately my handicap has made it harder for me to stay on the job and do my work. How can I get help from VA in training for a new job?

A—Apply to VA for vocational rehabilitation training. If VA finds that you are in need of training, you may enroll in school, on-the-job or on-the-farm training to prepare for a new career.

Q—I meet eligibility requirements for both disability compensation pensions. May I receive both?

A—No. The law says you may choose one or the other, but may not collect both.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

Allowances

Money is responsible for a great deal of family friction. Much of this could be prevented if we educated our children in its wise use. Just as writing and arithmetic are learned, money management has to be learned, and it's probably best taught while children are still at home. I have heard some people say, "Children don't need to be taught how to use money, they will learn through experience." It is true, children do learn through experience. But do we give them that experience early enough, or do we let them wait till they start earning for themselves.

One way of helping our children develop money-sense is to give them an allowance at regular intervals. Not only does this prevent bickering and tears, but it is also educational. When a child knows he has a stated amount to spend, he learns to plan his purchases before-hand. This gives him the practical experience that will help him appreciate the value of money.

Children learn at an early age that money plays an important part in everyday life, so we should start the allowance as soon as our child is old enough to know what money is and what he can do with it.

Each family has to decide what amount it wants to give its children. In general, it should depend on the age of the child, his needs and the family income. A weekly allowance of about a nickel at the age of 6 is a good beginning. As our child grows older we can give him responsibility for taking care of more and more of his needs, and can increase his allowance accordingly.

Once the allowance is set, we should leave the child free to spend it in his own way. Too often, we give an allowance to the child and then dictate how he should spend it. If we direct every bit of his spending it remains our money and has no educational value for him.

Since our purpose in giving an allowance is to train the child in the wise handling of money, withholding part of it as a punishment defeats our purpose. Regardless of how small or large the allowance is, it must be the child's to control and spend as he sees fit.

Grades 1 and 2

by Miss Ness

We all looked forward to our Valentine party on Friday, Feb. 13. The first and second grades both have their social studies books and are enjoying them. For room decoration these past two months, we have had bulletin boards entitled, Winter; Valentine; Snow Fairies and February.

We have enjoyed having music with the third and fourth grades in the gym, singing winter songs and also about Valentines Day.

The first graders are reading about Dick and Jane in the "New Fun with Dick and Jane" and the second graders are reading in "More Friends and Neighbors."

Grades 3 and 4

by Miss Gustafson

Well, Friday finally came! We had been thinking and planning for our Valentine party so long, we were really excited when the big days finally did come. We had a lot of fun, too. We enjoyed the games and the treats, but probably enjoyed our many valentines the most.

You have maybe never purchased anything at "The Kitty Katty Store," which is owned and operated by the third graders. The boys and girls in the third grade have been very busy in it, however, and have been learning much about the exchange of money through real experience.

Our new health book, "The Girl Next Door," has proven to be very interesting for our fourth graders. We have made new health posters to display in our room.

We have been making good use of the skating rink this winter. Many of our boys and girls have learned to skate.

Grades 5 & 6

By Mrs. Laymon

The weeks certainly to slip by and it's time again to bring you the news from grades 5-6. Our themes in our room the past weeks have been centered around Winter; Valentines Day; Lincoln's Birthday; and Washington's Birthday.

The sixth grade have made a bulletin board for Social Studies on the Red River Cart. Of course it centers around the recent Ox Cart Trek. The fifth grade have a bulletin board also, which is kept up to date corresponding with the groups of states studied. They have just finished studying the North Central states.

This nine weeks we have a spelling chart displayed. The three top students in order are: Alayne Berg, Judith Berg and Linda Erickson.

tendance records from our room in spite of sickness and weather. They are as follows: Marsha DeMaranville, Marion Copeland, Karen Kron and Jerome Sorenson. Our room had a Velentine's party on Friday.

Grades 7 and 8

by Mrs Martin

A local spelling contest was held in our room last week. Janice Sabo came out first and participated in the Marshall County Contest Saturday, Feb. 14, at Warren. The first place winner of the county contest will go to Minneapolis to represent Marshall County in the Minneapolis Tribune Spelling Bee on April 18. The second place winner will represent our county in the spelling contest at the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston, Feb. 25.

We had our Valentine party Friday afternoon. We exchanged valentines and enjoyed a lunch of cookies, milk and candy.

Our room has a hard time keeping perfect attendance. The last nine weeks nobody was here every day.

We finished Science in both grades and we are starting our new Health books. The boys have enjoyed playing basketball Percey Stokke has been coaching them whenever he finds time to do so. We appreciate his work in helping the boys.

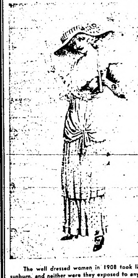
PEEKIN' into the PAST

PLAIN AND FLAT



The well dressed women in 1908 took little risk of sunburn, and neither were they exposed to any dangerous drafts, if one is to judge by the picture above. This little number was a design imported from Paris.

Stylists deplored the "plain and flat look" in the 1907 styles. After viewing some of these old fashions, one concludes "the only thing consistent about ladies' fashions, is that they always change."

A WAY OF WEEPING

By June Reed Ruff

AUNT JANE CALLOWAY stood at the kitchen window. Her nephew and his young wife were coming up the driveway. Ordinarily, she might have gone out to meet them, but she had not seen Larry since the accident, and she did not want him to be looking at her when she saw his empty left sleeve for the first time.

It wasn't like Larry to lean so heavily on Sybil, even if it was raining and slippery. He was always so independent. He had changed pitifully.

A tear made a warm furrow through a smudge of flour on her cheek, and Aunt Jane dabbed at it impatiently with the hem of her apron.

"Come on in!" she called brusquely.

"Smells good in here!" Sybil came in first.

"Mince Pie." Aunt Jane glanced at the oven significantly. "You didn't get here a minute too soon, either. The fires goin' down and the woodbox is empty. Better fetch me some wood."

She didn't look at Sybil, but she heard her little unbelieving gasp. The door opened and closed and Aunt Jane went to the window. Sybil was standing on the porch, watching Larry pick his way up the wet path from the woodlot.

Aunt Jane scuttled back to the stove before they returned to the kitchen. The few sticks thudded hollowly when Larry dropped them in the big woodbox.

"Looks like you'll have to make another trip," she said, "but first you'd better bring a pail of water so I can make coffee."

"I'll get it." Sybil reached for the galvanized bucket angrily.

Aunt Jane met the girl's turbulent brown eyes steadily.

"Not while there's an able-bodied man around," she said firmly.

Larry took the bucket and went out, closing the door quietly.

Aunt Jane made a stern expression. "He only has one arm and you been telling yourself it don't make no difference, but it does Admit it and you'll feel better, then you can start doing something about it. Having one arm doesn't make him half a man. It means he'll have to be twice the man he was, just to get by."

"You don't understand." Sybil's eyes brimmed.

Aunt Jane snorted. "Losing an arm won't cripple him, but you will, if you don't use a little common sense."

"People say you're eccentric," anger brightened Sybil's tears, "but maybe that's just a nice way of saying how cruel you are!"

Aunt Jane shrugged. "We aren't talking about me. We're talking about you. You just fetch and carry for that boy, open doors and button buttons 'till his good right arm and his courage wither up from lack of these. Then tell me who's cruel!"

Seeing an inkling of understanding on Sybil's face she grew kinder. "You wouldn't break down weeping every time you looked at Larry, child. But there are many ways of weeping. Every time you jump up and do something he can do for himself, it's a way of weeping. A way to remind him of his loss."

They moved to the window and watched Larry angle his way up the slippery path.

Aunt Jane returned to the stove and tipped the oven door slightly. She straightened slowly, a shadow in her blue eyes.

She squared her shoulders. So... folks thought she was eccentric, did they? She shrugged. It was like she told Sybil. There are many ways of weeping.

Offers Farmers Tips on Social Security

Key farm leaders in this area believe that a number of farmers are missing a "good thing" when it comes to social security, according to Walter D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks, North Dakota, social security office.

Many farmers are still a good distance away from reaching retirement age and many have children under age 18. Some of these farmers are not taking advantage of the option or choice in the social security law that permits them to report earnings for social security purposes, even though their actual net earnings for the year are less than $400.

Of course, if a farmer actually has net earnings of $400 or more in a year, he has no choice. He is obligated to report these earnings as a part of his federal income tax return and pay the social security tax, even though his total earnings are such that, with his exemptions, he may owe no federal income tax. However, if a farmer's net earnings are below $400, he may have a choice of reporting or not reporting for social security.

If a farmer's gross earnings are $1,800 or less, he may report, for social security purposes, two-thirds of his gross as his net. Thus, a farmer who had a gross income of $1,500 could report two-thirds of that amount or $1,000 as his net earnings for social security purposes, even though his actual net is less than $400.

Likewise, a farmer whose gross earnings are over $1,800 may report $1,200 as his net for social security purposes only, even though his net may be below $400. In order to receive social security credit for the year, the net reported must be at least $400.

Some younger farmers are not taking advantage of this option. Apparently, they do not realize that in failing to do so, they are not providing their families with survivors insurance protection under social security. Take for example, a farmer with a wife and two children under 18. If he had reported $1,200 a year from 1956 on for social security and if he died, his family could become entitled to $88.00 a month in survivors insurance.

Another mistaken idea is responsible for some farmers failing to report their earnings on the option. Some farmers believe that they can begin to report for two years or so as they approach 65 and then qualify for benefits at age 65. Definitely, this is not the case where younger persons are concerned. For example, a farmer who will reach 65 in January 1971 or later, will have to have reported for 10 years at least before he can be insured and entitled to benefits. And, it will be to his advantage to have reported for every year from 1956 on, as his average earnings, upon which the amount of his benefit will be based, may be higher for having reported every year. Similarly, a farmer who reaches 65 in the first six months of 1965 will have to have made social security reports for at least seven years to qualify for benefits at age 65 or later.

Farmers wishing to have further information should write or contact the social security office located at Grand Forks, North Dakota.

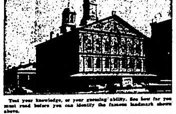
How Well Do You Know Your America?



Test your knowledge, or your guessing ability. See how far you must read before you can identify the famous landmark shown above.

Thousands of visitors to a famous American city always include the building shown above on their list of "things to see."

This landmark, known as the Cradle of Liberty, thrills young and old alike, as it has for over 200 years.

First built in 1742, as a gift to the city from "the topmost merchant in all town," the landmark burned in 1761 and was rebuilt in 1763. The structure built in that year was enlarged by architect Charles Bulfinch in 1805.

Used as a market place and public meeting hall, this building was the scene in pre-Revolutionary days, of more heated discussions than any other structure. Fiery speeches made here kindled the sparks of the American Revolution.

The landmark: Faneuil Hall, Boston, Massachusetts.

TAX FACTS #4

Deductions That Cut Your Tax Bill

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Minnesota Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

THE big question facing the small taxpayer at this time is whether to itemize deductions or take the standard deduction.

Before you give up and file a "short" form, take the time to add up the family expenses that could be deducted. If the deductions that could be itemized total more than 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, it will pay you to file a "long" Form 1040.

Here is a list of the more important items to watch for while you compile the list of family deductions:

Interest on Loans — The interest you paid on loans is deductible. This includes any mortgage, automobile, appliance, home improvement or personal loans you may have had. Interest on installment purchases is also deductible. Evidence, such as a statement from the seller, should be obtained to show the amount of interest that you paid during the year.

State and Local Taxes — Most taxes, other than federal taxes, are deductible. These include state and local real estate, personal property, income, retail sales, gasoline and poll taxes. You can deduct auto license fees, but not auto inspection fees. If you don't have an exact record of some of these taxes, you can make a reasonable estimate.

Charitable Contributions — Gifts to charitable, religious, educational, scientific or literary organizations are deductible. Generally, these contributions are deductible up to 20 per cent (in some cases 30 per cent) of your adjusted gross income. In adding up your donations, don't overlook the old clothes, toys, books or furniture you may have contributed to a local charity or church. The fair market value of these gifts is deductible.

Medical and Dental Expenses — Unless you or your wife has reached the age of 65, your medical expenses are deductible only to the extent that they exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income. Include in your medical deduction the cost of doctor, nursing, dentist's X-rays, and hospital services. You may also deduct premiums for health, accident and medical insurance.

Casualty Losses — You are entitled to deduct your uninsured home losses from fire, theft or storm. Damage to an automobile is deductible if the accident was due to faulty driving but not negligence on your part.

Child Care Expenses — Widowed, divorced or legally separated taxpayers, and in some cases any taxpayer, who must pay for the care of a dependent while they work can deduct up to $600 of this expense. Check carefully the requirements in the official instruction book before claiming a "baby-sitter" deduction.

Miscellaneous Deductions — If you had certain expenses in connection with your employment (other than travel and reimbursed expenses), you may claim them as miscellaneous deductions. Examples would be tools, uniforms, union dues and employment agency fees. "Periodic" alimony or separate maintenance payments ordered by the court are also deductible under this heading.

6¢ feeds a chick thru first 4 weeks

Chick Starter "20" was formulated for higher nutritive efficiency at the start, of course. But that's only part of the story. Not one pound of this new feed was released for sale until its higher nutritive efficiency had been proved. Then it was researched again; its efficiency stepped up again. And then—again! That's why today it feeds pullet chicks for even less than 6¢, why it produces healthier birds, why it produces birds that develop to the limit of inherited laying ability. Try it!

Senate Hears Many Opposed to Fast Time

200 Persons Attend St. Paul Hearing to Ask Standard Time

A crowd of farm men and women more than 200 strong jammed a hearing room Wednesday to appeal to the Legislature to keep the state on standard time.

Sen. R. J. Keller of Winona, chairman of the Senate general legislation committee which has charge of daylight savings bills, said the committee would make a decision at its meeting next Wednesday.

Farmer opponents of fast time were joined by representatives of motion picture theater operators, an orchestra leader, and two representatives of the Northwestern Minnesota Border Council.

The latter two, Henry Tweeten and Mike Jacobs, both of East Grand Forks, said they were against fast time. They asked that if statewide daylight saving time is adopted a 10-mile strip along the Minnesoa-North Dakota border be granted the privilege of local option.

With North Dakota on standard time, they added, having the border area of Minnesota on fast time would cause great inconvenience.

Farmer witnesses, representing the Farm Bureau, the Farmers Union and the Grange, submitted these arguments:

Farmers must work by the sun, cannot get into the fields until the dew is off, but the hired help insists on quitting "while the sun is still high."

Cows and chickens cannot adjust to daylight time, cutting production. One witness commented that it is impossible for chickens to lay by changing the clocks.

Standard time fits the pattern of rural living.

Children don't get enough sleep with daylight time.

Marshall county has a quota of $4,764 for the 1959 campaign which is an increase of $611 over the 1958 quota which totaled $4,153.

Rotary Club Told by Director S. Nelson of Area School Growth

Goes to Fargo

HARRY NOHRE

Manager of the Thief River Falls Red Owl Supermarket until this week when it was taken over by Otto Stenberg and Stan Sandvig, who has been transferred to Fargo to be assistant manager of the South Broadway Red Owl store in that city. Nohre's family will remain here until living quarters have been secured.

Enrollment in the area vocational school increased from 73 students on Nov. 1, 1957, to 188 on Nov. 3, 1958, Stanley W. Nelson, director of the school told members of the Rotary club at the regular Monday luncheon meeting.

Nelson, who used several tables to illustrate his talk, said that students come from 70 different communities for their education in Thief River Falls. Resident students number 32 at the present time and non-resident students total 156.

Cosmetology accounts for a large part of the increase, according to the director. There were nine students last year and 36 today. All classes show an increase over a year ago.

Income was down during last summer when the enrollment was down, but summer enrollment this year is expected to equal that of the other seasons, Nelson said. In answer to a question concerning the size of the student body of the school, he added that the only limiting factor in some classes was the restriction of available facilities. In other cases, classes are restricted by state regulations.

The possibility of a "swing shift" of business courses was mentioned as one method which could be used to make educational facilities available to more students.

Nelson concluded his talk with a brief question and answer period which was concerned mainly with discussion of the proposed A and E mechanics course.

A brief report was made by Gordon Dow on the attendance of 13 members at the international Rotary good will convention in Winnipeg last Saturday. The group traveled on the Soo line using the private car of E. A. Hamerski, division superintendent, and returned Sunday evening.

The report of the nominating committee was read at the meeting. I. T. Mickelson was nominated for president; Jarvis Prichard for vice president; Milton Schlechter as secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Dan Greene and Charlie Smith as directors.

Council Seeks Special Law on Airport Bldg.

Meeting Monday Is Also Told Turbine Needs Repair Job

Final action on the proposed airport shop building which would be leased to the school district as a training facility of the area vocational school was pushed further into the future Monday night at a special meeting of the city council.

Robert Wurst, city attorney, read a letter from a bonding attorney which asked the council to request special legislation to cover any unforeseen details which might arise. After consideration, the council voted to ask that such legislation be prepared and introduced. Councilmen Bob Bob Carlson, S. G. Sandvig, Roy Lee, and S. A. Honebrink voted in favor of the request. Councilman A. J. Rau abstained and E. B. Benson was absent.

Revised figures for the building's construction were presented by Alderman Lee, a member of the finance committee of the council. Including such suggested additions to the original plans as a double-glazed skylight, storm windows, deeper footings and the water connections and sewage disposal as well as the bonding attorney's fees, the completed building would cost $29,807.44. Amortizing the loan over a 15-year period at 4% interest would make necessary payments of $247 monthly including insurance.

Dr. Milton Starekow, president of the school board, told the council that the board would agree to a lease of that duration and at the quoted figure. In his remarks concerning the lease, Dr. Starekow also mentioned the possibility that the board would also need to lease further space for elementary school use before further facilities were made available by construction of an additional school.

Morris Owen, chief engineer of the municipal power plant, appeared before the council to report that the windings on one of the 31-year-old water turbines burned out during the recent failure of electrical service from the bureau of reclamation, and that repairs costing about $7,100

By STAN PETERSON

One who enters into politics is, too often, changed for the worse. It is especially disheartening to see this happen to one with whom you were once acquainted.

Eighteen years ago, I knew a young man at the University of Minnesota for whom everyone had a great deal of respect and admiration.

The young man, then in his 20's, was an excellent student, a better-than-average athlete and a forceful political figure on the campus. With his fiance, Jane, he attended parties and was liked by all because of his personal charm and excellent manners.

Returning home to my native state last year after a too-long absence where this young man was now governor, I found him changed by the years.

I have reported his appearance in our community and the appearance of his fellow political candidates in news stories which I firmly believe were objective and impartial—at least no member of his political party has ever accused me of slighting their group or of inaccuracy.

Personally, I have stayed out of any discussion which might be held by some people as being political in nature. There have been times when I felt that the views of the governor were in error but I have refrained from any comment.

What I have to say is in no way political. It is only the reaction of one whose chosen profession has been recklessly and thoughtlessly attacked. The one who made the recent serious charge is a public figure who, despite his education, experience and intelligence, has taken advantage of his position to make an unwarranted charge against the weekly press of Minnesota.

I said "unwarranted" for I firmly believe, after some years of experience in journalism, that Governor Freeman had no factual basis for his public pronouncement.

The governor, in a speech in Rochester, said that U.S. Steel "can buy full-page ads in 500 Minnesota weekly newspapers twice a year and get favorable editorial treatment the other 50 weeks." When the retiring president of the Minnesota Editorial Association spoke to the governor about this statement, he was told that the number of newspapers and the amount of advertising involved might be in error and if so, he was sorry. "But," added the governor, "my feelings are still the same in essence. —If I am criticized (by the newspapers of Minnesota) then I am ready to defend my position."

As one newspaperman in the state of Minnesota, I am anxiously awaiting this defense. In all fairness to the profession of journalism, I would like to see an itemized list of these newspapers together with documented proof that the ads (if any) which were used influenced the editorial treatment of those newspapers. As a lawyer, the governor should not forget that under our system of laws, the burden of proof is on the accuser. He has made the charge, now let him back it up with more than a blanket indictment of the Fourth Estate in a personal appearance.

This matter is more serious than it may appear to a casual observer. The governor, with his statement, has questioned the honesty of the editorial policies of every weekly newspaper in the state. Until the matter is resolved one way or the other, there will be many who may question every word that is written and printed.

Since the beginning of our nation's history, the press has guarded the freedom and liberty of the people. Time after time, some have found that the newspapers have not agreed with their views and actions and have retaliated by attacking those who differ with them. This is being done again.

I still respect the governor's energy but, like a skyrocket, it has this time been expended in a tremendous roar and a sudden burst for public exhibition, falling to earth burned out and useless leaving nothing but some burned fingers and a bad smell.

58 at Clinic for String Musicians

Region 8 Event Is Held Monday at Lincoln High

Four region 8 schools were represented by 58 musicians Monday, Feb. 23, at a string clinic held in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

The violinists, violists, cellists and string bass players from Twin Valley, Bemidji, Crookston and Thief River Falls rehearsed for four hours under the direction of Howard Mickens, violinist and a member of the music staff of Bemidji State college. Mickens is also conductor of the Bemidji Symphony orchestra which was recently reactivated.

The clinic consisted mainly of reading new and unfamiliar music with comments and instruction on various string-playing techniques. Students were given an opportunity to hear and play with musicians from other schools and enjoyed playing in a larger group than most do in their own schools.

Family Life Topic of Lincoln School PTA Monday Night

Lively Panel Discussion Is Held with Rev. Robert Abbott as Moderator

A large attendance was registered at the Lincoln high school PTA on Monday evening in the school cafeteria when a "Parent and Family Life" program was presented.

President Merle Lindberg conducted a brief business session and introduced the program. The group passed a resolution commending the Lincoln high school hockey team for their very favorable showing at the state tournament.

Two selections were sung by the high school girls sextet under the direction of Bryant Ulseth, followed by a talk by Mary Demetreliou, Greek exchange student who lives here with Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Ewing and family while attending school. She described daily life in her native land, and answered questions by the audience.

Students in Greece attend classes from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. without any noon lunch. Shops close at 2 p.m. also, and families have their dinner, followed by a two-hour nap. Home study and other activities, including supper occupy the time until midnight. Her major problem here has been her use of the English language which she found to be much different from the English she learned in the Greek schools.

The discussion of family life problems by a panel consisting of Judy Wold, Mark Larson, Miss Geraldine Overland, Lawrence Brown, Mrs. Hans Chommie, Mrs. Quentin Jones, Malcolm Magnuson and Sid Lieberman, under the direction of Rev. Robert Abbott, proved to be a highlight, judging by audience response. Interest was stimulated by the spirited response of each member of the panel, particularly the capable handling of problems by Judy Wold and Mark Larson, the student members. It was unanimously agreed that every family needs to provide time and thought for more whole-family activities.

Lunch was served by the ninth grade mothers.

Council Puts Off Action on Airport Building Again

would be necessary. The council voted to call for bids for the work with bids to be opened March 17.

Members of five township boards met with the council to further discuss the possibility of a fire truck for joint use by the townships and the city. In addition to representatives from Smiley, Silverton, Norden and Excell townships, two representatives were present from Agder township to present their views.

The sentiment of these latter representatives was that their area was too sparsely populated and too far from the city to make the arrangement feasible.

In addition to a proposed plan under which each township would be assessed $3,000 for the purchase of a truck, a suggestion was made that residents of the areas involved could be assessed according to the valuation of their property.

No definite action was taken at the meeting other than the council's assurance that the city would take part in the project if the four townships represented approved the action at the March 10 election.

Attorney Wurst presented a summary of pending legislation before the state legislation. Members of the legislature from this area will be informed that the council opposes legislation which would provide for jury trials in municipal court cases. They also went on record opposing a change in hearings involving public employees which would authorize the governor rather than the district court judge to appoint a third person in disputes where an agreement cannot be reached between the employee's representative and the representative of the employer. If changed the law would make the decision of the third person binding.

A petition bearing the names of 15 residents of the third ward urging the appointment of Ralph Hunt to succeed Stan Sandvig as alderman of the ward was read but no action was taken. Sandvig's resignation becomes effective March 1. Hunt, a former member of the council, is proprietor of the First Street grocery.

Action on the purchase of a new police squad car and discussion on the purchase of an additional garbage truck was delayed until the March 17 meeting.

The next meeting of the council will be Monday, March 2, when the matter of the storm sewer in district 3 will again be discussed.

Auto Wrecked on T.H. 32 Wednesday

John R. Carlson, Driver, Escapes without Injury

A Thief River Falls man, John R. Carlson, escaped uninjured from a crash which almost completely demolished his car about 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Carlson was driving north on highway 32 just south of the bowling alley when he saw a car parked or moving very slowly in his lane. Because of thick fog that morning it was difficult to see clearly and when Carlson attempted to avoid a collision with the other car, his car went into the ditch, rolling end-for-end.

The vehicle came to rest with its wheels up in the air, according to Deputy Sheriff Eugene Prestegaard, who was at the scene. It was damaged severely, with all windows but two broken and the top badly mashed down.

Blame for the accident was laid to the heavy fog which prevailed at the time.

Dial-Meditation Service Steadily Gains Popularity

Fast becoming the most widely known telephone number in Thief River Falls is MUrdock 1-1214. The number belongs to "Dial-A-Meditation," a daily 45-second devotional sponsored by the Evangelical Free Sunday school. The voice that responds to a call is that of Rev. Joseph Swan.

Pastor Swan stated that the sole purpose of the program is to provide a spiritual thought for the day to anyone desiring to call MU 1-1214. He emphasized that in no way were the services of the church being promoted through "Dial-A-Meditation," and also that he has no way of knowing who is placing a call.

The response to this program, the first of its kind in the area, has been overwhelming, says Rev. Swan. During the busy hours of the day it has seemingly been impossible to get a call through. Especially grateful for this service have been the elderly people who reside at the rest homes or are confined to their homes.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Kistler Explains Rights of Disabled Persons

A representative from the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security Administration, will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, March 3, at 10 a.m. He will answer questions about social security and accept claims for benefits.

Recent changes in the social security law, allow payments to dependents of qualified disabled workers, according to W. D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office of the Social Security Administration.

Prior to this time, qualified disabled workers could draw benefits. Now, dependents — wives and children — of such qualified disabled workers, may also qualify for payments. These payments must be applied for. If a married man is receiving disability payments, his wife may draw if she is 62 or over. If she is under 62, she may also draw if she has a child under 18 in her care, or a disabled child over 18 in her care. The children also draw benefits.

That win boosted the Pirates' team total to 19, and a two-game bulge over the runner-up Roseau Cloverleafs, who dropped a 9 to 6 decision to Grand Forks on Sunday afternoon.

In a game played at Thief River Falls on Wednesday night, the Thieves defeated the Grand Forks Jets, 10 to 2, to move into third place in the league standings.

The league playoff schedule will be held in abeyance until the Crookston Pirates return from their participation in the state senior hockey tournament in Minneapolis. The Pirates are slated to meet Taconite in a first round game.

Dale Wennberg of Prowlers on All-state High School Hockey Squad

Here are the 15 players chosen to the 1959 all-tournament squad for the Minnesota high school hockey finals in St. Paul last week-end. In Memorium

In loving memory of our dear mother, Anna Rodahl, who passed away March 1, 1953.

The Master called our mother
To come with Him above,
There to share with others,
The blessings of His love.
Dear mother you are not forgotten
Though on earth you are no more.
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

Sadly missed by her family. 1t17p

One of These Days

One of these days, we hope, the basketball Prowlers will, collectively, have a "hot" scoring streak, and what a score the blue-and-gold will roll up in that game! And what could be more appropriate than to have this high-scoring game during the district tournament that gets under way on Monday?

We have witnessed the Prowler cagers in all of the 16 games on their 1958-59 schedule, and the boys have turned in some phenomenal individual scoring performances. We can readily recall the three outside jump shots that Mickey Hanson dunked in the first period against Ada, which sparked the locals to a 17 to 6 first period lead; and Mickey's six field goals in the second period against Fertile, and his five-goal second period outburst, from the outside, against Halstad. And, of course, we vividly remember the eight field goals that Phil Hanson dropped into the west basket in the first period of the Prowlers vs. East Grand Forks game here.

The Prowlers have the potential of scoring from anywhere in the opponent's defensive zone. We are hoping to be present when the boys have an all-out game, for it would be something to watch Phil Hanson hit on his outside jumpers and his drive-ins; Mickey Hanson flipping his jumps from the circle; Lynn Nicholson tossing his one-handed lofts from just to the left of the lane; center Ronnie Hanson hooping his righthanded and lefthanded hook shots; and Bob Pearson connecting on his corner shots. In a game like this, the Prowlers would score a million points.

According to present plans, the Prowler basketball squad will be making a trip to Grand Forks on Friday night for the North Dakota A.C. vs. North Dakota U. The intentions are to bring the squad into the fieldhouse early enough so that the boys can watch the game between the North Dakota U frosh and the A.C. frosh. The frosh game will have added interest for the Prowlers because Dave Hanson and Ken DeLap, Prowler squad members last year, and Chuck Kankel, with Red Lake Falls last season, are on the Sioux freshman squad.

The Black Knights

Elmer Poole's black-shirted Viking Tavern bowling team — Pat Poole, Art Overbye, Freddy Jensen, Duane Bakke, and Dean Anderson—continue to pace the high-average Tuesday night Business league, and they refuse to buckle under the pressure that is being applied by the Hamm's, the Vets and the Elks.

On Tuesday night, in a "crucial" match against the Elks Club squad, the Black Knights turned in a fine three-game series to make a sweep of the match. The Hamm's, three games off the pace, kept in contention by taking their match from the Middle River Cities Service club.

There's no telling how high the scores of the Viking Tavern team would be if Pat and Art and Freddy and Duane and Dean would take their league bowling seriously!

Marv vs. Snort

Marv Washnesky vs. John (Snort) Langseth is the pairing for Sunday's match in the Northern Chevy's singles bowling tournament at the Family Bowl lanes.

Young Leif Erickson had the rangy Washnesky "on the ropes" in their match last Sunday, holding a seventeen-pin lead entering the final game of the three-game total-pins match. Leif had chalked up a pair of 170-pin games while Marv had tallied a 152 and 171. But in this final tilt, Leif ran into all kinds of difficulties, and came in with a meager 135-pin. Washnesky marked up a 163-pin game to win the series by thirteen pins and collect another of Al Holzknecht's five-dollar bills.

Women Curlers to Conduct Bonspiel Feb. 27 and Mar. 6

The women's curling club will conduct a bonspiel on the local ice sheets at the Fair Grounds, with first round draws being slated for Friday, Feb. 27, and the concluding draws to be played on Friday, March 6.

First round draws slated for this week will find, at 7:00 p.m., the Vivian Porter rink meeting the Betty Liden rink, and the Ramona Groven rink meeting the Mae Jahr rink. On the 9:00 p.m. draw, the Angie Lubitz rink will meet the Millie Furuseth rink. The Alice Liden rink drew a first round bye.

Thieves Score 10 to 2 Win over Grand Forks

The senior hockey Thieves closed out their 1958-59 Northwest hockey schedule on Wednesday night by defeating the Grand Forks Jets, 10 to 2, on the Arena ice. The game was a rescheduling of the Grand Froks at Thief River Falls game of Feb. 14, which was postponed.

The two teams, the Jets and the Thieves, entered the game here last night in a deadlock for third place in the league standings, with each team having ten points. The Thieves, by virtue of their decisive win over the short-handed Jets, took over third place in the league standings.

The Thieves made short work of piling up a comfortable lead on Wednesday night, slamming six goals into the north net to take command of the game. The Darryl Durgin-Monty Markstrom duo collaborated for the first tally, with Durgin tallying at the 1:18 mark. Gordy Bjerken, with a neat goal, scored at 4:16 mark. Durgin hit the twine at the 8:38 mark, with the Jets having a player in the penalty box. The last three goals in the period were scored by the Offerdahl brothers, with Cal getting a pair and DelRay notching a single.

The two teams divided the scoring in the second period, with each club scoring twice. Greg Ranum and Art Cloutier were the Thieves' marksmen, while Pat Crough and Warren Stokes scored for the Jets.

Goals by Allen Steenerson and Bjerken in the third period closed out the game scoring, giving the locals a deserved 10 to 2 win.

Bar Group Tells How to Rate Gross Income

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on Income Tax. These articles are made available as a public service by the Minnesota Bar association, public relations committee.)

Wages and Other Payments By an Employer

In preparing your tax return the first item you must determine is your gross income. Unless you are engaged in a business or have income from property this figure will normally consist of cash received from your employer. However, some cash receipts are excluded from gross income. Conversely, you may have income even though you receive no cash.

Normally the fair market value of things you receive as compensation must be included in your income. If your employer provides you with a house in which to live, its rental value is income to you. So too if he pays for your meals. The only exception to this rule about meals and lodging is that if they are furnished to you on your employer's premises for his convenience they are not income. For example, if it is essential to your employer that you be on his property 24 hours a day and he furnished you a house on the property, its rental value is not income to you. If, on the other hand, he pays your rent as an inducement to get you to move to a new location, the rent he pays is income to you.

Although usually the fair market value is the amount to be included in income as the result of the receipt of property from your employer, if you have agreed to work for a specified amount and he pays you with property rather than cash, the amount you have agreed upon will normally be the amount to include in income.

Non-Taxable Payments By an Employer

Some cash payments by an employer are not included in income. Premiums paid by the employer for group term life insurance, group health insurance, etc., are not income. Payments made by the employer for moving expenses when he requires an employee to move to a new location are not income to the employee. Gifts are not income unless the are in the nature of a bonus. And, probably most important, most payments made to an employee while he is unable to work because of sickness or injury are not required to be included in income. These sick pay payments will be covered in detail in a later article.

Prizes and Awards

A person receiving a prize or award from entering a contest, from a bingo game or as the winner of a free drawing must include in his income the market value of the prize received. A scholarship which does not require work in addition to going to school, or an award in recognition of an outstanding literary, scientific or civic achievement are exceptions to the general rule and do not constitute taxable income to the recipient.

Sale Proceeds, Dividends and Interest

If you sell property at a gain or receive dividends or interest, such items are included in income. However, interest on state and municipal bonds is exempt from federal tax, and interest on Minnesota municipal bonds and United States bonds is exempt from the Minnesota tax. The first $50 of dividends received by an individual are excludable from taxable income on the federal returns.

Rule for Pay of Serviceman

An important and often overlooked provision affecting all servicemen filing Minnesota returns is the rule excluding from gross income taxable by the state the first $3,000 of pay received for services in the armed forces of the United States. The rule applies regardless of the rank, length of service or station of the serviceman.

To Pick Champion Farmer-Sportsman

12th Annual Selection to Be Made by Committee

Conservationists, soil and forestry workers compose the state selection committee for the champion farmer-sportsman, who will be honored at the Northwest Sports show at the Minneapolis auditorium Sunday, April 5.

It is the 12th year that a farmer has been awarded a citation and other awards by the show.

More than 60 counties are expected to choose their county farmer-sportsman and send their records to the state committee who from these nominations choose the state's most outstanding, four regional champions and four runners-up.

The champion farmer-sportsman and his wife and the county agent and his wife from the champion's county, are awarded all expense paid trips to the Sport Show by Nick Kahler, promoter.

This event has built sound conservation, increased wildlife habitat especially for upland game and greatly benefited farmer-hunter relations, a committee spokesman said.

The committee includes Paul Burson, professor of soils, University of Minnesota; Parker Anderson, extension forester, U. of M.; Harold Swanson, director of information, Institute of Agriculture, U. of M.; R. W. Bath, 4-H club leader, U. of M.; W. J. Kortesmaki, executive secretary, Future Farmers of America; Verlon Welch, Minnesota Farm Bureau; Robert Rupp, associate editor, The Farmer; Clinton W. Fishing Houses Must Be Removed by February 28

Ice fishing houses must be removed from the ice by Feb. 28, Francis W. Johnson, chief game warden, warned today. All debris must be carried away and not left on the ice. Johnson emphasized that such refuse as tin cans, bottles, and garbage or debris of any description must not be left on the ice. Johnson also warned that if ice houses are left on the ice they stand the chance of being burned down by wardens. Owners of these houses can be taken into court and subject to fines for failure to comply with this law.

Light Infestation of Grasshoppers Expected in 1959

Most of Minnesota to Escape Serious Attack, State Survey Indicates

Most of Minnesota will escape having much of a grasshopper problem this summer.

At least, that's the indication from a survey of adult grasshoppers and eggs conducted late last summer, according to John Lofgren, University of Minnesota extension entomologist, and J. R. Sandve, entomologist for the state department of agriculture.

They found that hopper numbers are down from previous years in many counties and that only four areas had "threatening" infestations. These areas included: Mower and eastern Freeborn counties, northwestern Rock and most of Pipestone; Big Stone, Traverse and parts of Stevens, Swift, Chippewa and Lac qui Parle; and Mille Lacs and part of Morrison, Sherburne and Kanabec counties.

The rest of the state has either "light" or "noneconomic" infestations.

Lofgren and Sandve said no severe infestations were found anywhere in the state. And even where they classified the areas as "threatening," they found infestations spotty and varying widely from one farm to the next. They say local weather will determine how serious the grasshopper problem will become in individual areas.

Most of the grasshopper trouble in recent years has been in alfalfa and other forage crops, although the pests attack other crops, too. Farmers have a wide choice of chemicals for controlling grasshoppers. All county agent offices have complete recommendations for spraying.

$46 Million Paid in Life Insurance Benefits in State

Total Was About Same as Paid in 1957; National Payments Hit $2.9 Billion

Minnesota families received $46,642,000 during 1958 in death benefits from their life insurance companies, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. These payments were made under 22,305 policies.

The 1958 death payments compare with 46,232,000 the year before, under 21,837 policies.

"The death benefits paid in this state last year were 87 per cent more than ten years ago," the Institute commented. "In 1948, they amounted to $24,965,000 under 14,439 policies. Although the death rate in the U.S. rose slightly last year, the increase in life policy death benefit payments was primarily a reflection of the greater amount of life insurance owned. The death rate among policyholders declined over the decade. Ownership of life insurance in this state increased 124 percent between the start of 1948 and the start of 1958."

Of the 1958 death claim payments in the state, $30,339,000 was under 10,557 ordinary life insurance policies; $14,451,000 was under 5,482 group life insurance certificates; and $1,852,00 was under 5,906 industrial life insurance policies.

For the nation as a whole, the 1958 aggregate of death claim payments was $2,909,037,000 under 1,932,586 policies, compared with $2,710,688,000 under 1,863,906 policies the year before and $1,446,607,000 under 1,334,658 policies in 1948.

I must, in candor, say I do not think myself fit for the Presidency.

Total cost of purchasing the nearly 61,000 acres of wetlands is $1,897,071.

Seeing The Other Side

BY W. E. DAHLQUIST

In the summer of 1956 I converted my piggy bank savings into a ticket to Europe. As a wandering, wondering reporter I set aside the vague and impersonal editorial "we" for the more personal first-person "I," and passed along my personal observations on how our relatives in the Scandinavian countries and Russia were doing.

Now I am on my way again for a visit to a stranger part of this world of ours in which I will be very much a stranger. On Thursday I fly from New York and on Saturday I should be in the Belgian Congo of Africa.

It had been 20 below zero in Thief River Falls when I left there Wednesday. From there to equatorial Leopoldville is a leap out of the ice box into the oven. I expect, however, that the change in temperature will be only one of the changes to which I will have to adjust in the land to which I am going.

After several days in Leopoldville and across-the-river Brazzaville, capital of a new republic that was French Equatorial Africa, I will proceed up the Congo river by boat, arriving in Stanleyville March 10. From this point on my journey has not been scheduled. I hope to spend several days in the Lake Victoria area, moving on to Nairobi, the capital of Kenya, in British East Africa. From there my course will be northward into the Nile river country and on to Cairo, Egypt. A hundred years ago this would have been quite a journey. Now it is as routine, they tell me, as a vacation trip to Phoenix.

From Cairo I have in mind visiting a few points along the north African coast. If the dollars hold out and conditions permit I will try to see a little of the Middle East countries before starting the return journey.

This brief trip to a vast continent is not going to make me an authority on any of the countries I visit. I do hope, however, that by personal observation, supplemented by the many written records that are always available, I will be able to tell an interesting story about a part of the world that in recent years has been very much in the news.

Africa is in revolt. Much of the revolution has been and is a part of a peaceful transition from a primitive way of life to the ways of the age of the atom. Some of the revolution is explosive. Masses of people, long subservient to governments imposed upon them without their consent, justified only by an outdated concept of the right of conquest, have tasted of the cup of freedom, and they have liked the taste.

A little freedom is never enough. The little merely whets the appetite for more. In Africa as elsewhere, the struggle for liberty, once started, no doubt will become a continuing pressure, increasing in strength as it develops.

Wise observers are concerned about what is happening. They agree that the giant, disturbed from a long sleep, has come to life and is now on the move. They wonder if the giant will move into a period of orderly development or if there is a violent storm in the making.

This is the question your wandering reporter will be wondering about as he wanders about in Africa.

from the Desk of SENATOR HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Retirement Aid

Growing interest is being shown in Congress toward making it possible for self-employed people to accumulate individual retirement funds through tax deferments. Under present law, company employees who are members of qualified pension, profit sharing, or stock bonus plans get substantial tax advantages in providing for retirement. Funds put in such plans by the employer need not be reported as income, and the company may treat such funds as current expense. It seems only fair and just that there be some similar program for the self-employed.

Keogh-Simpson Bill

Last year, the House passed the Keogh-Simpson bill to correct this situation. While I supported the motion to bring it before the Senate, it failed to get Senate approval at that time. The measure has been reintroduced in the House this year as H.R. 10, permitting self-employed persons to defer payment of income taxes on portions of their income they put into an individual retirement fund. It would be of especial benifit to professional people such as physicians, dentists, and lawyers who under present tax laws are at a substantial disadvantage in planning for their retirement. The measure has already been favorably reported this year by the House Ways and Means Committee.

What it does — H.R. 10 would permit a self-employed individual to deposit 10 percent of his income, or $2,500, whichever was less, into a retirement fund and deduct this amount from his taxable income. The bill would limit the total deductible for retirement purposes to $50,000. The income tax would eventually be paid on the pension received from the retirement fund, but would in most cases be less than at the time the income was earned. In my opinion, this is an important and meritorious proposal which I shall support.

For Small Business — In fact, along with Senator John Sparkman (D., Ala.) and others, I am sponsoring a somewhat similar proposal in the Senate — S. 1009 — which is even broader than the Keogh-Simpson Bill. It provides that all persons who are now eligible for membership in a "qualified plan" under the present tax code would be permitted to deduct up to 10 percent of his taxable income, or $1,000, whichever is lesser, if invested in a voluntary individual retirement plan. My proposed bill would be of special value to small businessmen, especially owners of unincorporated firms who under present tax law are not considered an "employee" for the purpose of membership in a qualified pension plan. Legislation along the lines suggested in my bill and in the Keogh-Simpson bill is long overdue. I am confident that our efforts to gain its passage will be more successful in this Congress.

Cuban situation And Our Sugar Act

Although the Cuban revolution is not now claiming the headlines it was a short time ago, many loose ends still remain, one of which is important to the people and the economy of our Ninth District. The governmental turnover in our island neighbor to the south and east complicates the upcoming extension of the Sugar Act. Because of the Ninth District's large sugar beet industry, the form this new act takes will be of significance to the production of beets in our District.

"Great Concordia Choir Sings Here Again"

This was the way Paul Hume, world-famous critic of the Washington Post, headlined his article on the Concordia Choir's concert here in Washington last week. And it is doubtful that anyone who heard the choir's offerings in Constitution Hall would disagree with the adjective "great" being used to describe the singing of this group of young people from Moorhead. But it wasn't only their singing which was a credit to themselves, their college, and the area from which they come. Their conduct, both on and off the stage, showed them to be wholesome, joyful ambassadors of good will. Each time they came on stage they were smiling broadly, and this spirit of joy pervaded their singing and visibly moved the audience.

After the concert, Professor Paul Christiansen and his choir were the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Koht at a reception in the Swedish Embassy. Our staff had the pleasure of attending this reception and being able to chat with the members of the choir, over one-third of whom make their homes in the Ninth District.

"Don't He Know All Us Strugglers?"

On February 12 Poet-Historian Carl Sandberg painted a word-picture of Abraham Lincoln for a joint session of Congress, called to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the birth of our 16th President. In the course of his talk, Mr. Sandberg said one thing about Lincoln which stuck in my mind, and which I wanted to pass on to you in this complex time when it is all too easy for all of us on occasion to lose heart—"The people of many other countries take Lincoln now for their own. He belongs to them. He stands for decency, honest dealing, plain talk, and funny stories. 'Look where he came from—don't he know all us strugglers, and wasn't he a kind of tough struggler all his life right up to the finish?' Something like that you can hear in any near-by neighborhood and across the seas."

PONTIAC NAMED CAR · OF · THE · YEAR

"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling... performance and styling of any '59 car" —The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine

In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."

"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."

"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."

"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."

"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."

Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS
Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

FREE! If you would like a reprint of the complete, illustrated article with all the tests and evaluations on which Motor Trend judged Pontiac "Car of the Year"—see your Pontiac dealer or simply send your name and address on a postcard to Pontiac Motor Division, Department 10, Pontiac, Michigan.

County Homemakers at Crookston Feb. 18

"Learning About Leadership," was the topic of an extension home program conference held Feb. 18 at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston.

Seventy-five women from nine counties in northwestern Minnesota participated in the one-day meeting. Thirteen women represented the various homemaker groups in Pennington county.

George Donohue, rural sociologist, University of Minnesota, agricultural extension service, spoke on "Leadership—A Learned Process."

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, home agent at large of the University of Minnesota, discussed "The Problem-solving Way to Working" and "Understanding Group Climate."

Donohue stated that much of the ineffectiveness and outright failure of groups is the result of the notion that leadership qualities are restricted to and reside in gifted individuals; "they were were born that way."

Leadership, like all other skills, is an acquired behavior, much like a child learning to walk or talk. There are individual differences in the speed and ability of acquiring these skills. The basic difference between good leaders, poor leaders, and non-leaders is the amount of training and experience they possess, he said.

Donohue also discussed the general skills possessed by all leaders, the functions of a leader, and the different types of leadership.

Mrs. Gifford outlined the eight steps which a group follows in getting jobs done.

"Every group has to spend time and energy learning how to work well together," stated Mrs. Gifford.

The Pennington county women who attended the meeting were Mrs. Frank Heinze, Mrs. Elizabeth Marquette, Mrs. Mona Engelstad, Mrs. Harry Oen, Mrs. Oscar Gunstad, Mrs. Wendel Corbet, Mrs. Melvin Molden, Mrs. Odin Hanson, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, Mrs. Svanajord, Mrs. Alton Carlson, Mrs. Sig Folkedahl and Mrs. Charles Svendsgaard.

Potato Diversion Plan Is Extended

Arrangement Extended Three Weeks to Mar. 20

The Red River Valley potato committee has been advised that the freeze-thaw pasture spreading method of diverting potatoes has been extended to permit spreading until midnight March 20, according to Lyle W. Currie, executive secretary. This method of potato diversion was due to end February 28; however at the request of the Red River Valley potato committee, U.S.D.A. extended the date to March 20th.

Under the freeze-thaw pasture spreading diversion method, payment for the diverted potatoes is not made until the potatoes have been consumed by livestock.

Growers are reminded that the payment on diverted potatoes drops to 30 cents per hundredweight March 1 and continues at this rate until the termination of the diversion program on April 30.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL

In addition to the numerous controversial bills on one or two-line fishing, early or late deer season, and water safety, the game and fish committees of the legislature will be deciding whether or not to continue bounty payments on fox, coyote and bobcat. Yours truly makes no pretext at presenting an unbiased analysis of bounty payment. After studying wildlife populations for 20 years and analyzing studies made throughout the country, I'm convinced, as are other professional conservationists, that bounties are an expensive means of not controlling predators.

Predators, which are also scavengers, have a place in Nature's plans. They eliminate the weak and sick before they contaminate others of their kind. A pile of pheasant and chicken wings by a fox den doesn't in itself prove much. Dead pheasants along highways and dead chickens thrown out of the hen house are easy to come by.

The greatest problem facing our northern deer in their winter yards is a shortage of browse. The major competition for this browse is the snowshoe hare. And the most important food of bobcats and coyotes is the snowshoe hare. So we protect the competing hare by paying bounty on bobcats and coyotes. I'm confused.

However, the real arguments against bounties is that they just do not control predators. This is not easily understood. It seems logical that killing a fox means one less fox. You can go further and say killing a female fox means six less foxes because she would have had five cubs in the spring. With the same arguments, we could say that closing the deer season for a few years would give us twice as many, or ten times as many, deer. Of course, we know this would not be true because some deer would simply starve or die from disease or some other cause. In other words, the deer herd is controlled by its habitat. The same is true for predators. When we kill 10%, 20% or even 50%, of all fox, we simply make room in the habitat for that many little foxes to grow up and be big foxes. Something in the habitat does control foxes. It may be den site, cover, food, disease or something else. If this were not so, imagine what would happen. How soon would people overpopulate the earth if we started to have kids when we were one year old and had five each year for the rest of our lives? Foxes reproduce at the rate of 250% per year. Studies throughout the country prove you must kill at least 65% of all the foxes each year to reduce the population. Bounties do not come close to doing this.

Along with the bill to eliminate bounties, a second bill will authorize the conservation department to enter into an agreement with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service branch of Predator and Rodent Control to carry out a directed predator control program. The purpose of such a program is not to tackle the impossible job of reducing all predator population, but to destroy the individual animals doing damage. Just some foxes acquire a taste for chicken or turkey; a relatively small number of coyotes get the sheep killing habit; and a few bear knock over bee hives, kill sheep, and annoy campers. Directed predator control aims at removing these destructive individuals.

In southern Minnesota a professional trapper will work with county agents, farm groups and individual farmers, teaching them to solve their own problems with predators. This system has worked exceptionally well in Missouri and other states. In the north professional trappers will take individual animals doing damage.

The cost of this program will be divided several ways. Not over $18,000 will come from Game and Fish funds (the present bounty costs about $170,000 each year); the Federal Service will provide at least one man and expenses; and sheep grower associations will help out when need be.

This system will save about $150,000 each year and it will do some good—which is more than we can say for bounties. Why don't we give it a try?

Catholic Group Buyer of Reuben Hadrath Estate

The Brothers of the Christian Schools have purchased the 40-acre estate of the Reuben M. Hadrath family, overlooking the St. Croix river nine miles north of Stillwater, for development as a retreat center for Catholic high school boys in the Twin Cities area.

Mr. Hadrath, now retired, was formerly president of the Maple Island creamery at Stillwater. He is a former resident of Thief River Falls.

The Hadrath property, which fronts on TH 95, includes two houses and several smaller buildings, and has an appraised value of approximately $100,000, it was reported by the L. V. Asbury & Co. representatives who handled the transaction.

Telephone Company Expanded During '58

The Northwestern Bell Telephone company's $86 million construction program in 1958 was the largest in its history, according to G. A. Hale, local manager, who quoted the company's annual report, released today.

This huge sum was spent in enlarging and modernizing telephone service and in replacing worn-out telephone plant to keep up with public demand.

The company operates in 650 exchanges in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, and by the end of the year was serving 2,229,000 telephones, 103,000 more than in 1957. There was a seven per cent increase in long distance calling during 1958.

The company's decision to go ahead with its big construction program, the report said, was "an indication of the company's confidence in this region's economy," since there was a recession on as the year began.

"We hope that this may have contributed in some extent to the economic recovery which developed during the year."

The company's rate of earnings in 1958 was 5.28 per cent on present value of the plant. This was slightly better than the level of earnings for 1957. Total operating expense was $155 million, of which payroll costs were nearly $120 million or 63 cents out of each expense dollar.

The company's tax bill last year was over $70 million, of which $20 million was in the form of federal excise tax of 10 per cent which the company collected from telephone users and turned over to the government.

"Other household and business necessities such as water, gas and electricity," the report said, "are not subject to this tax which for 17 years has increased the cost of telephone service to its users. Annually this tax costs our customers at least as much as one month's local service charge. We are against this tax and will be against any proposals which would serve to perpetuate it."

Parking Lights for Parking Only, Official Warns

"Parking lights serve a useful purpose," said Mark Markson, head of the highway department's safety promotion division, "only when properly used."

"Improperly used, as when drivers substitute them for headlights, can be highly dangerous." Markson went on to point out that far too many drivers turn their parking lights on when dusk begins to gather and never pull the switch all the way out.

He pointed out that these lights sometimes give the driver a false sense of safety because he feels other drivers can see him coming.

"The law," Markson stated today, "says in no uncertain terms that headlights must be used whenever one cannot see clearly at least 500 feet ahead, or from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise. But when in doubt, pull that switch all the way out."

The word "trump" is actually a corruption of "triumph," meaning to conquer. Trumps are therefore, literally conquering cards, rating over nontrump cards because of special powers given to them in the play of the game.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY?

Who said there is no such thing as juvenile delinquency?

Look at the record! Millions of boys and girls under twenty-one in trouble with the police—dope traffic among teen-agers—organized crime by minors.

But this is not always juvenile delinquency. This is often the tragedy of ADULT DELINQUENCY. It is frequently the result of neglect, indifference, and lack of Christian training in our homes. It is the failure of parents that has led to the wreckage of many of these young lives.

Bring your child to Sunday School and Church. Give him the spiritual care that he wants and needs. Remember, Mother and Dad, we cannot always say, "Juvenile delinquency." Be sure it is not your failure which may cause your child to ruin his life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

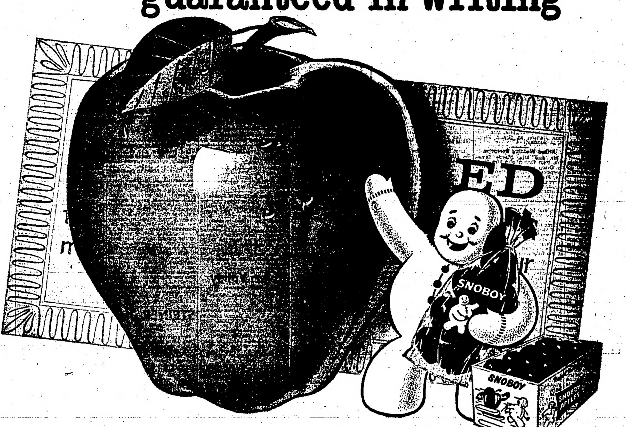
SNOBOY....so good they're guaranteed in writing



Guaranteed for Crispness!
No mushy, mealy apples for SNOBOY! They're crisp as a fresh cracker. Washington State's soil, sun and temperature grow them that way. SNOBOY'S care keeps them that way, from twig to store.

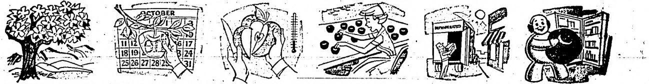
Guaranteed for Flavor!
SNOBOY Apples are picked for flavor on the very day (almost to the hour) of supreme flavor and SNOBOY Apples are guaranteed to arrive at your home at their flavorful best—or your money back!

Guaranteed for Sweetness!
SNOBOY Apples are rushed (within the hour after picking) to cool, cool storage rooms. There, at a steady 31 degree temperature, starches change to natural fruit sugars and the complete sweet flavor blooms.

In bags and boxes at your grocery store.

Every single bag of SNOBOY Apples carries a written guarantee. Read it. It's your guarantee of highest apple quality—or your money back!

Why there is no apple like a SNOBOY®



Soil, sun and temperature work in unique combination in the famed Yakima-Wenatchee Valley of Washington State to produce SNOBOY'S vivid coloring, extra juiciness, and superb flavor! There SNOBOYS are selected from the finest orchards.

Every apple has its day—the day when its flavor peak is reached. On that exact day, SNOBOY field inspectors order the apples picked—and they specify the sun-drenched apples from the top and outside of the finest trees!

Within the hour after picking, SNOBOY apples are rushed to cool storage rooms. There, at a constant 31 degrees, the flavor "matures" . . . starches change to natural fruit sugars . . . and SNOBOY inspectors say "Ship!"

Once they're fully matured and ready to ship, SNOBOY apples are showered, sorted, wrapped and packed by hand to protect against bruising during shipment . . . to guard SNOBOY'S brilliant flavor!

SNOBOY'S tree-to-grocer control continues as the apples are rushed in cool, cool trucks to your grocer's. There you get famous SNOBOY quality . . . true picked for flavor quality!

To enjoy all the eating pleasure SNOBOY has worked so hard to protect, do your share: Always keep your SNOBOYS in the refrigerator until you eat them. They'll be full-flavored and crisp!

The Governor's Income Tax Proposals . . .
NOW . . . THE WHOLE TRUTH!

Here's what some newspapers have told you about it. | Here's what they DIDN'T tell you — What is left out under 1% Sales Tax Proposal!

INCOME	PRESENT TAX	PROPOSED INCREASE	PERCENTAGE OF INCREASE	INCREASE WOULD BE	PERCENTAGE OF INCREASE
$ 4,000	$ 28.00	$ 21.00	75.00%	$ 36.00	128.00%
5,000	61.00	29.00	47.54%	42.00	69.00%
10,000	295.00	70.00	23.73%	67.00	22.71%
15,000	587.00	109.00	18.57%	85.00	14.48%
50,000	2,599.00	341.00	13.10%	155.00	6.00%

It is clear that exponents of the 1% sales tax have not told the WHOLE truth. The increase for a family of four with a $4,000 income under the Governor's income tax proposal is 75%. BUT, under even the 1% Sales Tax proposal, the increase for the same family is a whopping 128%! What would it cost thefamilies of Minnesota under a 3% Sales Tax?

Alpha and Beta students of Lincoln junior and senior high school, totaling 240, including honor students of all grades, 7 through 12, were honored Thursday evening at a banquet held at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. A turkey dinner was served by the Junior Auxiliary girls and prepared by the American Legion auxiliary.

3 Lincoln Students Attended Governor's Safety Conference

Three Lincoln high school students, accompanied by Steve Austin, drivers' license examiner in Thief River Falls, attended the governor's Youth Safety conference Monday, Feb. 23, which forwarded, among other recommendations to the governor, one which called for keeping the age limit at 15 for obtaining a driver's license so that the young people can learn the right way to drive "before they acquire the bad driving habits of their parents."

The conference, attended by Charles Rambeck, Stan Wilson and Don Stewart, Lincoln high school juniors, was held in the St. Paul auditorium. Over 1,000 students represented 400 school over the state and 250 adults attended as observers.

Eleven panel discussions were held during the morning and afternoon sessions. Students served both as moderators and as panel members. Five recommendations were forwarded to the governor. In addition to the one on maintaining the age of 15 for obtaining a license, others were:

1. Completion of an accredited drivers' training course should be one of the prerequisites for anyone under the age of 18 obtaining a driver's license.
2. A committee be established to set up adequate standards for a training course, both in course content and personnel.
3. In regard to the law forbidding drivers under 17 to operate a vehicle after midnight, either enforce the law strictly and uniformly or repeal it. It was also recommended that all driving laws be enforced strictly and uniformly.
4. When young drivers violate motor vehicle laws, suspend their driving privileges in lieu of fines.

The state conference was preceded by conferences in each of the counties. Ideas which came out of these conferences were presented in St. Paul.

H.S. Distributive Education Club Is Host at Banquet

State Leader Speaks at Appreciation Dinner Thursday Night at Rex

"Distributive education is dividend education. All of us who are attending this banquet are reaping dividends of one kind or another from distributive education, and the entire community of Thief River Falls receives dividends from this educational program," said Howard C. Rosenwinkel Thursday evening.

His talk was the highlight of an employer-employee appreciation banquet sponsored by the Lincoln high school Distributive Education club in the Rex Cafe.

Mr. Rosenwinkel, who is state supervisor of business and distributive education with the state department of education, went on to point out the importance of Thief River Falls as a trading center for Northwestern Minnesota, stating that approximately one-third of the gainfully employed people in this city are engaged in a "distributive occupation" of one kind or another (retailing, wholesaling, selling services, etc.)

He emphasized the importance of training qualified young people for these important occupations, and explained how the distributive education program accomplishes this task of training.

Thirty-five people attended the banquet, including local school administrators, employers, on-the-job trainers, guests, and members of the high school D.E. club. The program also included introductions of guests, employers, and trainers by the high school D.E. students, an entertaining skit by Diane Lindquist and Kay Wik, and several vocal selections by a high school octet.

Legislature Is Past Half-way Mark of Term

House Passes Bill to Benefit Older Seekers of Jobs

The tempo of the state legislature began to speed up a bit last week, with the current session in St. Paul now beginning the last half of the term.

The House voted a bill Wednesday adding age to race, creed, color, religion and nationality under fair employment practices. It would prohibit discrimination against a job-seeker because of age.

The bill was passed by a vote of 71 to 46 and now goes to the Senate.

Under it, employers could not ask the age of a job applicant and advertisements could not specify age requirements. Administration of the act would be under the FEPC.

The House passed other bills and sent them to the Senate as follows:

Providing for cooperation between Minnesota and the province of Manitoba, Canada, to establish a highway to the Northwest Angle.

Permitting counties with less than 75,000 population to contract for work up to $2,500 instead of the present $2,000 without advertising for bids.

Increasing from $2,000 to $5,000 property damage coverage required under the motor vehicle financial responsibility law.

Opponents of daylight saving time had their inning, and will get one more brief senate committee hearing before the committee votes on the issue.

The house received a bill to ban trading stamps.

Hearings opened on the "pill bill," which would open the way for supermarkets to sell non-habit-forming proprietary drugs such as aspirin and Murine eyewash.

The house motor vehicles committee approved a bill calling for a driver to take a new driver examination if he loses his license for careless, reckless or drunken driving.

Mrs. Harold Borgen Suffers Bruised Knee

A local woman, Mrs. Harold Borgen, was knocked down by an unidentified driver about 2:30 p.m. last Monday as she was crossing Main av. between Montgomery Ward and Penney's, police said today.

The mishap was not reported to police until several days later by a local physician. The man, described as being in his mid-fifties, short and of medium build and complexion, took Mrs. Borgen to the Starekow Clinic where she was treated for a bruised knee.

The man let Mrs. Borgen out at the clinic and told her he would be in as soon as he parked the car. She has not seen the man since, police said. He was believed to have been driving a 1950 or 1951 car, probably a Plymouth.

Andrew Skaar of Numedal township has again been named the outstanding farmer-sportsman in Pennington county. He achieved this award also in 1957.

According to county agent Paul Stelmaschuk, Skaar will now compete for regional honors. There will be four regional winners who will then compete for recognition as Minnesota's farmer-sportsman for the year 1959.

The state winner will be honored at the Northwest Sports show Sunday, April 5, in Minneapolis.

The regional and state winners will be picked from county nominations by a committee of sportsmen, conservationists and agriculture specialists. The committee is headed by Parker Anderson, extension forester at the University of Minnesota.

Pennington county winner was selected by a committee including Carl Sundstrom, game warden; Don Lawrence, unit conservationist; and County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

Skaar was picked for his success in farming, wildlife conservation practices, pasture management and establishing stock ponds which now number four on the farm; soil management, and leadership in improving farmer-sportsman relations. He will receive a special recognition certificate for his outstanding record.

Skaar has laid out an extensive shelterbelt program on the farm which will be planted in the spring of 1959; he follows a good crop rotation plan; leaves strips of grain along edges of fields for winter feeding of game, has four stock ponds which carry ducks over the summer and provide water for other game as well as deer; keeps his land open to hunters, and runs a successful grain and cattle feeding operation.

Legislators Address C. C. Friday Night

Wichterman and Wiseth Not Hopeful About Junior College

An unusually large gathering of about 80 persons attended a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last Friday evening in the Elks club rooms, and participated with State Senator Roy A. Wiseth and Rep. Ben Wichterman in a four-hour discussion of issues being considered in the current session of the state legislature.

Also present at the meeting were the Rev. Marvin Carlson and the Rev. Otto Dale, who said they were disturbed by the report that local stores this year will depart from the custom of past years by not remaining closed for three hours during afternoon Good Friday services. They asked that the matter be reconsidered, and the matter was referred to the C. of C. merchants' committee, which will meet with the local ministerial association.

A rather gloomy picture was painted by the legislators of the prospect of this city becoming the site of a junior college. Wiseth said the bill is getting a cool reception in the senate, and Wichterman pointed out that lack of funds to finance the proposed institutions is a major obstacle. He added that the issue may be decided in conference committee at the end of the session.

Dr. M. D. Starekow, president of the local board of education, stressed the importance of continued efforts, and the officials pledged their best support.

Wichterman strongly supported Governor Freeman's tax program, and voiced opposition to a state sales tax, which he said would impose a heavy burden on farmers and would entail an army of enforcement officials.

Discussing the state income tax, he stated that Pennington county has been getting back about five times as much in state school aids as is paid by county residents in individual state income taxes.

Also coming in for considerable discussion was a bill to liberalize unemployment compensation laws, with a resultant increase in costs to employers.

Daylight saving bills also came in for lengthy debate.

The meeting closed with a lengthy question-and-answer period.

Game Refuge in Agdar and Grand Plain Twps. Is Proposed to State

Submitted to the state department of conservation, division of game and fish, bureau of game, is a proposal calling for the establishment of a 15,000 acre game refuge and public hunting grounds in Agdar and Grand Plain townships in Marshall county, says the Warren Sheaf.

Under the proposed name of Elm Lake refuge and public hunting grounds, the area would be managed by the conservation department for the production and harvest of waterfowl, upland game and large and small game.

"This area is a first-rate wildlife area without any development," stated Robert Farmes, area game manager from Thief River Falls, who has submitted the proposal to the conservation department. "It contains mallard and teal ducks, sharptailed and ruffed grouse, deer, moose and is suitable for production of geese. Several elk were seen in the area last year."

The proposed area takes in all of sections 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 21, 22, 23 and 21 and portions of sections 9 and 10 in Agdar township and all sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 17, 18 and 19 and portions of sections 9, 10 and 16 in Grand Plain township. All but 369 acres of this 15,000 acre area is tax forfeited land.

The area lies mostly between branch 200 of Judicial Ditch 11 and County Ditch 20 and borders the south edge of the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge. This would permit cooperation between the state and federal agencies to develop the area into a better game producing sector.

Running east and west through the center of the proposed area is county ditch 27. A hearing on cleaning of this ditch was held Monday in the courthouse in Warren with petitioners present to give their views on the need of the ditch for drainage. County commissioners approved cleaning of the ditch and will receive bids for the cleaning about March 26. Bids for the cleaning of county ditch 20 will also be received on that date, and branch 3 of ditch 20 will also be cleaned.

If the state were to purchase the area from Marshall county as tax-forfeited land, it is estimated that the cost would be about $85,000. This money would go into the Consolidated Conservation area fund for improvement of conservation areas in the state. The area would then be improved with the building of roads and public access. Approximately one-third or less of the area would be set aside as a game reserve with the rest to be open to public hunting according to state seasons.

"Muskrats and mink abound in are area," Farmes said. "The possibilities for fur harvesting are very good. Tests made by the soil conservation service show that the land is classified as non-agricultural. Some scattered islands could be farmed in the marshy area but they would have to be cleared of timber and building of roads would be necessary to reach them. This makes the cost almost prohibitive to farming."

Farmes suggested at the ditch hearing that water normally channeled through county ditch 27 could be diverted 2 miles north to Branch 200 or 1 mile south to county ditch 20. The suggestion had no effect on the result of the hearing to clean county ditch 27, however. The diversion would have to be a new ditch, as there is no ditch going north and south now.

County ditch 27 is about 11 miles in length and runs from about a mile inside Moylan township westerly to Branch 3 of county ditch 20. County ditch 20 will be cleaned this year and Branch 200 of J. D. 11 was cleaned last year.

The assessment for cleaning county ditch 27 will be levied against the benefitting area determined when the ditch was constructed. This comprises about 15,000 acres, most of which is tax-forfeited land bordering the ditch. Estimated cost of the cleaning and repair of the ditch totals $24,757. This includes 135,591 cubic yards of excavation at $17,886, clearing at $2,386, culvert removal and replacement at $378, tree and fence removal at $106 and engineering costs at $4,000.

Farmers from this area expressed the wish that a branch of county ditch 27 would also be cleaned. This lateral branch, located on the east end of the ditch, is necessary for several farmers to get drainage water into the main ditch. Farmers stated that a ridge prevented water from flowing in the branch so that it backed up on their fields. Cost of cleaning the branch was roughly estimated at an additional $1,500.

Henry Clausen, Grand Plain township farmer who headed the petitioners, cited the need for proper drainage. "If I hadn't farmed only the high spots and gone into sheep and cattle I wouldn't be living there now," he stated. Several other farmers also testified at the hearing.

DEAD WOOD NO MORE

By Ray Trail

THE re-hiring was done, and the new list was posted. The men who had been most recently hired with the logging company didn't object too strongly to being laid off. But Nard Crowell had spent nearly thirty years of his life in this one camp, and the blow was too much for him. He couldn't imagine why his name wasn't on the list.

His soft, grey eyes were clear, but the twinkle was gone from them as he started toward the Superintendent's office. Mr. Balker had sent word that be wanted to talk to him.

Nard's face, full and round like a moon, burned a little as he entered Balker's office.

"Sit down, Mr. Crowell," Mr. Balker invited. "I wanted to talk to you about your retirement."

Nard slid easily into the chair opposite Mr. Balker and looked at the man. "What's this about my retiring?" he asked.

"It's a policy of the company. I'm afraid there's nothing I can do about it."

Nard ran a rough hand across his brow and looked at Balker. "Oh, I am, am I? I reckon you think those young fellows you took on last year are gonna keep this place goin?"

"Young men are quicker, Mr. Crowell. They can take the water—and the logs better than we can."

Nard felt defeated for the first time in his life. He rose from his chair and turned to look out the window. He was a tall man, slender for his years, and he had always felt he was the best log-roller in Wickam County.

Balker smiled at him. "I know it's tough, Mr. Crowell, but the company's taking care of you with its retirement fund."

"Ain't there something I can do?" Nard interrupted him. "Like taking a night watchman's job or something? I just don't feel I'm ready to quit, that's all. And you need a guard here at night."

"I'm sorry," Balker said, and he stood up and offered Nard his hand.

Without another word, Nard walked out. He walked around the river bank and sat on a fallen log where he could watch the raw timber line up in the water. Looking out over the river's swift current he could see the younger men riding the logs toward the chute.

As he watched, he heard the foreman yell to Danny Myers, one of the newer men whom Nard had taken a liking to, and he saw Danny look up to yell back. As he yelled, Danny lost his balance, and Nard saw him plunge into the churning water and disappear between the logs.

"That fool foreman—!" Nard thought. And without hesitation he jumped onto one of the rolling logs and flitted across the floating forest like a water bug. The other men stood agape at the agility of the old man as he increased his speed to reach the young logger floundering in the stream. And as quickly as he had reached him, Nard tugged at the man's arm pits and lifted him out.

The foreman and two other loggers were soon beside them and with rope they quickly secured two logs together like a raft. Then they guided the float toward the river's edge.

Nard looked up into the face of Mr. Balker standing on the bank of the water, but he turned his face away. Then he heard Mr. Balker say, "That was great work, Mr. Crowell."

"Forget it," Nard replied as he stepped onto the bank and started off.

But Balker was calling after him, and Nard couldn't help stopping to listen as Balker said, "Come to my office, Mr. Crowell—we'll talk about that night watchman's job!"

Grain Sanitation Is Topic Tonight

4-H Leaders Council to Meet at Court House

The Pennington 4-H leaders council will discuss grain sanitation at their monthly meeting tonight in the court house meeting room, starting at 8 o'clock.

Leading the discussion will be representatives of the grain industry and the University of Minnesota. Max Amberson of Peavey Elevators, St. Paul, will discuss grain sanitation as it affects grain marketing.

John Lofgren, extension entomologist, will speak on the importance of insect damage, also identification and control of insects in grain and storage bins.

Harold Pederson, extension marketing specialist, will discuss the importance of the clean grain program and what 4-Hers can do to promote better grain sanitation. The program is important in view of huge grain storages in the area, county agent Paul Stelmaschuk stated.

Spring is Nearly Here!

One of the sure signs that spring is coming is the first hatch of turkey poults at Shetler's hatchery. This tray of broad-breasted Bronze poults being examined by Larry Shetler and Mrs. Roy Shetler Friday afternoon is the first for the year and contains part of the 10,000 poults which Tony Burkel of Greenbush will receive. Burkel will raise 22,000 turkeys in 1959. During the season between February and June, Shetler's will hatch 180,000 poults, about the same number of chicks.

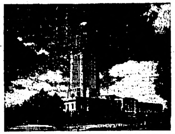
How Well Do You Know Your America?



Test your knowledge or your guessing ability. See how far you must read before you can identify the American landmark shown above.

The State Capitol building shown above towers more than 400 feet into the air, well over a city block, and is considered one of the most impressive capitol buildings in all the 49 states.

The statue of the sower on top, symbolic of the state's agriculture, is a magnificent 32-foot bronze figure.

Mecca to thousands and thousands of visitors since its completion in 1932, this architectural masterpiece is the pride of one of our great states in the west-central area of the Great Plains.

The building is the Nebraska State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska.

SCANNING THE NEWS

THE United States has suffered three rounds of inflation in the post-World War II period, which together have raised overall living costs by 60 per cent and have reduced the dollar's buying power by nearly two-fifths in a period of little more than a decade.

This has intensified the growing conviction that the nation can no longer temporize with the inflationary forces in the economy, and has been dramatized by the President's decision that the time has come for a showdown. His drive to stabilize the buying power of the dollar has the support of the life insurance business, which has long warned the public of the growing inflationary problem and of its threat to the welfare of the people and the future progress of the economy.

The most recent inflationary push, which started early in 1956 and had boosted the cost of living by 8 per cent when it hit its peak last July, differed markedly from the two previous ones in that it lacked their wartime background and in the particularly disturbing fact that it drove ahead in the midst of a recession. The stability of the overall cost of living index in recent months is due primarily to a dip in food costs, a duplicate of the two other levelling-off periods in the last decade. Other components of the cost of living have continued to move up, notably housing and the services.

This evidence of the strength and persistence of the inflationary pressures in the economy, combined with the inflation psychosis it has begun to breed, has aroused widespread concern abroad as well as at home over the future value of the dollar. The dollar's erosion to date has already victimized and brought hardship to the wage earner, the saver, and the increasing millions dependent on a pension or other fixed income. Unless halted, it may also undermine the people's desire to save, and thus endanger the major source of the thrift and investment funds upon which the country's future growth and progress are so vitally dependent.

ACROSS the DESK

From The South Pasadena Review, South Pasadena, Calif.: How can the American taxpayer come out best on foreign aid?

The answer to this question, like the answer to a good many others, is to let American free enterprise do it. When American companies invest abroad they raise the money themselves, and they pay taxes on the profits. If there are any deficits, they, and not the taxpayers absorb them.

One American company which has been in operation in Latin America for around 50 years is a case in point. This firm provided capital for operations abroad, and developed the market for its product in the U.S. Without this work—and the building of railroads, communications facilities, roads and ports which it did incidentally — the product never would have been produced and never sold.

The Latin-American nations realized millions in payroll and taxes, plus the development of their countries. Americans realized profits and our government collected taxes.

For some years now, American firms have been investing greater sums abroad than our government has been spending for foreign aid. It's a healthy trend.

From The Herington Advertiser-Times, Herington, Kansas: We hear a lot of discussion about the shortcomings of our educational system — our public schools and colleges. Apparently everything is taught but pride in our own country.

Too many young people start life with the hazy idea that there is something fundamentally wrong with our business and industrial system and that only government control or ownership of all phases of production and distribution can cure imperfections.

This thought seems to be borne out by the number of representatives in legislative halls; both state and national, who promote socialization of business and industry. Are such public officials a product of our educational system which gave them their understanding of the difference between free enterprise and socialism—the difference between a government where public officials are the servants of the people and one where it is the master?

Do we have too much teaching of social fads and theories at the expense of the principals and ideals of our original form of government?

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS YEAR APPROACHES CLIMAX

A red-hot Roseau thawed Minneapolis Washburn 4-2 for the state high school hockey championship. This week end the wrestling championship is being tossed around at Mankato while the swimkings will be crowned at U of M. Next week, also at the U, the champion gymnasts will bounce forth. Come then the frenetic District, Regional, and State basketball tournaments, highlight of the high school sports year. April is dedicated to drama and speech contests, June to golf, tennis, track, and baseball. A rest, then it begins all over again with football, second in participation and public interest only to basketball.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Elsie White, Philadelphia, Pa.: I remember when I used to go to the Saturday afternoon movies with my father and on the way I would stop at a candy store and buy a prize bag for two cents and you had a bag full of candy. Sometimes on the way home Pop would treat me to a big dish of homemade ice cream that cost ten cents and you got a nice glass of cold water with it. My big sister and I used to go around and wait at the corner for my father to get off the trolley car coming from work and we were so glad to see him we would give him a hug and a kiss and we'd hold his hand all the way home. The people then seemed so nice and kind to one another and I shall never forget those days gone by.

From Helena Richie, Tyler, Texas: I remember my grandmother wrapping me in a blanket and carrying me, a five-year-old, through a scary, dark hall to her room. The brightness, warmth and love that awaited me when that door was opened enfolds me to this day. There were two rocking chairs drawn to the hearth on which, the night before, had been placed the makings of tea. Over the flames the kettle sang merrily. Soon we were drinking tea that was half creamy, country milk and eating those big, old-fashioned soda crackers. Even now, I can lunch most heartily on hot tea and crackers; and my companion always is a sweet, little old lady whom I see with my mind's eye.

District Tournament

The twelve-man Prowler basketball squad — seniors Phil Hanson, Lynn Nicholson, Mickey Hanson and Stan Torgerson; juniors Bob Pearson, Ron Solheim, Jerry Rolland, Steve Embury and Dave Hauswirth; and sophomores Ron Hanson, Gary Anderson and Eddie Lietzow — will begin play in 31st district tournament competition this evening, Monday, when they meet the Alvarado Indians at 7:00 p.m. in a first round game.

The first round pairings of the tournament, which is being held in the fieldhouse on the UND campus in Grand Forks, will find Crookston meeting Warren at 2:30 p.m.; Climax facing the Fisher Flyers at 4:00 p.m.; the Prowlers vs. Alvarado at 7:30 p.m.; and East Grand Forks vs. Red Lake Falls at 9:00 p.m.

Since high school basketball was organized into district tournament competition, 'way back in 1913, the Prowlers have won 17 district championships, a better than two-to-one margin over the second place Crookston Pirates, who have won eight district titles. Other teams who have won district titles are Fosston, with seven; East Grand Forks, six; Warren, five; and McIntosh, Stephen, and Climax, one each.

The Fosston Greyhounds, state high school champions in 1913, were included in the Prowlers' district until 1925, and during that span the Greyhounds won seven district championships. They were a basketball "power" in the early years, and this season the Greyhounds didn't survive the sub-district tournament.

That the odds are against a "small" school's winning of the district championship is indicated by the fact that since 1925 only one of the district's "small" schools was successful, and that was the Climax Vikings, who defeated the Prowlers, 31 to 29, in 1943. That was the game in which, with the score tied at 29-all, Climax's Bob Nelson lofted a one-handed shot into the west basket with seconds of play remaining. The Prowlers, that years, were coached by Glenn Hanna and captained by Jack Melby, and had such squad members as Billy Bye, Milt Relerson, Bill McKechnie, Don Berg, Bob Wright, Bob Abbott, Varg Evenstad, Vernon Eide and Art Forsberg.

The current edition of the Prowlers has as good a chance as any team, and better than most, in winning the district title in this week's tournament. Coach Al Adams' cagers will be favored to defeat Alvarado in their first round game; but then the locals will in all probability bump up against the tournament "dark horse," the Green Wave of East Grand Forks. A win over the East Siders would send the Prowlers into the district finals, and probably against the Crookston Pirates, the tourney favorites.

Jerry's Thirty-one Goals

Jerry Jorgenson, co-captain and left wing of the consolation winning hockey Prowlers, scored 31 goals during the 1958-59 campaign. And that's quite a production. Jerry's total sent us to our hockey record book, and leafing through this folio of ours we find that the Prowler goal-scoring record is held by burly Jack Erickson, who, during the 1950-51 season, racked up a total of 42 goals. Jack also holds the second high goal scoring record, having compiled a total of 37 goals during the 1951-52 schedule. But Jerry's 31 goal mark is a third place record, and it betters the 30 goals scored by Joey Poole in 1954-55.

And speaking of goal scoring, during their five-year careers with the Prowlers, Jack Erickson and Allen Steenerson (they joined the Prowler varsity squad when they were eighth graders) scored a total of 205 goals, with Jack scoring 114 goals and Al scoring 91 goals.

But Jerry can be mightily proud of his 31 goal effort, for it is better than the season mark compiled by such former Prowler hockey stars as Bob Baker, Bud Brossoit, Les Vigness, Marv Jorde, Lyle Guttu, Joe and Jack Poole, Wes Hovie, Glenn Carlson, Swede Lund and others. And next season's Prowler squad will surely miss Jerry, for the "chunk of dynamite" graduates this spring.

It Was a Fine Match

Another of the series of matches in the Northern Chevrolet's singles bowling tournament was held at the Family Bowl lanes on Sunday afternoon and Wally DuChamp, rolling a consistent three-game total of 603, defeated Marv Washnesky, 603 to 545.

Washnesky, who had won three or four matches in a row, ran into a series of crippling splits in his final game to spoil an otherwise exciting match. In the opening game of the match, DuChamp, racking up four straight strikes, marked up a 212 score to Washnesky's 177. In the second game, Marv clobbered the pins for a 216-pin total, while Wally racked up a 199. The pin-margin, in favor of DuChap, starting the third game was a mere 18 pins. But Washnesky marked up an ordinary 152 game, while DuChamp hit for a 192.

The original pairings for Sunday afternoon had John (Snort) Langseth as Washnesky's opponent, but Snort came down with a crick in the neck, and was forced to postpone his appearance. It is doubtful if Langseth will be able to bowl in next Sunday's match, and in that event Gene Leslie will be Wally DuChamp's opponent.

Northrop Indians Down Washington

Knox Tigers to Face Indians Wednesday

In a hotly-contested grade school basketball game played on the Washington school court on Wednesday night, the Northrop Indians, with Dennis Hanson scoring 14 points defeated the Washington Wildcats, 28 to 24. It was the last game of the season between the two teams, with Northrop having a pair of games remaining to be played against Knox, and Washington having one game to play against the Knox Tigers. On Wednesday the Knox Tigers will meet the Indians on the Northrop court.

In Wednesday's tilt, the Washington team held a 12 to 9 lead at the halftime intermission outpointing the Indians, 8 to 1, in the second period. A pair of field goals by Dennis Hanson and a field goal by Bruce Olson, showed Northrop into a lead at the end of the third period, 20 to 18.

The score was deadlocked midway in the fourth period, but four straight free throws by Hanson provided the Indians with the lead they maintained to the game's end.

FEDERAL RESERVE HANDLES BIG SUMS

With assets of nearly $1½ billion the Ninth District Federal Reserve Bank earned nearly $16 million in 1958 and met expenses of just under $11 million. In the process 113,684,000 items were handled totaling nearly $34 billion. 61,525,954 pieces of currency, 132,723,945 coins, were received and counted—the currency at the rate of 2,858 pieces per man hour, coins at the rate of 32,324 per man hour. 37,662,344 "unfit" pieces of currency were "retired" from service.

1959 Valley Farmers and Homemakers

The banquet was sponsored by the Red River Valley Development association and it was held at the Northwest School, Crookston.

The families received bronze plaque awards from the development association. They were selected by a special county committee in their respective counties on the basis of their contribution to the agricultural development of their communities, improvement of their farmsteads, or contributions toward betterment of crops and livestock in their counties.

The honor plaques were given to (reading from left to right: first row — (seated) Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ellefson, Barnesville, Wilkin; Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Christoferson, Waubun, Mahnomen; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Tveit, Roosevelt, Lake of Woods; Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Hebranson, Clitherall, W. Otter Tail; Mrs. Bertrand Thompson, McIntosh, E. Polk.

Second row: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Gjervold, Moorhead, Clay; Mr. and Mrs. Lennart J. Swanson, Lake Bronson, Kittson; Mr. and Mrs. William Malwitz, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Otto W. Rupprecht, Thief River Falls, Marshall; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Svendsgaard, Goodridge, Pennington.

Back row: Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Fetting, Ada, Norman; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Steinbach, New York Mills, E. Otter Tail; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stolen, Clearbrook, Clearwater; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Trieglaff, Frazee, Becker; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Roseau, Roseau.

Missing from the picture are Mr. Bertrand Thompson, McIntosh, who was hospitalized; and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnstad, Beltrami, West Polk county.

Loan Agent Reports Farm Loans Show Rise

The trend toward larger scale farm operations is likely to continue and this trend requires more capital and more credit, according to Harold Sorenson, secretary-treasurer of the Northwest National Farm Loan association at Warren, who with Arnold J. Ellertson, his assistant, attended a conference of managers of national farm loan associations and personnel of the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul in St. Paul last week.

"There are several factors influencing this trend which are quite noticable in Marshall, Kittson, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties," said Sorenson. "Farmers, in an effort to reduce costs, strive for a farm business of maximum egiciency. This usually means more land, adequate equipment, new buildings, and the use of more non-farm materials and supplies," he explained.

"The greater part of the money obtained by farmers through our office last year was used for refinancing indebtedness, while expansion and new buildings took another large portion of it," Sorensen remarked. The Northwest NFLA closed 80 land bank loans totaling $437,800 last year.

The total farm debt has reached a new high for recent years, but it is small in relation to the total value of farm land and buildings, commented Sorenson. The present farm debt is about 10% of these assets compared with 1914 when the debt represented 28% of farm assets. Also, the real estate debt today is less than one year's farm income compared with 1914 when it would have taken the entire farm income for more than three years to pay the debt.

It should be kept in mind, Sorenson cautioned, that farm debt is not equally shared by farmers. Individual farmers who have gone into debt in recent years to start farming or to materially expand their operations are carrying a relatively heavy debt load.

The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul loaned $60 million to more than 7,000 farmers in Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan during 1958. It now has loans in excess of $268 million outstanding in the four states it serves.

Langen Wheat Bill to Provide Full Parity

"Full parity for the wheat farmer at less expense to the taxpayer" is the keynote of a bill introduced Thursday by Congressman Odin Langen. The Ninth district Representative's bill provides for incremental price supports designed to give wheat farmers full parity for voluntarily reducing the amount of their wheat acreage allotment planted to wheat.

In introducing the bill, Langen stated that under this program the individual wheat farmer, through voluntary participation, would actually increase his earnings, while at the same time huge existing government surpluses would automatically be reduced, thus cutting down the taxpayer's expense in this field.

"If enacted," he said, "this bill would immediately increase the wheat farmer's income as much as 58 cents a bushel. This would be a start toward assuring to the small farmer his just share of the national income, as well as his rightful place in the growth and development of the rural community, its churches, and its schools. In addition, it would contribute to the national welfare by cutting down the agricultural surpluses which are presently costing the nation's taxpayers one million dollars a day. Ultimately, surpluses would be eliminated and a market for wheat once more established."

Under the provisions of the proposed legislation, wheat farmers would receive an additional ten per cent of parity for each five per cent of their acreage allotment withdrawn from production. A farmer withdrawing 20 per cent would receive 100 per cent of the parity price.

Acreage thus withdrawn could not be used for the harvesting of any other crop or the grazing of stock, and in the compiling of acreage allotments such acreage would be included as tho it had actually been devoted to the production of wheat. A farmer would be reimbursed for the expenses of taking this land out of production by acreage reserve payments. Such reimbursement would not exceed ten dollars an acre per year.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN BROME VARIETIES

Several years of brome grass testing by the University discloses relatively little difference between varieties, and between northern and southern types. Basis 15% moisture, first cutting ranges from 1.35 tons per acre for Canadian to 1.76 for Lincoln; second cutting from .90 tons per acre for Canadian to 1.35 for Manchar. Canadian totaled low in both cuttings, 2.25 tons, Manchar high at 2.97; both are classed as Northern type. Seed yield in pounds per acre ranged from southern Elsberry's 101 to Manchar's 215.

Seeing The Other Side

BY W. E. DAHLQUIST

The New York Times provided me with the text for this letter in an editorial on this city's race problem. It conveyed the encouraging thought that given time these race problems adjust themselves.

Our Friends from Puerto Rico

This country's latest "immigration" group consists, as we all know, of people from the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. So many Puerto Ricans have come to New York City and to thirty-eight other mainland cities that they have seemed to some impatient souls a "problem." This week spokesmen from our town, and from the other towns which have sizable Puerto Rican populations, are attending a police seminar in San Juan to find out how Puerto Ricans live, work and play in their own cities and villages.

It should be reassuring to the Puerto Ricans and their spokesmen to realize that they are like a great many other immigrants who came this country, beginning with the Pilgrim Fathers in 1620. The Indians didn't always care for the Pilgrim Fathers, despite the friendly relationships of the first critical years. We were a mixed race at the time of the Revolution and we have grown more mixed. The Africans, the Irish, the Germans, the Italians, a few Orientals, some Mexicans and other Latin Americans, and a numerous assortment of other races and nationalities have made us the nation that we are today. Yet the adjectives applied, from time to time, to most of our ancestors on this continent are extremely unflattering. We can't tack any epithets on today's Puerto Ricans that were not applied to our own fathers or grandfathers. Nor can certain native-born Americans, who often cheat and exploit the Puerto Ricans, do much worse than was done to those who came earlier.

It is hard for people to be patient when they are having a rough time of it. On the record, however, our friends from Puerto Rico who have been coming here for some years at an average annual rate of about 21,000, may look forward to a brighter future. Time always cures the kind of situation in which they find themselves. They are a part of the American race that is still in the making.

America is the great melting pot of nations and races. Here in New York City the mixture is complete and, as The Times suggests, out of this mixture will come a new race, a race that several centuries from now will be known as the American race.

This afternoon I leave on the last leg of my journey to the Continent from which has descended, or ascended, one of the most important ingredients that circumstance tossed into our racial melting pot. As I recall the figures one-tenth of our population is of African ancestry. We have assimilated the Redskins, or maybe they, as the original inhabitants of our Island, have assimilated us. The answer is not important. We know the process is continuing and gradual. The Whites, the Blacks, the Yellows, the Browns, and a few intermediate shades are, as The Times suggests, merging into one American race. Fortunately some of the problems that divide us at this time probably will no longer be problems one thousand years from now.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—I received my discharge three years ago, at which time I was eligible for complete separation. Instead, I reenlisted immediately. It's almost time for my second discharge. I realize, if I have to use my earlier discharge as the base date, my three-year deadline for starting GI training will be over when I come out. Can I use my second discharge as the base from which to figure my training deadline?

A—No. Since you were eligible for complete separation at the time of your earlier discharge, you might have stayed out of service, your three years in which to start training must be based on that separation—not the one you are expecting.

Q—I understand I can make extra payments on my GI loan without having to pay a penalty charge. Suppose I do, and later on find I am hard-pressed for money. Could the extra money I had paid in be used for current payments?

A—If your lender agrees, yes. Extra principal already paid may in that case be re-applied to regular payments in order to prevent the loan from going into default.

Q—Does VA grant pensions based solely on age to veterans on World Wars I and II, or the Korean conflict?

A—No. Age alone is not sufficient reason for pension. Pensions generally may be paid to war veterans, permanently disabled from nonservice-connected causes, whose incomes do not exceed $1,400 if single, or $2,700 if married or with a minor child.

Q—I'm a Korean veteran drawing compensation for a service-connected disability. Is there any limit on what I can earn and still get my compensation payments?

A—There is no limit. Regardless of your earnings, your service-connected compensation is not affected and will not be reduced. Ceilings on income apply only to pensions, paid to veterans for total and permanent nonservice-connected disabilities.

Problem Behavior

This is a topic which often causes parents quite a bit of concern. "He knows he's not supposed to fight all the time. I've told him a hundred times! Why does he keep it up? Whatever will become of him?" Like with this mother, the thing that worries parents most is the belief that "problem" behavior in children foretells serious emotional difficulty in later life.

In a recent study of normal children, it has been found that they, too, have specific problems and difficulties which are like those of maladjusted children. But in normal youngsters problems are generally short-lived and they do not become complicated.

One psychologist interviewed a group of mothers each year, from the time their children were fourteen years old. She found that many perfectly normal children showed "problem" behavior at one time or another. Sometimes these problems were quite severe and resembled what psychologists call "signs of a serious disturbance." Behavior problems may indeed be signs of serious trouble, but quite often perfectly healthy, normal children also exhibit "problems" of a fairly severe sort. Bed-wetting, thumb-sucking and temper-tantrums are not unusual in younger children and generally let up with age. "Over-activity" is very common between three and six years and less common after this age. Specific fears, like being afraid of dogs, which can become quite a problem appear in most children between three and nine years and less frequently after that. Nail-biting is more commonly a problem of later childhood and early adolescence.

She also found that five and six year olds and adolescents twelve and fourteen seemed to have more problems than others. These are both periods when children face new and more difficult tasks and have to make many new adjustments.

Normal children usually "outgrow" their problems as they gain new skills and learn better how to get along with others. Much of this is learned from watching how we as parents behave, and from feeling the strength and love we express.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor The Times:

The Consumers Cooperative association will hold its annual meeting March 7. I believe it is the duty of the members to suggest a new name for the Valley Christian Home for the Aged.

This word "Christian" can cause confusion and should not be used.

I intend to suggest a name myself that will be short.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

The Youth Safety Conference held last week brought together nearly a thousand young people to discuss, consider, and recommend action to make our highways safer. These young people in general represent the overwhelming majority of our youth, who are good citizens eager to bear their share of the responsibility for safe driving.

As was expected, these young people did not want the drivers' license age to be increased, but they did ask for stricter enforcement of traffic laws for all. I believe that the fact that our youth have met together and considered safety problems seriously should have a good effect in itself, both on young people and adults.

One recommendation that was made was for more drivers' training. At present about half of our boys and girls get formal behind-the-wheel training before they apply for drivers' licenses.

Anticipation of Spring

Reports from state departments involve activities of interest and concern to all citizens and range from efforts aimed at better quality eggs to future career possibilities. Our Department of Development tries to assist in the promotion of all kinds of business at all times of the year, but in the spring it has a sort of seasonal rush to answer requests for information about tourist and vacation possibilities.

This year looks good for the vacation business if one can judge by requests received. More people had inquired about Minnesota facilities and opportunities by February 20th of this year than had written in by April 1st of last year.

Markets for Minnesota Eggs

The Department of Agriculture reports that it has held seventeen institutes in various parts of the state to improve Minnesota's quality egg program. Minnesota is increasingly becoming recognized for high quality in many fields, and we are learning that a reputation for quality pays. Vegetable growers are reporting that it is easier to sell their products when they are labelled with U.S. quality grades.

Jobs and Careers

Another activity that has a seasonal spurt in the spring is increased consideration of possible jobs and careers. As the school year draws to a close, young people finishing high school and college give more intensive attention to possible careers.

In this field, our Department of Employment Security does more than serve as an employment agency. It studies trends and possibilities in an effort to learn as much as possible about fields in which jobs may be plentiful or may be scarce. It issues publications such as "An Occupational Guide" and "Your Career Guide." It has recently given special attention to a survey on the needs and opportunities for electronic technicians.

Game and Fish

The Conservation Department reports that about 63,000 northern pike weighing more than 61,000 pounds have been rescued this winter. Because of new and advanced techniques in fish rescue operations, Minnesota has become an acknowledged leader in this field.

Tutankhaumun's tomb, discovered in 1922, is the only unplundered sepulcher of an Egyptian pharaoh yet found.

Ewes Should Have 12 Months of Wool Before Shearing

Manager Wool Growers Assn. Says Short Wools Are Difficult to Sell

"Breeding ewes should not be shorn unless they have 12 months growth of wool," advises Carl Nadasdy, general manager of the Wool Growers Association of South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska.

"An unusual problem has hit the market on fleeces carrying a short staple wool. These short wools come from sheep that have less than 12 months growth of wool," he adds.

Nadasdy says that it is virtually impossible to sell these short wools of any grade unless they are practically dumped on the market regardless of value. There is a difference of approximately 8c to 10c per pound between the price being paid for staple wool and short wools.

His statement goes on to say: "In addition to the lower price per pound, farmers will also find that shearing less than 12 months growth will produce a much lighter weighing fleece. The farmer and rancher loses both ways."

"We cannot help but warn against this practice and suggest that everyone think twice before shearing less than 12 months growth of wool. Early shearing on a large scale of these short wools might mean dumping them on the market and destroying the entire price structure for our 1959 wool clip."

Eggs Head List of March Food Buys

Turkeys Also Plentiful, Says Marketing Agent

Most of the foods plentiful in Midwest stores during February will continue in abundance throughout March, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Eggs deserve special featuring in family meals during March, designated as National Egg Month. Supplies are expected to be from 2 to 4 percent larger than a year ago. Large eggs are the best buy, Mrs. Loomis says.

Turkey will be plentiful in March, with family-size birds in largest supply—good news for families who like roast turkey for Easter dinner. Another favorite with many families for Easter dinner—lamb—is included on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of abundant foods for the month. Broilers and fryers, pork and lard will also be plentiful items at meat counters.

Potatoes continue to be in such heavy supply they will be one of the best food buys for March. For crisp fresh vegetables to feature during the month, consider new cabbage, coming in quantity from Texas and Florida, and celery, coming from Florida, Arizona and California. Supplies of celery are expected to be very large. The canned vegetable of the month is peas, the highest quality in years. Many markets are offering weekend "specials" on canned peas.

Dry beans, particularly Great Northern and Navy beans, continue to be good buys.

Because of the big apple crop in the fall, this fruit is still in good supply to brighten March meals. Apples are the only fruit included on the USDA's list of plentifuls for the month.

Stocks of walnuts, peanuts and peanut products are well above average. Retail prices of walnuts in most markets are below those of last year.

There's plenty of honey for breakfast hot cakes and for hot breads for other meals.

Since milk production is increasing seasonally, homemakers can count on plenty of dairy products for Lenten meals.

CANDID COMMENT

by Mack Draper

We see in the national news that there is a taxpayers' revolt in Seattle, Wash., and that it is growing by leaps and bounds. This sort of thing could get popular in these days when everything but buying power goes up, up and up.

The main trouble is that when a politician on the state or federal level gives some thought to economy and savings to taxpayers the pressure groups take off on him with dire threats of what could happen come the next election. In short, ours has become a nation of pressure groups, by pressure groups for pressure groups, and anyone who dares speak against them is branded as a traitor to this, that or the other cause, and is a selfish reactionary.

Right here in our own state we're engulfed in the controversy of withholding income tax vs. sales tax, and a hot issue it is indeed. Too bad, too. For the fact is that the whole thing would appear to be a blind. We make a big fuss over where the tax money is coming from, and how — yet, we never take the slightest look at the budgets and spending policies of the agencies whose request for tax monies have resulted in this skyrocket budget Freeman is campaigning for.

If the facts were ever to see the light of day we'd probably find that we could expect the Freeman budget to be slashed by at least a fourth and still have enough money for the expanded services the governor advocates so rabidly. I know of one instance right now of an agency that gets NEARLY FOUR TIMES AS MUCH money from the state as its average per-unit operating cost! How can this be justified?

Nor is this an isolated case. Every agency receiving state money balloons its money requests every year. Schools, conservation departments, state health and mental institutions, old-age and welfare agencies—all of them continually want more. There is no such thing as asking for a smaller amount of money—if the agencies do that someone is apt to think they're laying down on the job. So, regardless of the need, the slogan is "always MORE!"

If we don't get sobered up from this governmental spending jag soon we're all going to wind up in the poorhouse—that is if there's any money left for the state to operate a poorhouse when the roof finally caves in.

We'd be smarter if, instead of taking a stand for something or against something according to our party loyalties, we'd all stand together and take a good non-partisan look at the spending policies of our governmental agencies, from top to bottom. This trick bookkeeping is expensive. Let's determine whether we need the services advocated before we get into an argument on how to raise the money for them.

So, the real argument in St. Paul should be "How to reduce the budget," rather than "How to fatten the treasury."

It isn't often that Sen. Hubert Humphrey does anything to arouse my enthusiasm but right now Whooping Hubert, with several of his colleagues, is working on a farm bill in Washington that looks like a real comer.

Naturally, Hubert is mixing in some politics and the senators working on the new farm bill are looking down their sights at Ezra Benson, but he has had his day and is a liability to the administration anyway, despite his apparent sincerity.

Gist of the new farm bill is that farmers would get full support on their share of production that is consumed in the U.S. The surplus they'd have to take their chances on at prevailing market prices. Simply stated, if we consume a billion bushels of a given commodity in the U.S. and the year's crop is two billion bushels, farmers would get full support on half the crop, etc., etc.

Another pretty feature in the new legislation is that payments would be limited to a stated maximum per single farm, thus would primarily help the small farmer. Of course, such a farm bill hasn't been presented to congress as yet, but if all the talk about the pending legislation is true, perhaps we're about to see the dawn of a promising new day for our farm friends.

There's certainly no doubt in anybody's mind that a new day is long overdue!

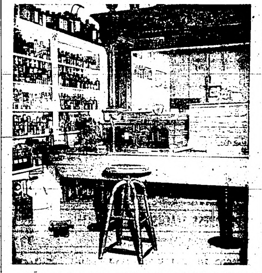
ASAFETIDA TO ANTIBIOTICS



The corner drug store was often called the "apothecary shop" prior to 1900. It did not have ice cream sodas, cigarettes and cameras. Instead, the proprietor was likely to have various herbs growing in the backyard, and his shelves were full of patent medicines. He stocked sassafras, cinnamon sticks, and a variety of items used in concocting medicines and pills.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Windy Gets "Collared"

A stranger walked into Pudge Barton's store the other day wearing one of those "Chesterfield" coats. When the boys saw the fancy velvet collar, they broke out laughing.

The stranger seemed to ignore them and went on about his business. He even pretended he didn't hear Windy's remark about the "big city" coat. Then, on leaving, he walked over to Windy.

"I gather you find my coat peculiar," he said. "Well, where I come from we're so peculiar we even extend a hand to strangers." With that, he shook Windy's hand.

From where I sit, the twist on the old adage is true: "clothes don't make the man." We ought to judge a man for what he is. That's tolerance, something we ought to practice every day. For example, you like coffee ... I like a glass of beer. That doesn't make either of us "different" or anything to laugh at.

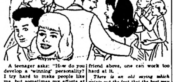
FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

By C. D. Smith

Be 'Yourself' And Be A Winner



I ALWAYS SAY THE WRONG THINGS

A teenager asks: "How do you develop a 'winning' personality? I try hard to make people like me, but sometimes my efforts at being the life of the party only make me appear foolish. I talk too much, or I say the wrong things, or things that are misunderstood."

Some teenagers are blessed in that they never have personality problems or difficulty in getting along with people. But the majority have to work at it. A "winning" personality can be developed, but as in the case of our friend above, one can work too hard at it.

There is an old saying which points out the fact that the best way to make people like you is to "be yourself." This is quite true. When we try to pattern ourself after someone we admire for one reason or another, we have to be careful that we do not make ourself look foolish in the process.

A "winning" personality is not a particular type of personality, but instead it is merely the ability to "win" people, or to make them "like" you. People can like you if you have a quiet personality or if you are more outward. But people can generally recognize a false front and forced enthusiasm. The chances of winning people over and of making and keeping friends are much greater when one acts "natural" rather than "affected."

We should, of course, still work to improve our personality. If we are quiet, we should make the effort to enter a little more into the spirit of things. A good way to become a better conversationalist is by acquiring an interest in people. Most people are ready and willing to talk about themselves. If we learn to be a good listener, and work at it, then gradually we become a better talker, as well.

Every day that we live we grow older; and we should grow wiser. Each day brings new experiences and new challenges and if we meet these challenges with the right attitude we constantly increase our confidence and develop better personality.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Balloon Travels to France from State in 4 Days

A balloon launched from Northfield, Minn., last weekend crossed the Atlantic and, four days after it left the ground, dropped its instrument package over France.

G. T. Schjeldahl, president of a plastic fabricating company bearing his name, said the instruments were found near Metz, France.

The balloon was one of several "super-pressure" type balloons designed to sustain a constant altitude regardless of atmospheric temperatures and other conditions.

A spokesman for the Schjeldahl firm said Wednesday the balloon traveled the long distance because of wind currents at 35,000 feet, the altitude maintained during the four-day flight.

WELL-FIRST YOUR DAD ASKED ME HOW I EARNED ANY EXTRA MONEY.

BE A BLONDE OWL

By Mary Peterson

"NOT so bad," Kathy remarked to her roommate, pleased with her reflection in the mirror. Kathy's nose was small and pert, and her mouth pleasantly wide.

But her smile changed to a scowl as she added, "Now to spoil it all with glasses. If I could only leave them at home. But I did the night I met Dick at Gwen's, and I stumbled over everything. Not being able to see past my fingertips without specs is terrible. And I look just like an owl with them on!"

"The smoothest blonde owl I've ever seen," her roommate, Ellen broke in. "He's seen you wearing them—"

"That's it—he hasn't!" exclaimed Kathy. "I've only seen him that once at Gwen's. It was a girl without glasses that he asked for a date. Funny, I'm not even sure what he looks like, although Gwen swears he's really the most."

"I'm going without glasses!" she exclaimed, in a moment of decision. "I'd better get going. He phoned to say he'd be delayed and we decided to save a little time by meeting at the Concord Hotel. We're going to the Jazz concert at the Orpheum after dinner.

"Ah, the fountain at the Concord — the city's rendezvous!" teased Ellen.

"Be careful," she called after Kathy as the door slammed.

Outside, Kathy found the corner taxi stand empty. Not getting a taxi was something she hadn't counted on. But she had time to walk and, thank goodness, there were still people about. She could cross streets with the crowd. Cars seemed to appear out of nowhere when she left her glasses at home.

As she waited at the curb, a man pushed through the throng toward her.

"Hello!" he said. "I—"

"I believe you've mistaken me for someone else," she interrupted coldly. As the crowd moved, she managed to put several people between him and her. She breathed a sigh of relief as she did so.

All sorts of hazards for a girl without her glasses.

She walked quickly, fuzzy glimpses of the stores giving her clues and guiding her toward the Concord. Her misgivings about her glasses began to subside. The elation over the exciting first date ahead of her returned and her head was high.

Ellen was right, everyone was meeting there, and Kathy fully expected a figure to rise and greet her after her headlong entry. But no one paid her the slightest attention.

Squinting made things a little clearer. There was one man who looked a little like Dick.

"But if that's Dick," she thought, "he ought to see me."

Twenty minutes later, she was getting impatient, wondering what she would do if he didn't come. It was dark and the crowd would be thinning on the street. With her wallet gone, she had no taxi money.

Suddenly she heard a page calling her name.

The boy indicated a man near the door—the one she had thought might be Dick, she realized as she approached.

"We've both had quite a wait," he began in a most familiar voice. "I'm sorry. I hoped you would spot me. I broke my glasses just as I left the office, and I can hardly see my hand in front of my face. I thought I recognized you on the street—It was you!"

Kathy's laughter rang out through the room and the more she tried to stop, the harder she laughed.

INCOME TAXES YIELD HIGH REVENUE

It costs more today to administer Minnesota's 24-year-old income tax than the tax yielded the first year it was levied. Fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, 73,879 Minnesotans paid $1,104,768 tax on their collective income. In 1954 it cost the state $1,273,424 to administer the collection of $55,888,776 from 1,009,681 income-tax payers, about 1.9%. Collections for 1956 probably will run above $80,000,000 at perhaps a slightly lower percentage cost. Of the 33 states levying individual income tax, New York's return is by far the highest, nearly half a billion, followed by California, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Oregon. In corporation income taxes New York and California are followed by Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, and North Carolina.

Foundation Makes Research Grants

Former Polio Group Is Expanding Its Scope

The National Foundation today announced 20 research grants reflecting the new attack on arthritis, birth defects and intensified scientific investigation of viruses.

Totaling $1,256,232 in March of Dimes funds, the awards launch The National Foundation's expanded health research program for 1959, according to its president, Basil O'Connor.

The puzzle of how the rheumatic diseases cause tissue damage will be investigated at three institutions under newly approved grants. Although little is known about what causes rheumatoid arthritis, the most serious of the rheumatic diseases, scientists suspect that allergy reactions, abnormal antibodies and other blod factors may play a significant part in the disease. These possibilities will be studied.

The majority of the grants announced today support basic research on viruses and the cells they invade. In studies of cell functions and nucleic acids, several investigators are learning fundamental facts about heredity and the life process, therefore about health and disease in general. March of Dimes genetics research may ultimately clarify some problems of birth defects, one of The National Foundation's initial new targets.

The National Foundation's expanded health program for 1959 includes as targets, polio, virus diseases in general, disorders of the central nervous system, arthritis and birth defects.

AMERICANA — Cities To See

Texarkana, Arkansas-Texas

If you happen to work in one of the buildings along State Line Avenue in Texarkana, you can look across the street and see an office worker in the next State. Depending upon which side of the avenue you happen to be, you can merely walk across the street and be in Arkansas or Texas.

Texarkana, Arkansas-Texas is located on the Arkansas-Texas State line—26 miles south of the Oklahoma boundary and 25 miles north of the Louisiana boundary. Texarkana gets its name from three states— TEXas, ARKansas and LouisiANA.

Founded in 1873 at the junction of two railroads, Texarkana's early growth was caused by a thriving lumber industry. Since 1900 the city has become the focal point for a large trade territory and in recent years has developed into a center of diversified manufacturing. The first census in 1880 gave the city a population figure of 3,000. Today the city has a population of 50,784. There are 19,733 residents on the Arkansas side of State Line Avenue and 31,151 on the Texas side.

Lake Texarkana, recently formed by the completion of the great Texarkana Dam and Reservoir, now provides the area with an outstanding public playground. The dam, located 9 miles southwest of Texarkana, is designed for retention of floodwaters of the Sulphur River. It has a maximum height of 100 feet above the stream bed and is 18,500 feet in length. The reservoir provides 2,509,000 acre feet of storage space for flood waters.

Texarkana, which calls itself "the Pleasure Crossroads of the Gulf Southwest," offers visitors easy access to excellent hunting and fishing. The city also boasts two golf courses, a Kiddieland amusement park, bowling alleys.

Better LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

A three-way pasture improvement plan meant twice as much grazing from the area for Carl Johnson, Welch, Minnesota farmer last summer. He fertilized the pasture in spring and mid-summer, set up a daily rotational grazing system and clipped the pasture after each grazing. As a result, his cows produced twice as much milk per acre, according to Arnold Wiebusch, Goodhue county extension soils agent. The fertilizing not only increased the amount of forage; it also boosted the pasture quality.

Going "All Out" to apply conservation practices was a worthwhile move for Art Botcher, Houston. He laid out several acres of contour strips, built four acres of sod waterways, 600 feet of diversions and a huge gully stabilization structure — all in one year. He told James Goettle, SCS worker: "There was no sign of any sheet or gully erosion on my protected fields and waterways in 1958." A big factor in getting this job done, according to Botcher, was the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

A Half Mile of terraces which he installed in 1957 reduced runoff to almost zero last summer on a farm near Morris, Lawrence Parson says the moisture conservation by farming parallel with terraces also showed up in better crop growth and yields. A cooperator in Stevens county soil conservation district, Parson put in 1900 feet of terraces again last fall, with help from SCS technicians and with ACP cost-sharing help.

Plenty of Water in dry summer months — That's what a stock water pit can mean to a livestock farmer. Don Knutson, Pennington county farmer, built such a pit in 1957 and found it provided all the water his 150 ewes and their lambs needed for the entire summer. According to Don Lawrence, SCS work unit conservationist, Knutson is a cooperator in the Pennington county soil conservation district.

Impala Sport Coupe—like every Chevy—has Safety Plate Glass all around.

Chevy stops quickest ... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

Scientist Takes Look at RRV Soil History

Ever wonder how that soil under your feet came to be what it is? For example, the soil in the Red River Valley is really silt and sediment deposited by a huge lake left by the glacier of thousands of years ago.

At Crookston, this silt, or lake clay, varies from 20 to 80 feet deep. Up in Marshall and Kittson counties, it is more than 100 feet. And some of this soil was actually "imported" from Canada by the ice sheet.

A close look at this fascinating "story of the land" was taken Tuesday at the water resources forum at the Valley Winter Shows in Crookston by George Thiel, geology department chairman at the University of Minnesota.

Thiel said these "lake sediments" in the Red River Valley are from the Glacial Lake Agassiz, that once covered the entire area. These sediments, he said include ridges of sand and gravel washed up along shore, nearshore sand plains and silt deposits that settled in the quieter, deeper water offshore.

"Several sets of beach ridges were formed at successively lower elevations as the level of the lake declined. Each ridge is from 5 to 10 feet high, or in some places, from 10 to 20 feet, and is generally steeper on the lake side.

"The near-shore sands bordering the beach ridges form a sloping plain 5-10 miles wide, but much of this sand is not more than 10 to 15 feet thick. On the lake side, these sands grade into silt deposits, which cover the broad expanse of the nearly flat lake bottom.
